

OREGON STATERS AND STANFORD TO CLASH SATURDAY

Californians Expect Hard Battle and Will Place Veteran Regulars in Lineup.

Idaho Prepares New Series of Plays to Surprise U. of O. in Game at Portland.

(Associated Press Local Wire)
OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 17.—Oregon State's squad of 23 footballers was paid off today, determined to quit the straggle of northern defeats at the hands of California's "big boys" by defeating the powerful Stanford machine next Saturday.

"It can be done," Coach Paul Schaeffer told a cheering student body at the depot as the squad departed last night. "And it remains for us to do it."

Schaeffer announced he probably would start the following lineup against the Cardinal:

Stiff and McKelip, ends; Byington and Stout, tackles; Cox and Scott, guards; Geddes, center; Buerke, quarter; Kerr and Hughes, halves; and Gilmore, captain, fullback.

Stanford to Use Vets
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Oct. 17.—With the Cardinal availing itself of the smooth and mauling "crushing power" with every day's practice, Oregon State, one of the big threats of the north was expected to meet its match on the gridiron here Saturday.

Announcement of the Cardinal lineup today, almost simultaneous with the announcement of the Oregon State lineup, revealed that neither aggression would find victory an easy matter to attain. The notable feature of both lineups was the preponderance of regulars on each side, many of them veterans of football classics of another year.

With the exception of Preston at left end, and Heiser at right guard, the Cardinals named regulars throughout their lineup.

The Oregon invaders were scheduled to arrive at Pleasanton, across the bay tonight, and had a workout on the Stanford stadium scheduled for Friday.

The Cardinal lineup included: Nash, Muller, ends; Artman, Taub, tackle; Driscoll, Dawson, guards; Heinecke, center; Kleishacker, Kreutrup, Rothert and Smalting, backs.

Idaho Vs. Oregon
MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 17.—The Idaho Vandals are preparing to train for Portland where on Saturday they expect to settle the first phase of the question of football supremacy in the northwest this season.

Coach Leo Calland, whose adaptation of the University of Washington from spring consideration for northwest honors, and Idaho's unexpected strength in the three games already played, the Vandals have risen to a point only slightly below Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State in the odds.

A respectable showing against Oregon, rated at the top in this division, would enhance Idaho's standing, and it is for this that Calland has been working this week.

ture over both the silent screen and the stage.

"The Idle Rich," as a new 100 per cent talking picture from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, brings to us a picture of the famous play, "White Collars," a story of an American family that is delightfully intimate and very real in dialogue, action and atmosphere. In directing this novel domestic comedy William de Mille takes us into the bosom of the Thayer family and makes us laugh and cry with them rather than at them.

The cast chosen for the picture which opened today at the Antlers theatre, is obviously a hand-picked one. Conrad Nagel, Bessie Love and Lella Hyams share stellar honors, and those lovable old tropers, Edythe Chapman and James Neill run close seconds as the mother and father. Robert Ober and Paul Kruger are great as Cousin Harry and Tom Gibney, and they rightfully should be, for they played the same parts on the stage for four years.

In fitting this earnest section of the middle classes, De Mille has shown his mastery of stage direction and dialogue spacing. His atmospheric sound effects, the clatter and bang of flat-dwelling life, is fittingly raucous as a background. There is no attempt whatever at ostentation and the sheer simplicity and crowdedness of the settings is in keeping with the theme.

Nagel, of course, is ideally cast as the multi-millionaire who marries his middle-class stenographer, Edythe Chapman, in the picture. Miss Love, who scored such a triumph in "Broadway Melody," is the flapper little sister who is content with her truck-driver sweetie and perky $8 dress.

The original play is by Edith Ellis and the talking adaptation by Clara Beranger.

LADY MARY HEATH TO BE RENO-VATED
 (Associated Press Local Wire)
RENO, Nev., Oct. 17.—Lady Mary Heath, noted British aviatrix, has arrived in Reno presumably for divorce purposes. She denied herself to newspaper correspondents today but has taken an apartment for a three month period.

Lady Heath was recently injured in a plane crash in the east. She first gained prominence as an aviatrix when she flew to Cape Town from London and then back after some delay at Cairo.

Lady Heath is the third wife of Sir James Heath, British iron master and colliery proprietor. They were married October 11, 1927. He published an announcement November 16, 1928, that he no longer would be responsible for her debts. He has opposed her flying.

The aviatrix was dangerously injured August 29 last when her plane crashed through the roof of a factory building at the air races at Cleveland.

Lady Heath is about 31 years old and her husband is 75.

CHAS. E. WARRENS QUILTS STATE JOB TO MANAGE BANK

(Associated Press Local Wire)
SALEM, Ore., Oct. 17.—Charles E. Warrens, for several years auditor for the state corporation department, has resigned, effective November 1, and will become manager for the Guaranty Trust company of Portland. The officers and directors of the Guaranty Trust company are A. J. Perkins of Portland, president; J. S. Magliady of Eugene, vice-president; Wolby Stevens, J. P. Winter and Joseph Healy, all of Portland, and Lawrence T. Harris of Eugene.

Mr. Warrens was appointed to his position with the corporation department by former Governor (Commissioner) W. E. Clark, during the administration of Governor Pierce, and was retained in the office when the administration changed. He is secretary of the western division of the National Association of Securities Commissioners. Before his appointment to the state office he was agency supervisor for the National Life Insurance company of Vermont with headquarters in Portland.

N. S. Davis, who had been a guest at the R. M. Shircliff home for the last month, left Saturday for his home in Sande Fucca, Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Shircliff drove to Portland with Mr. Davis, from which place he will complete his journey by stage.

HIGHWAY WORK ON COAST ROAD MAKING PROGRESS

(News-Review Douglas County Special)
DRAIN, Oct. 17.—Work on the new Drain-Reedsport highway has been progressing favorably during the good weather of the past three weeks, the steam shovel crew now being at the Thiel place, formerly known as the I. N. Gardner farm, in Sunnydale.

DRAIN

(News-Review Douglas County Special)
DRAIN, Oct. 17.—Mrs. Anna Drain visited relatives and friends at Ashland, Grants Pass and Roseburg last week. At Ashland, Mrs. Drain's sister-in-law, Mrs. Anna Kent has sold out her hotel equipment, which business she has been operating for several years, and will go to Los Angeles soon to be with her daughter, Lois Kent, who is studying pharmacy at the University of Southern California.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Reed, of Cottage Grove, visited here over last Sunday with the former's uncle, Dwight Reed and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Leonard returned Sunday from Portland where they had been on a couple of weeks' vacation. While in Portland Mr. Leonard had a troublesome growth removed from one of his toes.

Several Drain folks visited the community fair held at Yoncalla last Saturday and report a splendid exhibit of sheep, goats, chickens and turkeys, as well as farm and garden products, samples of the culinary art and fancy needle work.

Mrs. Mary Vankirk has returned to her home here in town after having spent the summer at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Odale, on the mountain south of town. Miss Glad, of Yoncalla, will be with Mrs. Vankirk during the winter.

Rev. E. E. Finley, the new pastor for Drain Methodist church, arrived here on Friday evening and occupied his quarters.

MYRTLE CREEK

MYRTLE CREEK, Oct. 17.—Mrs. J. C. Maxon is visiting her son in Campbell, Calif., and intends to go on to Bakersfield to also visit her daughter, Mrs. Gibson.

George C. Dyer, Glendale grocerman, was a Myrtle Creek visitor Friday.

P. S. Chapin has just about completed a fine school bus for T. N. Cornut, which compares very favorably with one driven by Perle Wilder last year. This brings the two bus lines right up to date in comfort and convenience.

Miss Gladys Williams will begin a term of school a few miles south of Canyonville, Monday, Oct. 14.

The architect, contractors and school board inspected the new school house Saturday. The formal acceptance is set for a later date.

P. G. Rice is able to be about and work again.

Mrs. D. H. Whitted is slowly recovering from a very serious illness.

N. S. Davis, who had been a guest at the R. M. Shircliff home for the last month, left Saturday for his home in Sande Fucca, Washington. Mr. and Mrs. Shircliff drove to Portland with Mr. Davis, from which place he will complete his journey by stage.
