By FRANK JENKINS

THE DALLES is another Oregon city whose name traces back to the French fur traders in the employ of the Hudson's Bay company. These men, whose base was Vancouver, were intimately familiar with the Columbia river, for it was the highway by which they reached the interior. They termed that stretch of the river near the present seat of Wasco county "les dalles," a rough translation of which is "long, narrow waters."

If you are familiar with these "dalles" of the Columbia, where the great river rushes between sheer basaltic cliffs, you will agree that the term was well chosen.

ON the old, official plats, the name of the seat of Wasco county is given as Dalles City, but so far as the railroad and the post-office are concerned it is The Dalles. And The Dalles it is to the people of Oregon generally, no matter how much confused they may be by the retention of the word "the" in the name.

THE Deschutes river, near whose mouth of the city of The Dalles is located, was also named by those roving early fur traders of French extraction. Its meaning, broadly rendered, is "rough, tumbling waters." They were pretty close observers back in those days.

WASCO county is named for a tribe of Indians, who in their turn took their name from the drinking cups which they manufactured from the horns of mountain sheep.

The horn "wasco" were widely used over the intermountain country in the days before the coming of the white man.

THE DALLES was founded about 1850, its first building being an old fort erected by soldiers sent up the river to chastise the Indians after an outbreak.

"This fort provided a sort of 'safety island,' and around this safety island families began to cluster and in time a town got started.

WITH the coming of the town came civilization, and one of the first needs of civilization is law and order. A sheriff, as everyone knows, is the visible sign of law and order, and in order to have a sheriff they had to have a county.

So they organized Wasco county, naming it after the tribe of Indians who in turn had taken their name from the drinking cups which they manufactured out of sheep horns.

IT was SOME county, its western boundary was the summit of the Cascades, and its eastern boundary was the high backbone of the Rocky mountains. On the south it reached to the California boundary, and it was recently defined on the north by the Columbia river.

When a candidate for sheriff went campaigning in those days, he had to cover quite a bit of territory.

WASCO county is one of the outstanding producers in Oregon of fruit and truck crops, its cherries, apricots, peaches, tomatoes and melons being particularly well known in the markets.

In a great many ways it has gone farther in the intelligent development of these crops than any other community in Oregon. The story of this intelligent development is too long to be told here, as this column is already nearing the limit of the space allotted to it. So the story will be taken up in more detail in a further installment of these chronicles.

UP here in The Dalles where these words are written, they have a curious penchant for studying their own problems, and then approaching the solution of them in a friendly, neighborly, co-operative way. An example of this is their parking problem and the solution of it which they worked out by voluntary agreement—and not by the passing of a law.

AS elsewhere, they discovered a while back that their main street was perpetually parked so full of cars that it was practically impossible for patrons of the stores to get their cars near enough to load purchases into them. So they started a survey.

This survey disclosed, just as a similar survey disclosed in Eugene, that the bulk of these main street parkers was composed of

NORRIS SCORES BINGHAM OVER JOB ON TARIFF

Employment of an Agent of Manufacturers Called Harmful to Ethics of the Senate.

Target of Censure Asserts He Has No Apology to Make; Resolution Awaits Action.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—A resolution asking condemnation of Senator Bingham, republican, Connecticut, was introduced in the senate today by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, but at the request of Senator Fess of Ohio, the republican whip, its consideration was deferred.

Senator Norris called attention to the resolution was privileged but said he was glad to lay it aside temporarily if any one requested.

Senate Ethics Periled

When Fess asked that it be put aside, the Nebraska quickly consented.

The resolution reads:

"That the action of the senator from Connecticut, Mr. Bingham, in placing Mr. Charles L. Evanson upon the officials rolls of the senate at the time and in the manner set forth in the report of the subcommittee and the committee on the judiciary is contrary to good morals and senatorial ethics and tends to bring the senate into dishonor and disrepute, and such conduct is hereby condemned."

Bingham Not Apologetic

Although Bingham so far has made no move it has been indicated he will do so after the senate acts on the resolution.

His friends have told him it has a chance of being adopted.

He has refused, however, to discuss Norris' action.

Later Bingham informed his friends that after giving the matter considerable thought, he had concluded he had "nothing to apologize for."

Norris also gave notice that tomorrow he intended to call up the resolution but would consent to delay until Monday if it were requested.

Senator Moses of New Hampshire, the president pro tempore of the senate, ruled the resolution privileged. As a result it may be called up at any time.

Evanston, said to be a representative of the Connecticut Manufacturers' association, was employed by Bingham to assist in framing the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill, now pending in congress.

Efforts of mutual friends of Senators Norris and Bingham to dissuade Norris from introducing the resolution failed over night.

JOHN M. CHASE, EX-ROSEBURGER, DIES

John M. Chase, former resident of Roseburg and Glendale, died in Portland, Wednesday, according to word received here. Mr. Chase came to Oregon in 1876, making his residence at Salem. He later came to Roseburg and was employed here for a short time, and then opened a mercantile business in Glendale for a few years. He returned to Salem in 1890 and made his home there continuously after that date. He went to Portland a few weeks ago for treatment.

ADVERTISING VIA PRESS STILL BEST, EXPERT DECLARES

ATLANTA, Ga., Nov. 1.—Radio, talking and motion pictures and other mediums of advertising still are and probably always will be supplementary to the printed word, in the opinion of A. E. Bryson of Chicago, vice-president and in line for the presidency of the Financial and Advertisers' association.

Addressing the fourteenth annual convention of the association here last night, Mr. Bryson said radio and other forms of advertising had their advantages, but newspapers and magazines were leading the field.

"Newspapers reach persons interested in advertising each day," he asserted. "We know that we do not know and can not know how many persons and what the radio reaches."

"All advertising pays the advertiser and the buying public as well," he said. "Some of it we have to use and take our chances on the result, but the general sense the saying 'It pays to advertise' is one that is well spoken."

W. B. Foshay Company, Owner of Public Utilities and Steamship Lines, Put In Hands of Receiver

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 1.—All properties owned and managed by Wilbur B. Foshay and the W. B. Foshay company of Minneapolis, valued at more than $20,000,000 and including utility and industrial concerns in 31 states besides Alaska, Canada and Central America, went into receivership today.

Joseph Chapman, president of the L. S. Donaldson Realty company, and for many years prominent in the banking and mercantile business, was appointed receiver for the company by Judge John B. Sanborn.

The Foshay State bank, St. Paul, was closed by order of the state commissioner of banks. The bank has deposits of about $250,000.

Assets and liabilities of the company were not given in the bankruptcy petition but the value of the company's holdings in 1925 was estimated at $10,000,000. Since then, a number of utility companies have been acquired, including a transportation company and several public utilities in Alaska, purchased at a price of $2,000,000.

The W. B. Foshay company was formed in 1917. Its head is Wilbur Burton Foshay, 48, who came here in 1915 from the Pacific coast where the company has extensive holdings. Previously he had been in the east, railroad and working for other public utilities companies.

MAC DONALD THINKS PEACE MISSION TO AMERICA SUCCESS

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 1.—Ramsay MacDonald, returning today from an American visit, declared he believed his trip had furthered the interests of world peace and had been a success.

"I believe sincerely that my meeting with President Hoover and my conversations with him and with other United States statesmen have brought our two peoples much closer together and improved enormously their mutual understanding," he said.

"My mission has also, I am convinced, paved the way for more effective cooperation with the other powers in maintaining the peace of the world. Strong in this conviction, I feel that thus far the purpose of my mission has been fulfilled and that the way is now cleared for the next steps."

He said the exchange of views he had with Prime Minister MacKenzie of Canada, both on his United States mission and on imperial affairs, was also most advantageous and timely.

"Throughout my visit," he added, "I have endeavored as best I could to voice what I believed to be the peaceful aspirations of the British people in all parts of the empire and to that I have met with nothing but the most welcome response."

"I am encouraged in this confidence by remembering that I have been accompanied throughout by representatives of the press of all shades of opinion and that the press of this country, the United States and Canada has been most uniformly favorable and helpful to the ends I have had in view."

As he missed the early boat train at Bremerhaven, where there were another antagonistic demonstration yesterday, he arrived in Berlin too late for the sitting of the city council, where he was to be questioned in connection with a communist motion for his removal from office without a pension.

The municipal scandal revolves around control given a Berlin courier and chauffeur. It has been charged the lord mayor paid the house a ridiculously small sum for a fur coat for Frau Boese.

ARRESTED COUPLE NOT ONE SOUGHT

A man and woman were taken into custody here last night by City Officer Ray Kausch, suspected of robbing a service station at Springfield. Eugene officers telephoned a description of the couple and the car they were driving. The couple held their breath closely with the description and so they were kept in custody until 6:30 a. m., when the sheriff from Eugene and the station owner from Springfield arrived. It was found that the couple was not the one which committed the crime so they were released.

SOLITAIRE PLAYER VICTIM OF MURDER

DETROIT, Nov. 1.—A small white poodle dog and a can of condensed milk are the sole clues police have today in connection with the slaying of William Pardy, 22, last night.

Pardy was shot and killed as he was playing solitaire in the apartment of three friends, Alfred, Phil and Herbert Shawnow, brothers. They are held as witnesses.

Pardy was to have spent the night with them. Alfred Shawnow, returning from escaping a girl companion to a theatre, found Pardy's body. The other brothers, sleeping in an adjoining room, said they did not hear the shot.

The dog and milk were found in the apartment but all three of the men disclaimed ownership of them.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Nov. 1.—Henry A. Berger, trustee of the sanitary district of Chicago, was killed today when a load of stone weighing a ton toppled from the 24th story of a new building under construction, and crushed him.

Berger was walking to his office a block away when the stone dropped. The building, a skyscraper of 48 stories, is being erected at Madison and La Salle streets.

ATTORNEYS FOR PANTAGES ASK FOR NEW TRIAL

Arguments on Motion Will Be Heard November 9; Proceeding Defers Sentencing.

No Attempt Made to Free Prisoner When Fitts Reveals Alleged Escape Plot.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, Calif., Nov. 1.—Sentence of Alexander Pantagos, theatrical magnate, convicted of a statutory offense against Eunice Pringle, youthful dancer, was delayed automatically today by the filing of a motion for a new trial. Superior Judge Charles Fricke set November 9 for the hearing of arguments.

In contrast to the multi-millionaire's trial which consumed weeks, this last phase of his court appearance required only three minutes.

Prisoner Unmoved

Defense counsel made the motion immediately after Judge Fricke had rapped the court room to order. Pantagos, who said following his conviction last Sunday that he would ask for a re-trial, appeared hardly changed by his five days of jail confinement and watched the proceedings stolidly.

He was brought to the court room under guard and returned to his cell at the close of the session. From him came no reply to the startling charges of District Attorney Huron Fitts yesterday that he had planned an airplane escape and his counsel made no effort to free him from jail in the face of Fitts' declaration that he would oppose any attempts to obtain a release.

Pantagos had been ordered sentenced today but no action can be taken until disposition of the defense motion. Under the jury's verdict he is subject to a 1-to-50 year prison term.

Fitts Takes No Chances

Fitts said investigators learned before the case against Pantagos reached the final argument stage last week that an airplane was prepared in San Diego, Calif., to carry the vandeville magnate into Mexico. For this reason he said he opposed any attempts to obtain a release.

PAIR OF THIEVES APPREHENDED HERE TAKEN TO EUGENE

Everett Blair and Mabel Larson, arrested here yesterday for hold-ups and car thefts at Portland and Eugene were taken to Lane county yesterday afternoon by the Lane county sheriff. They have been identified as the muscular bandits who held up a taxicab driver at Portland and forced him to drive to Oregon City. Blair played a harmonica and the girl sang jazz tunes during the trip, the driver reported to the Portland police.

The taxicab was left at Eugene because it was too slow, as it had a governor that prevented a speed of more than 30 miles an hour. A car was commandeered at Eugene, and the driver forced to convey the bandits to the overhead crossing south of Springfield, and then made to get out of the machine, according to witnesses. Sheriff said he did not see the youth until after the collision.

KIWANIANS GIVE FAREWELL PARTY TO F. B. MATHEWS

Members of the Kiwanis club and their wives enjoyed a delightful Halloween party at the Wigwam tavern last night, the event being in the nature of a farewell to their retiring president, Rev. Frank B. Mathews, and his wife, who left today for Corvallis to reside. Rev. Mathews, who has served as president of the club for the past ten months, was presented with the president's button. The president's button was also conferred upon John M. Thorne, who will direct the club for the ensuing two months. Mrs. Mathews was presented with a beautiful basket of flowers.

A delicious meal was served by the ladies of Evergreen grange. The diners were given Halloween costumes, serpentine, etc., and created a great din. The Kiwanis orchestra played a concert while the banquet was in progress.

An excellent talk was given by W. M. Nelson, director of the extension service at Oregon State college, speaking on the farm relief legislation and the operation of the new marketing bill.

The meeting concluded with a program of games and stunts.

CEILING LIGHT TO AID NIGHT FLYING NOW IN OPERATION

Installation of the ceiling light supplied by the U. S. weather bureau was completed yesterday and the light was tested last night. The ceiling light is for the purpose of measuring the height of clouds, so that information can be given aviators. Flying the ceiling light is a powerful beam is projected onto the clouds, the light on the Umpqua hotel roof being set at an angle so that with clouds at 1,000 feet the beam strikes directly above the Perkins building, where the measuring device is located. By the angle on the indicator, when the pointer is set on the cloud where the light strikes, the elevation of the cloud strata is accurately measured. Observations are taken at 4:30 and 6:30 a. m. each day and information given in bulletins sent out by E. H. Fletcher, local meteorologist.

Debt-Encumbered Nova Scotia, Eyeing Revenues of Neighbors, Votes Herself Into Wet Column

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 1.—After a plebiscite in which government sale of liquor received greater popular approval than prohibition, leaders of various factions today were convinced that the result would be an end to prohibition in Nova Scotia.

There were two questions as follows:

Are you in favor of continuing the Nova Scotia temperance act?

Are you in favor of the sale of alcoholic liquor under a government control act?

A majority voted yes on each question, but the vote for government control preceded by more than 24,000 the number who voted for retention of the prohibition law.

Leaders of both factions agreed that the result indicated approval of government sale of liquor, but Premier E. N. Rhodes said he would await more complete information before announcing an official interpretation.

One Arid Spot Remains

Abandonment of prohibition by Nova Scotia would leave the small province of Prince Edward Island alone in the dry column of Canadian provinces. The Nova Scotia temperance act, which permitted sale of liquor by licensed vendors only on physicians' prescriptions, was adopted in 1920 by a majority of 50,000. Under government control, consumption of intoxicants would be permitted in homes and hotel rooms.

During the four weeks' campaign preceding the plebiscite, opponents of the temperance act asserted it was violated persistently, that speakeasies were numerous and that bootlegging was rampant and impossible of suppression.

Deficit Big Factor

On the side of government control also were nearly all the outstanding supporters of the present government, who asserted the government needed the revenues from the liquor business. The government was forced to report a deficit for the last fiscal year and Premier Rhodes pointed out that provinces boasting of surpluses had large revenues from the liquor business.

By a coincidence one of the first votes was Sober Island, which voted 214 for government control and only six for prohibition.

G. A. YOUNGQUIST NAMED TO SUCCEED MRS. WILLEBRANDT

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—G. A. Youngquist, attorney general of Minnesota, has been selected by President Hoover to succeed Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt as assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement.

Mr. Youngquist, who was born in Sweden and whose home is in Crookston, Minn., is now in Washington and will take office in the near future. His nomination is said to be transmitted to the senate this week.

The Minnesota has served several terms at attorney general of his state and has been assistant attorney general. He had appeared before the supreme court of the United States as a representative of Minnesota on a number of occasions and lawyers here say that he has a splendid standing before that court.

Friends of the administration describe Mr. Youngquist as a firm believer in the dry cause. They also say that his record as enforcement officer of Minnesota is excellent.

Resides enforcement of the Volstead act, Mr. Youngquist will have charge of enforcement of the internal revenue laws and the narcotic laws. He would have a much enlarged responsibility if and when the prohibition enforcement unit is transferred from the treasury to the justice department.

ALBERT B. FALL RECEIVES JAIL TERM OF 1 YEAR

Justice Hitz Also Imposes Fine of $100,000, Same as Sum Involved in Bribery Charge.

Illness Saves Ex-Cabinet Member From Heavier Penalty; Doheny to Be Tried Next.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—Albert B. Fall, former cabinet officer convicted of receiving a $100,000 bribe, today was sentenced to one year in jail and fined $100,000 after a motion for a new trial in the district of Columbia supreme court.

Fall, found guilty last week of receiving a bribe from Edward L. Doheny, oil operator, was granted bond pending an appeal.

Under the law the maximum sentence that could have been given the former cabinet member was three times the amount he received, or a $300,000 fine, and three years in a federal prison.

Poor Health Considered

The defense attorneys made a brief and formal motion at the opening of court and the proceedings were given over in a few minutes.

Justice Hitz said had Fall been in good physical condition he would have imposed full sentence. In view of Fall's ill health, the court announced, the jail sentence would have been suspended if it were to take effect at once. As an appeal will be taken, however, such sentence will not start at this time.

The court let defense counsel understand that if the appeal were dropped he would suspend the jail sentence as long as Fall's physical condition was such as to make it impossible for him to serve the term.

"Black Satchel" Case

The bribe Fall is alleged to have received from Doheny was for a lease to oil land on a federal reserve. The lease has since been cancelled by the courts on substantial charges of fraud. It was not denied the defense that Doheny gave Fall $100,000, but it was claimed that this was a personal loan to tide Fall over temporary financial difficulties. (Continued on page 8)

FARM STUFF, SAVE MEAT ANIMALS, ON CLIMB IN PRICES

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 1.—The department of agriculture announced today that its November reports showed agriculture to be in a stronger position this year than a year ago, largely on account of lower production and higher prices.

Since early summer, the department said, prices of practically all groups of farm commodities with the exception of meat animals, had increased.

The total output of principal food and feed crops this year, it continued, would be somewhat below that of last year although the average harvested would be about the same. Hay was listed as the only important crop which substantially exceeds production of last year.

1 DEAD, 6 MISSING AFTER BOATS CRASH ON LAKE MICHIGAN

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 1.—Six persons, one a woman, were missing, probably drowned, and the body of a seventh had been recovered today as officials inquired into the most recent of Lake Michigan's tragedies—the sinking of the freighter Senator.

Feeling her way through thick fog, the Senator was rammed amidships yesterday by the ore carrier Marquette and sank 29 miles off Port Washington, Wis. The Marquette herself was saved from foundering by rescue tugs and was towed here last night.

Twenty-one persons were saved from the Senator. Among the missing was her captain, George Finch. The missing woman was Mrs. Minnie Gormley, wife of the steward. Several survivors reported seeing her slip from a life raft. Her husband was rescued.
