SWIMMING. Fishing, boating, golf, and pleasant summer evenings at the many cozy inns along the Umpqua make Roseburg a paradise in this season of the year. Visiting motorists and vacationists are enjoying the sunshine and shade at the resorts of the county, and local society is reveling in the festivities of their home city. The little lodges and large ones as well as the gathering places of the local folk and porches of the lodges are the scene of many a delightful party and interesting gatherings these days.

The Roseburg Country club is beautiful at this time of the summer and each evening cars wind over the highway bound for the club. The wide verandas are a pleasant place to chat; the well kept and fine golf course offers recreation for the business man and others who love the game.

On Thursday the club is turned over to the ladies and ladies' day is one of the most interesting events of the social week. Each week sees more cars leaving during the morning hours for the club and golf holds the interests of the ladies in the summer morning hours. During the afternoon the ladies enjoy the bridge tournament. Plans for more extensive recreation at the club are under way.

Roseburg will again be a convention city during the coming week. Veterans of the Spanish-American war will begin registering during the week end for the state convention to start Monday. The keys of the city will be turned over to the veterans and the Soldiers' Home with its wide green lawns and gardens will be a meeting place for many a veteran.

Club Enjoys Social Afternoon with Mrs. Decker

Mrs. L. E. Decker was hostess to the Roseburg Art and Embroidery club last week with an afternoon of needlework. A business session was held prior to the social afternoon.

Those enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Decker were: Mrs. James Paul, Mrs. Will Carstena, Mrs. Virginia Campbell, Mrs. Jess Hicks, Mrs. L. W. Hagedorn, Mrs. A. H. Rennie, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. U. I. Hunslett, Mrs. A. M. Neal, Mrs. Fisher Palm, Mrs. Rhoades, Mrs. Henry Snyder, Mrs. Henry Worthington, Mrs. J. G. Stephenson and Mrs. Walter Stabelfeld.

The club will meet July 24 with Mrs. William Carstena at her home at 417 Second Avenue South.

Tiny Miss Is Honor Guest at Birthday Party

Gay colored balloons and white streamers lent a festive air to the lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Little on Tuesday afternoon when little Miss Eleanor Jane Little celebrated her third birthday. Tiny friends of the little miss were bid to enjoy the afternoon on the lawn. Games were played and a delightful birthday luncheon was served.

Guests for the affair were: Patricia Quine, Georgine Johnson, Beverly Jean Britt, Beverly Marie Nichols, Leonard Whimberly, Tommy Johnson, Agnes Ruth Johnson, Lois Hills, Alvin Hills, Donna Jean Boden and Catherine Ellen Webb.

Miss Drubay Becomes Bride of Donald Radabaugh

Miss Nancy Edith Drubay of Eugene became the bride of Donald Radabaugh, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Radabaugh and formerly of this city, on Saturday, July 6, at 11 o'clock in Eugene. The nuptials were solemnized at Baker Hall. Miss Iva Adams and Delmar Newland, schoolmates of the couple, were the only attendants. The bride was attended in a lovely pink frock and carried a shower bouquet. She was given in marriage by Dr. E. T. Zimmerman, head of the staff of the Pacific Christian hospital where she has just completed two years' training. The ring ceremony was read by Dr. E. Earl Childers, pastor of the First Christian church of the university city. Close friends and relatives, nurses and the staff of the hospital witnessed the quiet ceremony.

Mr. Radabaugh is a graduate of the class of 1926 of Roseburg high school and attended the University of Oregon for three years. He will be manager of the new McCarry store at Dorris, California, where the young couple will make their home.

Members of Book Club and Husbands Entertained

Mrs. Washington Hughes and Mrs. D. H. Morgan entertained jointly for the members of the Book club and their husbands on Wednesday evening of this week. The lovely flower garden on the river at the Hughes home was the scene of the delightful party. The hours were spent in chat and a delicious luncheon was served on the banks of the river.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Thorne have returned home after a week at Bandon-by-the-Sea.

Miss Margaret Page Is Hostess Tuesday Evening

An interesting luncheon program was enjoyed Tuesday evening when members of the World Wide Guild met with Miss Margaret K. Page on Stephens street. Talks were given by Miss Ruth Von Pessel, Miss Anniford Myers and Miss Page. Mrs. Gertrude Wickham Whipple presided with a vocal solo, with Miss Elizabeth Williams appearing in a piano number. Miss Pauline Beaver and Gladys Hammond gave a number of readings to the delight of their audience. Late in the evening delicious dainties were served to the guests.

Out of town guests for the evening were Misses Winifred Myers and Dorothy Green of Seattle, who are visiting at the home of Mrs. Frank H. Matthews, and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Riley of McMinnville. Members enjoying the evening were Misses Charabell Olson, Dayline Reese, Celia Beaver, Jessie Smith, Dorothy Green Winifred Myers, Bessie Redburn, Elizabeth Williams, Lucille and Margaret Jennings, Pauline Beaver, Gladys Hammond, Edith Long, Ruth Von Pessel, Ruth Thompson, Helen Beaver, Sadie Parkham, Jennie Dirks, Margaret Page and Mrs. Kenneth Riley, Mrs. Tom Simmons, Mrs. Frank White, Mrs. Hugh Whipple, Mrs. Frank H. Matthews and Mrs. Carlos Page.

Harriet Groves Weatherford Returns From Metropolis

Harriet Groves Weatherford, piano instructor, returned a few days ago from Portland where she has been spending several weeks in intensive music study.

Mrs. Weatherford attended the Oregon music teachers convention June 17 to 19 and attended the concert and lecture recitals given by the distinguished pianist and pedagogue, Sigismond Stojowski.

While in Portland, Mrs. Weatherford reviewed the Dunning normal class conducted by Jean Warren Carrick from whom she also took daily private lessons. She received instruction from Mme. Melville Liszinski who was for many years in Vienna, and who is now a member of the master faculty of Cincinnati Conservatory of Music and is professionally engaged in Portland for a few weeks during the summer.

Mrs. Weatherford's husband, Mr. John Thompson's visit in Portland, Mrs. Weatherford was a member of his master class in pedagogy. Mr. Thompson is recognized as one of America's foremost pedagogues.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heinline and their home guest, Mrs. Lulu King, of Washington, D. C., and Miss Martha Yeo are leaving today by motor for a trip of several days' length. They will visit at Crater Lake and Crescent City, and travel over the Redwood highway.

Miss Jessie Rutter and Clarence Cotthrell Wed

Miss Jessie M. Rutter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rutter of Roseburg, and Clarence W. Cotthrell of Eugene, were married Saturday at noon at the home of the bride's parents in Roseburg.

The ceremony was read before a group of relatives and friends. Don Swanger of Eugene was best man and Kathleen McClain of Eugene was bridesmaid. The bridal party stood before an altar of green peas and roses. Rev. Matthews of Roseburg performed the ceremony. The couple left for an extended honeymoon trip. Upon return they will reside in Eugene.

Those present at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Rutter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Butler, and son, Leonard, Bernice Rutter, all of Roseburg; Mrs. R. L. Cotthrell and daughter Hazel of Portland; Mrs. Knuth of Wyeth, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. John Hanby, Azalea, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Epping and children of Wama, Ore.; Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Okham, Anna Ross Cotthrell, Marguerite Cotthrell, Ruth Cotthrell, Don Swanger and Kathleen McClain, all of Eugene.

Miss Vera McClintock of this city is leaving the latter part of the month for New York City, where she will study music. Miss McClintock is one of the charming models of the younger set and prominent socially.

Mrs. Wayne L. Jones of Roseburg is leaving shortly on an extensive tour. She will journey to New Orleans, visit relatives and friends in New York City and Buffalo, enjoy a visit at Niagara Falls and return home the latter part of the summer, coming through Oakland and other California cities for a visit.

Misses Altha Frew and Leila Puckett are spending a fortnight at Loon Lake, where they are the guests of Miss Puckett's father.

Misses Edora Kibler and Winifred Wilberding of Oregon State college are charming guests here at the home of Miss Frances Butner.

Miss Frances Butner Compliments Miss McClintock Thursday

Miss Vera McClintock, who will bid her friends here when the latter part of the month to journey to New York City to study music, was the inspiration for one of the loveliest parties of the summer this week.

Miss Frances Butner invited a group of the younger set to the beautiful home of her parents on Thursday evening, honoring Miss McClintock. Dinner was served in the lovely garden of the Butner home situated on the banks of the Umpqua. Mrs. Fred Renner assisted Mrs. Foster Butner in serving the guests. Following the dinner hour the guests repaired to the spacious rooms of the home where tables were placed for bridge. Pink and white roses in profusion were used in carrying out the decorative note.

Miss Margaret Baum held honors at bridge. Miss McClintock was given a guest prize. Adding to the delight of the game were unique and unusual favors. Score pads bore the picture of a negro porter carrying the traveling case of a young society maid, and the favors were in the form of hand boxes marked for New York City.

The guest list included Misses Shirley Knight, Pauline Babar, Mildred Sinniger, Maxine Moore, Margaret Baum, Lucille Germond, Jean Whitney, Elizabeth Renner and Vera McClintock of Roseburg and Misses Edora Kibler and Winifred Wilberding of Corvallis, and Miss Marjorie Reynolds of LaGrande.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Lockwood and Mr. and Mrs. Guy Cordon of this city have returned from a vacation and outing trip to Nelscott, one of the pleasure resorts near the Tillamook beaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Heinline Dinner Hosts Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heinline were dinner hosts on Wednesday evening, complimenting their home guest, Mrs. Lulu King, of Washington, D. C. Dinner was served at 7 o'clock and covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. William Bell, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McClintock, the honor guest and the hosts. The dinner table was lovely with a centerpiece of old-fashioned flowers and baskets of mixed flowers were used throughout the rooms in charming effect. The evening hours were spent by the guests chatting and enjoying the details of Mrs. King's travels through the states.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Campbell returned Monday from Steamboat, where they enjoyed a week's fishing trip.

Miss Marjorie Reynolds of LaGrande is the guest of Miss Vera McClintock for a short time.

Thursday at Country Club a Delight to Clubwomen

Ladies' Day at the Country Club offered the usual delight to the members this week and on Thursday an unusually large number journeyed to the golf course and club house.

During the sunny morning hours the ten golfers playing enjoyed the game, playing eighteen holes of golf. Mrs. Mary Harding won the prize for the day.

Luncheon was served at the club house and in the afternoon tables were placed for bridge with five tables in play.

A discussion of plans was held at the club and it was decided to award a trophy prize in golf in August. Other interesting features are being arranged and the Ladies' Day program is gaining in popularity.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. Leon McClintock held first honors at bridge. Mrs. Arthur Hoon, second and Mrs. Bert Sutherland third.

Mrs. Ellen Norberg and daughter Ruth of Missouri Valley, Iowa, are guests at the home of Mrs. M. W. Bergh of Garden Valley.

Mrs. Floyd Chapman of Tacoma, Washington, and her daughter are house guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Kenneth Quine. They will remain here during the summer months.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patchett returned Tuesday from a ten-day motor trip in eastern Oregon, and to Crater Lake and Diamond Lake. They report a delightful trip.

Miss Lulu Carr of Duluth, Minn., and her father, J. M. Carr, of Portland, left Sunday for Portland, after visiting in this city with Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Carr. Miss Carr is a kindergarten instructor of Duluth and is enjoying the summer on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Helen Bergh is spending her vacation in Angeles, visiting with her brother, sister, Harry and Miss Elsie Bergh.

Mrs. Lige Stormer and two children of Eugene and Mrs. Vernon Hindsdale of Portland, who had been guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Swails, returned to their homes on Monday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Marsters returned Monday from a week's visit at Salem. While in the capital city they were the house guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearcey. Miss Dorothy Marsters is remaining at the Pearcey home for a few weeks.

The "Season" Ends With An Elegant Flourish

SMART NEW MODES COMPLIMENT SUN-TAN AND LILY-WHITE COMPLEXIONS ALIKE

By BETSY SCHUYLER (NEA Service Writer.)

NEW YORK, July 13.—This year's triumphant return to elegance is more or less crystallized by the gorgeous formality of several mid-of-the-season affairs lately. Even a year ago, these might have suffered from an informality complex this late in the season.

Take the opening of the artistically renovated Casino in Central park. Positively everybody who is anybody and still in town in June supported Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., in getting a good kick-off for his new "cultural center."

It was a positively brilliant gathering, antiauthoritarianly stunning, really, even though dancing in the club lounge, a charming yellow that crepe gown with a circular flounce that dipped to fashion double side trains and a light belt of studded fabric right at normal waistline.

Necessity Mother of Mode.

Because of this same cold night air, evening coats were fully as important as gowns, a fact I like to see emphasized, even though it takes a little gooseflesh now and then to do it.

The stunning three-quarters wrap that Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt wore, one of broadest chiffon in bright red, green and blue with its whole pattern picked out in gold, might not have added tremendous warmth, I admit. But it was lovely over her graceful black tulle, lace, chiffon and satin dress. Many coats were of velvet and the predominant note was the color ensemble theme that gowns and coats agreed upon in advance. They either matched exactly or blended charmingly.

Feminine admirations whose beauty was enhanced by black were Mrs. Charles S. Amory and Mrs. Salling Baruch. I had just admired Mrs. Amory's smart cane-back gown with snug hipline banding intricately with satin when I saw Mrs. Baruch in the silver dining room in another black lace gown over white tulle, which gave it a charmingly diaphanous appearance. As usual I am surprised and delighted with the chamelion and altogether pleasing change black lace is capable of.

Mrs. Frank C. Henderson

Mrs. Ira Richards

Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt

Summarizing the Style.

Very low back, snug hiplines, long lines and a preference for tulle, lace, chiffon and satin. Black crepe might be a slight style summary for the majority of gowns at the Casino opening. For color, many shades of blue completed with browns and other capricious shades and white shone out with surprising popularity and so did pink.

Mrs. Jerome Napoleon Bonaparte wore one of the loveliest ensembles there, a charming yellow that crepe gown with a circular flounce that dipped to fashion double side trains and a light belt of studded fabric right at normal waistline.

Her wrap was of chartrouse satin. She wore diamond earrings and necklace.

For a becoming shade of rose chiffon, a rather deep, warm shade, I think Mrs. Charles Shipman Fayson, the former Jean Whitney, gets the palm. Her gown was tremendously effective under a broadened coat of red and gold metallic cloth. Incidentally, she was the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, who looked regal in a flowered chiffon gown with trailing lines, topped by a gold cloth evening wrap.

Tan as You Please.

The independence of a triller sex in deciding this matter of whether to tan or not to tan delighted me as I glanced around noting the lily-white complexions of some, the gleaming suntan of others. Nowadays, every woman to her own color. And most of them are dressing to it nobly.

Mrs. Jean Gerard, for instance, looked fair as a lily in her red and black costume, sitting at a charming little table in the Tulp Room at the Casino. Mrs. Marlan Tiffany-Saportle, a guest in the same party, set her suntan complexion off perfectly with a pastel-shaded chiffon gown.

One of the season's smartest things to do is to wear a striking, rich monotone ensemble, with rich, gleaming jewels to contrast. I think Mrs. Frank C. Henderson might well have originated the idea, judging from the perfect picture she made in a richly hued magnetite chiffon gown with matching dolman wrap trimmed regally in dyed leathers to match. Her fabulous pearls and diamonds showed to peerless advantage.

Fear's Most Numerous.

Best, incidentally, were in the majority. It is interesting to recall, too, that even in these changing times orchids still carry a note of elegance and hence are treasured at times like these. Many women wore them, no one better than Mrs. William Hyde who used a long spray of white ones touched delicately with red to give just the right note of color to a delicate, diaphanous grey chiffon gown that trailed away and you.

A touch of fur here or there carries a practical suggestion that, after all, evening wraps are wraps. Mrs. Ira Richards wore a delicate, lured velvet sleeveless wrap that resembled a graceful cape edged in silver fox. She wore, too, a set of exquisite bracelets, diamonds and other jewels set modestly in wide bands.

Business Women to Enjoy All Day Picnic

Care will leave this city in the early hours of tomorrow morning for Grants Pass, filled with members of the Roseburg Business and Professional Women's club. The club members will enjoy a delightful day at the Josephine county with members of the club there and the clubwomen from Medford. The city park at Grants Pass will be the scene of the all day affair and a bounteous luncheon will be served beneath the big shade trees of the park.

Games and other diversions have been arranged and the picnic will be a get-together for the clubwomen of this section.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Palm of Ellensburg, Wash., arrived in Roseburg Wednesday of this week to enjoy a month's outing and visit with relatives.

Mr. Maurice Newland Is Charming Hostess

Mrs. Maurice Newland was a charming hostess on Monday evening, bidding the members of her bridge club to share her hospitality. The Newland home was lovely with bright flowers used in carrying out the decorative note. Tables were laid for bridge in the attractive rooms. High score was awarded Mrs. Clair K. Allen.

Guests for the evening were: Mrs. Leon McClintock, Mrs. John McClintock, Mrs. Harrie Booth, Mrs. Richard Coen, Mrs. Donald Hellwell, Mrs. Clair K. Allen, Mrs. Fred Hartung, Mrs. Fred Lockwood, Mrs. Edward Koning, Mrs. Ferno Keymer and Helen Casey.

Miss Edressa Judd of this city left Wednesday for Cloud Gap, Ia., where she will spend the remainder of the summer.

To Compliment Local Maid on Departure

Complimenting Miss Vera McClintock upon her intended departure to New York City, Miss Shirley Knight and Miss Pauline Babar will entertain on Tuesday evening. The Babar home will be the scene of the delightful affair and members of the younger set will be invited to bid adieu to Miss McClintock and enjoy the summer evening on the river.

Mrs. Helen Bergh is spending her vacation in Angeles, visiting with her brother, sister, Harry and Miss Elsie Bergh.

Mrs. Lige Stormer and two children of Eugene and Mrs. Vernon Hindsdale of Portland, who had been guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Swails, returned to their homes on Monday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Marsters returned Monday from a week's visit at Salem. While in the capital city they were the house guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pearcey. Miss Dorothy Marsters is remaining at the Pearcey home for a few weeks.

Roseburg to Be Host to Spanish War Veterans

Veterans of the Spanish American War and their allied associations will make this city their headquarters during the early part of the coming week. The city is lovely in its summer garb and everything is in readiness to welcome the visitors. Bright flowers and well kept lawns will greet the veterans and the lawn and spacious grounds of the Soldiers' Home will be a lovely meeting place for some and scores of veterans. The wide porches and buildings of the home are shining and nothing has been forgotten in planning for the entertainment of the visitors.

The green lawn of the Library grounds will be the scene of a memorial service tomorrow evening for the veterans with Rev. Frank Matthews giving the address of the evening. Monday morning the three day convention will begin with a parade of officers and delegates. Business sessions will occupy a major portion of the day.

At 4:30 o'clock Monday evening a banquet will be served in the tree shaded grove at the Soldiers Home followed by a reception and ball at the armory.

One of the unique features of the convention will be the torchlight procession of the Militant Order of the Saxon on Tuesday evening. The convention will close on Wednesday afternoon and the veterans will depart for their homes throughout the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Ness Entertain for Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Ness were hosts this week for Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Hildebrand of Portland, former residents of Roseburg. Saturday evening the Ness home was the gathering place for a number of guests invited to spend the evening with the visitors.

On Sunday evening a picnic dinner was served at Alexander park complimenting the visitors. Guests gathered under the large trees and enjoyed a bounteous lunch.

Misses Cora, Olive and Frances Mathis motored to this city this week from Hollywood and will visit with their parents on South Lower Creek. With their brother Eugene they plan to leave later for a trip through the northwest and Canada.

Mrs. F. L. Perry left for Eugene this morning and will enjoy a trip over the scenic McKenzie highway enroute to Crater Lake, where she will join Mr. Perry, who is employed as game warden in that district.

Mrs. Carl B. Neal of this city is the guest of friends and relatives in Portland. Mrs. Neal left this week for the metropolis to enjoy a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bond of Bend are the guests of their daughter, Mrs. L. M. Lilly, at this city.

Flowers and Gardens

Charles A. Brand.

There are about as many kinds of gardens as there are kinds of people. There is variety. That is one of the good things about them. A garden is the expression of a personality. That is not to say you can tell all about the other when you look at his garden. But you can tell a good deal. Try it in your neighborhood and see how you come out.

Sometimes a garden is planted to hide an ugly spot. Sometimes to cover a steep terrace. That is hard to grow—a rock garden. Sometimes it is to raise flowers for picking—a cutting garden, where they may be planted in rows like carrots and beets and cultivated with a wheel hoe. Or the particular needs of the owner as well as his character have a lot to do with the kind of garden he makes.

But the kind of garden most of us are interested in now is the home garden, the pleasant, inviting back yard where there is privacy and quiet and shade as well as sunshine and where one can go to rest a while or read or shell peas. What sort of a garden should that be?

First, the effect of your own garden upon yourself by these three questions: First, does it suggest comfort? Second, does it suggest bloom?

Poet's Corner

The Forest Rangers

They're at their posts of duty now,
Each one alert, with watchful eye,
Prepared to go, or give alarm,
If signs of danger he should spy.

We feel secured against the fire
That would us of our forests rob,
Since at the stations, scattered far,
Our sentinels are on the job.

Mary Duncan, Heading Noted Cast, Scores Hit in All-Talking Film

"Thru Different Eyes," With Baxter and Lowe at Antlers Sunday and Monday.

"Thru Different Eyes," an all-talking production, is by far the greatest achievement to date in Fox Movietone, and sets a mark that will press future productions to approach.

Warner Baxter and Edmund Lowe, well remembered for their marvelous performances in "In Old Arizona's" first outdoor Fox Movietone production, are co-featured.

crowded with sound which will open at the Antlers theatre Tuesday with the character star in the role of a trapper of jungle beasts. The story varies sensational fights with wild animals with a plot of distribution so startling that it writes a new chapter in the history of Chaney offerings.
