THE PAST week has been extremely busy for local society matrons. Many have been entertained from the state fair and a very pleasurable and profitable week was spent.

The Country club women are making extensive plans for a full season at the club house. A great deal of enthusiasm is being exhibited by the committees in charge. The various other clubs have opened the fall season with dinners, luncheons and bridge parties.

The auxiliary of the American Legion have listed their committee chairmen this week and many popular events are expected from them in the near future.

The most interesting wedding of the week was that of Miss Gladys Smith to Mr. Robert C. Hudkins at Eugene on Sunday morning.

Musical programs are numerous and Roseburg music lovers will find several valuable opportunities during the coming week to enjoy some wonderful musical entertainments.

The churches of the city are busy preparing their plans for a prosperous and happy year. A number of fine entertainments have been announced for the near future.

Former Roseburg Girl Is Wed at Beautiful Ceremony in Eugene, September 29th

One of the loveliest and most interesting fall weddings this season was that of Miss Gladys Smith, of Eugene, and Robert C. Hudkins, of Clarksburg, West Virginia, at a ceremony at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning, September 29th at the beautiful home of Mrs. Ina Russell, of Eugene, a close friend of the bride. Only relatives and close friends of the young couple were present. The day also marked the bride's birthday.

Miss Esther Sanger, of the University of Oregon, sang "At Dawning" and "I Love You Truly" immediately preceding the ceremony.

The service was read by Dr. J. Franklin Haas, minister of the First M. E. church of Eugene, in front of the fireplace banked with huge rose-colored dahlias and ferns. With the opening strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March, played on the harp by Miss Doris Helen Patterson, of the University of Oregon, the bride advanced to the fireplace with the matron of honor, Mrs. D. E. Oleman, of Roseburg. During the service, Miss Patterson played a prayer softly on the harp.

The bride was enchanting in a rose chiffon model made with tight fitting bodice and skirt short in front and ankle length in back. The entire skirt was covered with tiny ruffles of self-material. A large rose velvet bow with streamers reaching the hem of the skirt hung from the waistline. Her shoes were the same shade of rose as the dress. She wore a beautiful strand of crystals that hung below the waistline.

Mrs. D. E. Oleman, of Roseburg, was matron of honor and was lovely in an orchid and silver taffeta gown. Her dress was made on the same lines as that of the bride's, with the short skirt in front and ankle length in back.

Mrs. F. S. Smith, mother of the bride, was charming in a gown of ashes of roses georgette. She wore a strand of shell pink crystals.

D. E. Oleman of Roseburg was best man to Mr. Hudkins.

After the nuptial service a wedding luncheon was served at the Eugene hotel, for the bridal party and the mother of the bride.

The bride chose as her going away dress, a model of black chiffon velvet with hat and shoes to match. The young couple left immediately after the luncheon for Los Angeles, where they will make their home.

The bride is very well known in Roseburg, having lived here for several years before her departure to Eugene. She is the daughter of Mrs. F. S. Smith, of Eugene, who was also a former resident of this city. Mrs. Hudkins worked at the local Esther store while living here. She was employed by McMorran and Washburn in Eugene, where she was buyer for four departments. The groom is a construction engineer of Clarksburg, West Virginia, and has been located on the west coast for the past few years. Their many friends wish them success and happiness during their married life.

L. F. T. to Hold First Dance of This Season

The L. F. T. dancing club will have their first dance of the season, Tuesday evening at nine o'clock at the Knight's of Pythias hall. The second Tuesday of every month has been set aside for the L. F. T. dances this coming winter. Many good times and a good attendance of members is expected to make this a most enjoyable event this year.

The committee in charge of the Tuesday dance is as follows: Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Haynes, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Berg, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Osborn, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Quine, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Baker, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Wimberly and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dean.

A. B. Taylor has been elected president for this year and F. W. Haynes will act as secretary. Refreshments will be served by the committee.

Local Couple Celebrate 24th Wedding Anniversary With Large Dinner Party

One of the outstanding and most interesting affairs of the week occurred on Monday evening at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ness in Laurelwood, when they celebrated their 24th wedding anniversary, by inviting a group of friends to dinner. The guests were seated at one long table at 6:30 for a delicious three course dinner. The table was of unusual beauty with a center piece of scarlet zinnias and ferns with scarlet dining tapers at either side. Sparkling crystal and lovely china added a distinctive note.

Mr. and Mrs. Ness were delightfully surprised when Joe Dean rose from his place at the table and congratulated them upon their many years of happy married life. At the close of his speech he presented them with a beautiful amber colored crystal and silver ice tub, as a gift from the friends present.

A lovely three tiered wedding cake, with a miniature bride and groom on the top layer, was cut during the dinner by Mrs. Ness. The cake was baked by Mrs. Willard Johnson, of Laurelwood. Those enjoying the dinner were: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gerretsen, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dean, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Entler, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Falbe, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pargeter, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Smith, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Church, Miss Kathleen Ness, Mr. Robert Gipe, of Albany and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Ness.

Bridge was enjoyed during the remainder of the evening with Dr. H. C. Church winning first prize.

Younger Set Enjoy Theatre and Birthday Party on Saturday

A delightful birthday party in honor of Adeo Sue Hildeburn on Saturday, was an interesting affair for the younger set. The guests attended the theatre in the afternoon, after which they gathered at Miss Hildeburn's home on Mosher street. The dining room was exceedingly pretty in an array of pink and white decorations. Each cover had a number on the place card. The guests were each given a string to follow, with the end of it hidden, which led them to all parts of the house. At the end of the string was a number which corresponded with a number at the table. They found their places in this way.

A beautiful birthday cake was placed in the center of the table with silver candlesticks and pink candles at either side. The curtains were drawn and the candles lighted. The children looked very pretty in their pastel colored caps as they sat around the attractive table in the softly lighted room.

Those enjoying the party were: Phyllis Bolter, Martha Herman, Ella Hennigh, Ethola Kinney, Carol Stone, Maxine Smith, Charlotte Wescott, Angeline Springstead, Kathryn DeLapp, Mary Deboli, June Falbe and the honoree, Adeo Sue Hildeburn.

Mrs. Hildeburn was assisted in serving by Mrs. George Bolter.

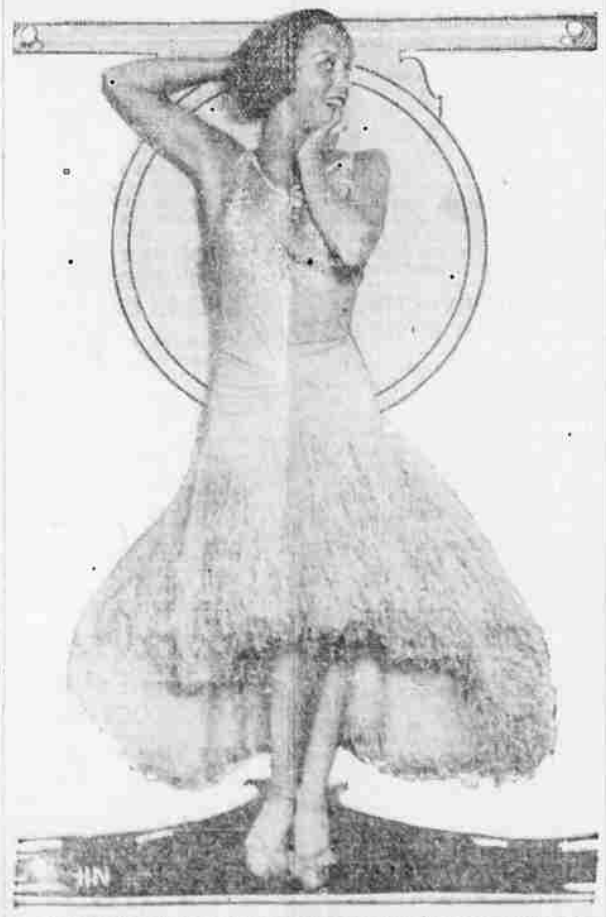
Joan Plunders the Ostrich



Joan Crawford, exquisite motion picture star, has chosen this colorful dance frock in which to step out at Hollywood functions. Designed by Adrian, it is made of chartreuse tulle trimmed with rhinestone and ostrich feathers and worn with hose and slippers to match. Coupled with Joan's "come and dance with me" look, the entire ensemble is charming.

Former Roseburg Residents Celebrate 73rd Wedding Anniversary Last Month

The many Roseburg friends of Col. and Mrs. J. G. Day will be interested to know that they have just recently celebrated their 73rd wedding anniversary. This wonderful couple are former residents of Roseburg and have scores of friends in this locality. An interesting account of their life is found in the Oregon Voter September issue, which reads as follows:

We had the pleasure of dropping in at the home of Col. and Mrs. J. G. Day recently, on the occasion of their 73rd wedding anniversary. They were wed on Sept. 15, 1856. Both have passed the 90 mark.

Mrs. Day had been ill recently, but is up and around again.

"I'll be able to get down town again and drop in at your new office," Col. Day was kind enough to assure us.

"But you're not going to gallivant around too much; I don't trust you among all these flappers," gayly interposed his sprightly spouse.

Philosophy, wit, shrewd observations on the changes and contrasts embraced within the span of 73 years, eagerness to keep in touch with latest news and developments—these characterized their visiting with numerous callers.

Lincoln was known little outside of his own circuit and state in 1855. Col. Day was not quite of age, so could not vote for Fremont; he voted for Lincoln in 1860. Not until after the golden wedding could Mrs. Day vote! The 73 years have been more crowded with progress than any previous period in world history. Col. Day has figured prominently in Pacific northwest history. Among other achievements as a contractor was the building of the Cascade Locks. He has watched much water go over many dams.

New Idea Club Has First Meting of Season

Mrs. V. R. Buckingham was a charming hostess on Wednesday afternoon at her apartment in the Kohlhagen building, when she entertained the New Idea club. This was the first meeting of this season with the new officers in charge. The officers for this year are: President, Mrs. Edward Marks; vice-president, Mrs. V. R. Buckingham; treasurer, Mrs. Forrest Jones; secretary, Mrs. D. G. Clark and press correspondent, Mrs. Paul Beaver. The club meets twice each month for the purpose of doing charitable work. The past four years have been filled with many successful accomplishments on the part of its members.

This was also the last club meeting which Mrs. Fred Owens, a charter member, will attend, as she is leaving today for her new home in Walla Walla, Washington. She has been club president for the past three years.

The apartment was lovely with large bowls of brilliant red geraniums.

Covers were laid at small tables for Mrs. Edward Marks, Mrs. D. G. Clark, Mrs. W. B. Hess, Mrs. Forrest Jones, Mrs. H. R. Williams, Mrs. Fred Applehoff, Mrs. E. P. Ballou, Mrs. George Stewart, Mrs. Curtis Calking, Mrs. Fred Owens, Mrs. N. R. Fisher, Mrs. Fred Curtis, and the hostess Mrs. V. R. Buckingham. Two small children were also present.

At the close of the afternoon, a delicious two course luncheon was served by the hostess.

Standing Committees Named for Auxiliary

The American Legion Auxiliary has appointed its chairmen for the various committees for the ensuing year. A stronger and better unit is expected and hoped for, than so far has ever been achieved. The local Auxiliary unit is the largest in the state and it is a known fact that only by constant loyalty and holding together can this record be kept. October has been selected as the month to boost the membership. Everyone is expected to do his duty in response to this call.

By each member's loyal support to the following chairmen, this year will become the outstanding year for the unit. The chairmen are as follows: Child welfare, Mrs. Vivian Harth; hospital, Mrs. Woodley Stephenson; membership, Mrs. George Caskey; Americanism, Mrs. Earl Ulrich; guardianship, Mrs. Grant Wilcox; publicity, Mrs. John Flurry; legislative and Fidac, Mrs. Clare Petit; unit activities, Mrs. Clinton Gorthy; music, Mrs. W. J. Burke; flower, Mrs. J. Fulcher; constitution and by-laws, Mrs. Walter Fisher; hospitality, Mrs. Gene Fowler; poppy, Mrs. Irvin Riegel; community service, Mrs. Victor Micelli; finance, Mrs. Carl Wimberly; national defense, Mrs. Guy Cordon; memorial, Mrs. Clinton Gorthy; custodian of properties, Mrs. Jake Jones.

The unit feels very fortunate in obtaining the above named women to head their committees for the coming year.

Birthday Party Given for Donald Gerretsen

A large birthday party for Donald Gerretsen's fifth birthday was an interesting event on Monday afternoon for the tiny tots of Roseburg. The children played games on the lawn until the lunch hour, when they were seated at one long, gaily decorated table. Dainty candy cups, happy birthday napkins and pretty little favors caused considerable excitement and happiness among the children. Each guest was given a colored cap to wear at the table. They presented a most festive appearance as they laughed and enjoyed the dainty refreshments. Those hidden to the party were: Robert Gerretsen, Arle Bradburn, Shirley Neal, Myrtle Hutchings, Agnes Ruth Johnson, Carl Koenig, Johanne Hume, Florence Isobel Hamilton, Mary Lee Strang, Gordon Howard, Virginia Gilmore, Jewel Puckett, Marion Church, Donald Frear, Billy Strang, Mary Lee Machin, Johnnie Ness, Junior Denn, Patsy Jane Ellsworth, Charles Church, Doris Shoemaker, Mary Margaret Ellsworth, Charlie Meyers, Tommy Johnson, Bert Shoemaker, Fredericka Hamilton and the honoree, Donald Gerretsen.

A large birthday cake covered with pink frosting and five lighted candles completed a perfect afternoon for the guests.

Enjoyable Event Monday at "The Bees" Camp

"The Bees" camp on the North Umpqua, belonging to Bubar Brothers, was the pleasant scene for a dinner party on Monday evening, when Mrs. P. T. Bubar and Mrs. D. B. Bubar entertained a number of their friends. The guests were all seated at one long table, which was beautifully decorated with greenery and small white blossoms. A delicious steak dinner was served at 7:00 o'clock by the hostess. Those enjoying the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. John Runyan, Mr. and Mrs. Leon McClintock, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Bliss, Mr. and Mrs Dave Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Heinline, Mrs. Thibodeau, Mr. and Mrs. P. T. Bubar and Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Bubar.

The evening was spent in playing bridge, with Charles Heinline winning first prize.

Mrs. Heinline Is Again Honored; Will Be Judge for Atwater Kent Contest

Mrs. Charles S. Heinline of Roseburg has been honored by being selected to act as judge a second time by the Atwater-Kent Radio contest manager, Paul R. Heitmeyer of the Oregonian Radio Service of KGW. The next contest will be held between 10:00 and 12:00 o'clock on Saturday night at which time nineteen Oregon amateur singers between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five years will compete for the honor of representing this state in the district audition to follow in November.

The decision as to the winners of this contest is to be placed partially in the hands of three very competent judges, namely, Mrs. Charles Heinline of Roseburg, Albert Gillette, staff baritone of KGW, and Arthur Boardman, head of the vocal department at the University of Oregon, whose votes will weigh 40 per cent in the final decision. The remaining 60 per cent is allowed for the votes of the radio audience who are invited to listen in during the broadcast of the contest and vote on their first and second choices.

Mrs. Heinline was a judge for the Atwater-Kent contest last year and selected three out of the four winners. She is especially qualified in the music field and has studied and taught music extensively. She has accepted the invitation to be one of the three judges again this year.

Roseburg people will be interested to know that Ellow May Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Wilson, of Medford, and formerly of Roseburg, will be one of the singers who will sing in the contest this coming Saturday night. She is well known in Roseburg having whistled a great deal here. She also is an excellent violinist.

Large Attendance at B. P. W. Club Banquet at Umpqua Friday

About fifty business and professional women enjoyed the club banquet in the Indian room of the Umpqua hotel on Friday evening. Margaret Hewitt played the piano while the guests assembled around the tables which were beautifully decorated with candles and lovely baskets of flowers from which streamers led to each place. After a sing led by Marian Brand, each person pulled the streamer at her place which led from one of the baskets of flowers a card bearing a verse and the name of a member to whom she is to be a phantom friend for the year. She is to do kindly deeds for this member throughout the year without divulging her identity.

Miss Moore, the new physical education teacher in the local schools, gave a very interesting talk on various types of exercise games and sport that would be of benefit to an organized group which inspired a large number of the club members to sign up for such a class to be conducted this winter.

Ila Laubach and Helen Hewitt side leaders in the membership contest, discussed the contest and drew names for their respective sides.

Agnes Pitchford and Mae Bard win reported on progress they were making in regard to the display of Douglas county relics, to be held during the dedication of the new courthouse on October 19.

Edith Falbe spoke on the programs planned for the year and distributed the printed calendars.

Blanche Cook was appointed club correspondent for the Oregon Business Woman, the publication covering the activities of the clubs of the state.

Some ideas for the Hallowe'en party to be held on October 31 were presented by Helen Hewitt chairman of that committee. It was suggested that the costumes consist of old-fashioned clothes such as worn during school days and there is to be a prize for the best costume present.

New members present were Blanche Cook, Elizabeth Fourhill, Thelma Smith, Bertha Lary, Bessie Clinger and Eva Coy. Visitors for the evening were Vera Baker and Joyce Hanley.

The meeting was closed at an early hour in order that the members might attend the Hi Jinks at the senior high school.

Thursday Ladies Day at Country Club House

Eleven members of the Ladies Golf club of the Roseburg Country club met on Thursday for their weekly morning play and luncheon. It was a perfect day for golf but it was voted to change the usual hour of teeing off until 9:30 a. m. as the greens are heavy with dew at this time of the year.

Mrs. Phil Harth, who played a beautiful game of golf, had low score for the day. Mrs. J. M. Jones and Naomi Scott tied for the prize on the third and seventh holes and were obliged to play it off. Miss Scott won the putting contest.

The regular business meeting followed the luncheon hour and new plans were made and officers elected for the coming year. They are planning a party in the near future and a committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. Jean Pickens, Mrs. J. A. Harding and Mrs. Edward Rothhaasen.

The golfing officers were appointed as follows: Mrs. J. C. Judd, captain of team, and Mrs. captain of first flight with Mrs. Phil Harth, secretary; secon
