In addition to the ordinary anaesthetics used in operations, the surgery has been equipped with ethelene, nitrous-oxide and oxygen for emergency use. Following an operation the surgery will be disinfected by a recently devised electrical equipment, after which it is sealed for future use. There are modern appliances for sterilizing the instruments and dressings.

A portable X-Ray will be installed for bed-side work, also there will be a physiotherapy room fully equipped to give various electric treatments—diathermy, quartz ray, Alpine ray and infra-red ray.

A competent technician has been employed for laboratory work.

There will be private rooms equipped with hot and cold water also Deluxe private rooms with baths. Both men and women's wards will be equipped with baths.

The beds which are the latest hospital models have adjustable springs to provide various restful positions for the patient. All mattresses are of special double comfort construction and will permit disinfection so as to provide the maximum sanitation.
