VIRGINIA SWINGS BACK INTO SOLID SOUTH COLUMN

out of the circulation of a pamphlet containing pictures of the negro congressman from Chicago, Oscar De Priest, and his wife, also was frequently heard.

Among the democrats sending congratulations to Pollard were Jouett Shouse, executive chairman of the democratic national committee; Gov. Harry Byrd, and Senator Carter Glass of Virginia; Senator Tom Connolly and Representative John M. Garner of Texas; Senator Royal S. Copeland of New York; Senator Millard Tydings of Maryland; Senator Burton K. Wheeler on Montana; Senator A. W. Barkley of Kentucky; Senator Kenneth M. McKellar of Tennessee, and Joseph P. Tumulty, who was secretary to Woodrow Wilson.

Dr. Pollard, who vigorously supported the democratic ticket during the Virginia political upheaval last year, has been known as a "bone dry."

Landslide for Walker

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—Democracy was more firmly entrenched than ever in the country's largest city today as the result of a smashing victory all along the line in the quadrennial municipal election yesterday.

Mayor James J. Walker defeated Congressman Fiorello H. La Guardia, the republican fusion candidate, by a plurality of 197,165. Tammany Hall was a bit disappointed in the figures for John F. Curry, the Tammany chieftain, officiating for the first time in a mayoralty campaign, had estimated the margin at 550,000.

The total vote was: Walker, 865,549; La Guardia 368,384.

Socialist Vote Climbs Up

Other than the democratic tidal wave, the feature of the election was the heavy vote polled by Norman Thomas, socialist. Although only 4,000 registered as socialists he received 174,931 votes, which represented the peak vote of his party here. The previous record socialist vote was 145,332 by Morris Hillquitt in 1917.

One reason for the big socialist vote lay in the fact that many republicans of the conservative wing, who were hostile to Major La Guardia, cast their votes for Thomas. La Guardia was once elected to congress on a socialist ticket and it is an open secret that many old-line, dyed-in-the-wool republicans did not regard him as a real member of the party.

Richard E. Enright, who was police commissioner under Mayor Hylan, ran a poor fourth as mayoralty candidate of the newly formed square deal party, polling only 5,956 votes.

Only in the battle-scarred borough of Queens did the republicans derive any comfort. There, George U. Harvey, republican borough president, who fought his own organization for the nomination, was triumphant over Edward W. Cox, democrat, by 26,550 votes. The vote was: Harvey, 143,219; Cox, 116,659.

Tammany Scalps Foe

The republicans swallowed a bitter pill in the contest for district attorney in New York county. Frederic H. Coudert, Jr., the republican nominee, had violently assailed the Tammany administration for its failure to solve the murder of Arnold Rothstein, gambler. Thomas C. T. Crain, a veteran Tammany man, had stepped from the supreme court bench to accept the democratic nomination. District Attorney Joab H. Banton had declined to run. The vote was: Crain, 214,967; Coudert, 118,104.

Another republican setback occurred in the contest for supreme court in the Long Island counties. Stephen Callaghan, republican whose 14-year term expires this year, was defeated by approximately 50,000 votes by District Attorney Charles J. Dodd, democrat, of Brooklyn. It has been customary for the major political parties to endorse the outgoing incumbent, but the Kings county democrat leader, John H. McCooey, refused to follow precedent and named Mr. Dodd. His action was bitterly assailed by prominent members of the bar who argued that high judicial positions should be freed of partisanship.

Frisco Makes 8 Changes

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6—Five members of the San Francisco board of supervisors were swept from office in yesterday's municipal election, a complete unofficial count disclosed early today. The five were Con J. Deasy, Charles J. P. Powers, Milo F. Kent, Charles F. Todd and Walter J. Schmidt.

New supervisors elected are Angelo J. Rossi, James E. Power, Jefferson E. Peyser, Carl W. Miles, Victor J. Canepa and Thomas P. Garrity. Supervisors Franck R. Havenner, William P. Stanton and James B. McSheehy were re-elected.

By substantial majorities the following were retained in office: Public administrator, Phil C. Katz.

Treasurer, Duncan Matheson.

Recorder, Edmond Godchaux.

Tax collector, Edward F. Bryant.

City attorney, John J. Toole.

Police judges, D. S. O'Brien and S. J. Lazardus.

Board of education, Mrs. Mary Prag.

Voters approved only two of the eight propositions submitted to them. Proposals approved were those providing for the incineration method of garbage disposal and the establishment of a municipal court system in San Francisco.

Discredited Loser Quits

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 6.—Following the defeat of the republican candidate for mayor in yesterday's city election, George V. Coffin, republican city and district chairman, announced his retirement from politics.

Coffin's leadership of the republicans was made a campaign issue by the democrats. They contended that it was under his guidance four years ago that John L. Duvall was elected mayor of Indianapolis and in 1924 that Ed Jackson was elected governor of Indiana.

Duvall later was convicted of violating the corrupt practices act, and now has an appeal pending. Jackson was indicted while in office, on a bribery charge, but won a directed verdict of acquittal. Coffin was indicted with Jackson but the charge was dismissed.

Reginald Sullivan, an attorney, was elected mayor, defeating Alfred M. Glassbrenner, republican, by a two to one ratio.

Boston Receives Curley

BOSTON, Nov. 6.—For the third time, Boston had chosen James Michael Curley mayor. The man who started as a drug clerk and worked his way up the ladder through 30 years of political battling was returned by a majority of 16,649 over the combined vote of Frederick W. Mansfield, president of the State Bar association, and Daniel H. Coakley, disbarred lawyer.

Detroit Race Close

DETROIT, Nov. 6.—Making his third attempt for the mayoralty of Detroit, Charles Bowles, former judge of the recorder's court, was elected yesterday in the closest contest for that office in recent years. Opposed by John W. Smith, former Mayor, who had the endorsement of the present mayor, John C. Lodge, Bowles was elected by a majority of 8,595 votes in the non-partisan election.

N. Y. Negro Defeated

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—In the only congressional election yesterday, Joseph A. Gavagan, democrat, defeated one negro opponent, Hubert T. Delaney, by 13,438 votes.

The election in the 21st district, largely negro, was held to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Royal Weller, democrat.

Reunited South Forecast

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Senator Swanson, one of the democratic leaders in Virginia, issued a statement today asserting the democratic victory in Virginia "indicates that the entire south will return to the democratic party by large majorities."

"The result in this election," he said, "insures that in the election to be held next year, Virginia will, by a very large majority, choose a democratic senator and democratic representatives from every congressional district in the state.

"The result of this election means that in the future there will be but two parties in Virginia, democratic and republican.

"This election also indicates that the entire south will return to the democratic party by large majorities."

Kentucky Results

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 6.—Democratic majorities in both branches of the Kentucky assembly convening in January were indicated today on the basis of returns from yesterday's election.

Republicans sought to gain control of the state legislature to strengthen the administration of Governor Flem D. Sampson, republican, two years of whose four-year term remains. The governor and all appointive state officers are republican. All elective officers except the governor are democratic.

Unofficial returns point to the usual democratic majority of approximately two-thirds of the lower house, and control of the senate.

The republicans, however made a clean sweep of Louisville and Jefferson county. William B Harrison, republican, was elected mayor by an unprecedented majority of 20,000. In the legislative races, the republicans gained four seats by electing all eight candidates in Jefferson county. The one state senate election in the county also went to the republicans.

The republican gains in Louisville and Jefferson county were offset by democratic gains in the legislative races throughout the state.

VON BADEN, LAST CHANCELLOR OF GERMANY, DIES

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CONSTANCE, Baden, Germany, Nov. 6.—Prince Maximilian von Baden, last imperial German chancellor, and heir to the grand duchy of Baden, died here today. He was 62 years old.

Prince Max, as he was more widely known, was called to the imperial chancellorship in the closing days of the World war, October 5, 1928.

At that post he negotiated with President Wilson and the allied leaders the terms under which an armistice finally was granted, and he announced to the German people the abdication of the kaiser.

As president of the Baden house of lords he stirred that body on December 14, 1917, in a speech in which he denied the right of the United States to act as a judge of humanity, adding, however:

"Let us not be discouraged. The American people want this war and hope to realize their great idea of making the world safe for democracy." He confessed himself also a believer in the league of nations.

The latter part of his life was devoted to combatting the "war guilt lie" abroad.

machine almost instantly was fully ablaze.

When firemen and other rescuers arrived at the scene they could not do much more than to start extricating the bodies from the wreckage.

All O. K. at Start

The plane was owned and operated by the German Lufthansa company. When she took off from Croydon everything about her seemed in proper order, according to an Imperial airways official.

Prince Von Lippe was so severely burned about the face that he was scarcely recognizable. His clothing was burned from his arms and legs. Before being taken to a hospital he gasped, "I opened the window and crawled out."

STATE MAY CLASSIFY ALL KLAMATH CO. PROPERTY

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore., Nov. 6.—The Oregon state tax commission will furnish trained men to supervise the work of classification and equalization of tax assessments of all property in Klamath county providing satisfactory arrangements can be made with the county court.

Word to this effect was received from Charles V. Galloway state tax commissioner, who reported that the state tax commission is preparing a program for classification of property in all counties of the state looking forward to equalization of the tax burden.

larger quantities of fruit and vegetables.

"The canneries of the country," Mr. Norton stated, "are facing a rapidly changing situation. During the World war the United States shipped out great quantities of canned goods to the allies. The goods were not all used, and a great surplus was shipped back to this country and placed on the market. Until this year we have been producing in face of an existing surplus, but this year found the supply exhausted.

"At the same time there was a failure of many other fruit crops. Florida lost heavily on peaches. California's fruit crop was hit by frosts, so that the canneries of the northwest were called upon to meet a greatly increased demand, and our products are going into markets never before reached.

"The chain stores have also brought about a change in conditions. Formerly the cannery outputs were sold through jobbers, who purchased a large supply and put it in their own warehouses for distribution to the trade. The chain stores, however, work on a basis of short stock and quick turnover. They buy goods as needed, purchasing in advance only enough to supply definite demands. This has hit the jobbers, many of whom have had to go into other lines or maintain sidelines, such as coffee roasting, manufacturing salad dressing, or making fruit butter and jams, marketing their own products together with what jobbing business they can secure.

Products Expanding

"As a result of this condition the canneries are branching out into many new lines. For instance, we are putting in lines of sauerkraut and cabbage. You might be surprised to know that the bulk of the cabbage pack is purchased by steamboat companies, isolated fish canneries and summer hotels. The summer hotels are our best customers, particularly those around lake regions. The heavy thunderstorms come on and campers rush to hotels for protection. The great influx of emergency guests mean depletion of the larder unless precautions are taken, and the hotels purchase great quantities of canned vegetables to meet the situation. The hotels are also a good market for canned onions, which they use in their kitchens."

The Douglas county canneries, Mr. Norton says, are furnishing employment to more than 200 people, and could use from 50 to 75 more women. There has been considerable difficulty in securing enough cannery workers this year, he states, as the removal of the railroad terminal took away many women who were ordinarily employed in the plant. A sawmill or other such industry that would bring in new families would be a valuable help to the cannery by supplying additional labor resources, he said.

The cannery has a payroll of from $7,000 to $9,000 per month and will distribute between $80,000 and $90,000 for labor this year. The receipts will total between $600,000 and $700,000, the bulk of which will go to the farmers of the county for supplies.

POOL OF TURKEYS TO BE HANDLED BY TWO COMPANIES

valley birds are considerably better than obtained by Idaho in its cash sale. The Idaho bid was 32½ cents on young toms of No. 1 grade and 30½ cents on young hens of No. 1 grade and 27½ and 22½ on No. 2 toms and hens. These are the association prices, and the organization will deduct one-half cent from these quotations.

The Douglas county price of 32 cents for fancy grade is on toms and hens both, so that in view of the fact that two-thirds of the shipment will be made up of hens, the price is 2 cents higher than Idaho received.

New Grads Plan Aids

The three-grade plan is also believed to be of benefit, and officers of the association are surprised and pleased by the way the buyers bid on the new, intermediate grade, the offers being only 2 and 3 cents lower than on the fancy stock.

The No. 1 birds under the new grading system will take in the lightweight fancy birds, turkeys with slightly crooked breasts, skin bruises, few pinfeathers, etc., utilizing the poorest of the birds formerly classed as No. 1 and the best of the old No. 2 grade.

These classes are slightly above the government grading standards, according to Mr. Beyers. The government grades, prime, choice, medium and common. The first three grades conform to the association's classes, except that they are not quite as strict. Common grade is below the standard of birds that the association will accept. If government inspection is placed in operation in this district, Mr. Beyers states, it will not affect the local grading system in any way, as the association will adhere to its present requirements in order to preserve its reputation for quality and will be above the government standards.
