ROSEBURG, OREGON, FRIDAY, JAN. 17, 1930.

WE MUST KEEP TILLER CUT-OFF ROAD IN MIND

REGARDLESS of the outcome of the fight the boys down at the county seat are making for the construction of a highway to Diamond lake by way of the North Umpqua, we must keep up the agitation for the opening of the Tiller cut-off road.

We need the cut-off road—if the North Umpqua road is never built. And when it is finally built, we will need said road more than ever.

The tourist leaves a lot of outside money in south Douglas county—for gas, oil, eats, hotel and other sleep accommodations—and we must keep the tourist travel coming our way—and increase it if we can.

If the business interests at the county seat can get the road opened to Diamond lake—and do it with their own money, as they should—we say, "go to it," for that is only business—their business.

Our chief concern should be the opening of the Tiller cut-off road for year-round travel.

The battle issue is one of the "survival of the fittest." We can work hard and fight for a knock-out, and get that cut-off road—and save our tourist trade, or we can quit and let the boys at the county seat grab the trade with their North Umpqua road.—Myrtle Creek Mail.

The News-Review agrees absolutely with the editor of the Myrtle Creek paper in everything he says above regarding the Tiller-Trail road. It does not agree with the Mail editor's idea that those who feel keenest the need for the cut-off road must fight against the building of the road up the North Umpqua. There is room and need in this huge county for two more roads. As a matter of fact, the Tiller cut-off will benefit Roseburg and the rest of Douglas county just as much as it will the southern end. The reason this is true is that it will tend to open up and increase travel within the county. It will mean more tourist travel in our county which means new money left in the county. There is no reason under the sun why Roseburg citizens should oppose the building of the Tiller road, and many reasons why they should like to see it completed.

From the amount of space taken up in our newspapers by news of airplanes and flying, that industry bulks bigger than it really is. Department of commerce figures recently compiled state that there are but 6482 licensed planes and 9279 licensed pilots in the country.

Believe it or not, this is one up and coming stylish and spiffy little city. One of our men's furnishing stores has sold within the past month, three dozen (36) pairs of SPATS!

POEM FOR THE DAY

By LOUIS ALBERT BANKS

THE BIG BROTHER OF THE WEAK

This news story comes from Riverside, California: "The United States has an unparalleled opportunity to add mankind in every quarter by acting as a 'big brother' to less fortunate nations. Henry Morgenthau, one time American ambassador to Turkey, told delegates to the Institute of International Relations here:

"Not through entangling alliances or a dictatorial attitude toward weaker countries, but through a continuance of that leadership which has assisted the funding of German debts, the establishment of the Polish nation and the prevention of famine in European countries can America serve, he said.

"The United States has the ability to furnish leadership because of the freedom of this country from heritages of hate which have in many countries resulted in a general confusion of thought which makes progress difficult.

"He suggested that the United States lend experts to other nations whenever they will be properly received, see that their purpose is high, their conduct efficient and that when they have helped point a proper course they be recalled and each country's affairs be left in the hands of its own people."

We fail to find a single flaw
In this rare plan of Morgenthau.
The matchless Man of Galilee
And Morgenthau would quite agree.
The strong should bear the weak man's load,
And help a brother on the road.
In that great "Sermon on the Mount,"
Such plans as this all have their fount.

America "the beautiful"
Should also be the generous—
Perform a brother's dutiful part;
Should for the weak have kindly heart;
Should lead the world in graciousness;
Should every struggling nation bless;
With all our wealth of food and gold,
Do poorer peoples good untold.

If we will join in this wise plan,
We'll haste the brotherhood of man;
'Twill bring about the reign of peace—
All wars of selfishness will cease.
Example breathes contagion rare,
And other lands their wealth would share;
In helpfulness the world would race;
'Twould clothe mankind in smiling grace.

We thank wise Henry Morgenthau
For calling thought to this great law.
'Tis wise that in our splendid day
Such love should color all our way.
If we, who are too big for fear,
Will give the world a brother's cheer,
We'll never have to stand alone—
All humankind will catch our tone.

TELEGRAPH USED PLENTIFULLY FOR HOLIDAY GREETING

An unprecedented number of Christmas and New Year greetings were sent by telegraph from Roseburg during the holidays, according to N. W. Rothacker, manager of the local Western Union office. Holiday greeting messages were 32 per cent in excess of 1928, it was stated, Roseburg taking fifth place in the second district, which includes Washington and Oregon, with Seattle, Spokane and Portland. Daniel Barnett, local messenger, took fifth place in the district for the number of messages secured by solicitation. The Western Union handled more than two million greeting telegrams and cablegrams over its entire system, according to information received by Mr. Rothacker.

BRINGING UP FATHER

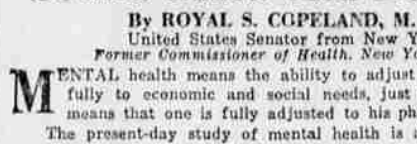

WELL, I'VE GOT MAGGIE ALL SET ON GOIN' TO EUROPE TO STUDY SINGIN'. THE MAN IS IN THERE NOW FIXIN' UP HER PASSPORT NOTHIN' KIN KEEP HER FROM GOIN' NOW.

YES, IT IS MOST ESSENTIAL TO PUT DOWN YOUR AGE, MRS. JIGGS.

BUT LISTEN, MAGGIE— I SAID I'LL NOT GO TO EUROPE THE VERY IDEA OF ASKING ANY ONE TO WRITE DOWN THEIR AGE.

Sound Mind and Body the Best Heritage

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

MENTAL health means the ability to adjust one's self successfully to economic and social needs, just as physical health means that one is fully adjusted to his physical environment. The present-day study of mental health is an effort, not only to find out just what is normal human behavior, and the proper treatment of crime and insanity, but of finding the causes of mental ill health, so that future generations may be protected. This is important because there is a constant increase in the number of people suffering from mental illness in this country today.

At a recent meeting of the New York Academy of Medicine, Mr. Clifford W. Beers, founder of the National Committee for Mental Hygiene gave the following interesting statement:

He said that there are about 400,000 patients suffering from mental illness at the present time, as compared with 187,000 twenty years ago. The number is increasing at the rate of about 10,000 a year. This is a very grave problem for public consideration.

Mr. Beers declares that this great increase calls for the provision of more hospitals and medical care than the country now has. Provision must be made to cope with this very great menace to the public health for generations to come. Intensive efforts must be made to prevent the thousands of curable cases from becoming incurable through neglect and ignorance.

These statistics are interesting to every American because the burden of care of these incurable mental patients will fall on the taxpayer, as well as on the family and State. Here, again, we see the necessity for preventive measures to protect the public health and to safeguard future generations.

Recent research brings much of the blame of crime, insanity and failure back to the home. Mental hygienists are stressing one great point, and that is in most cases of extreme nervousness in children, in many cases of delinquency, in some cases of insanity, as well as in almost all cases of conduct disorder, the trail leads directly back to the home and parents. They agree that the final responsibility for the mental health of the race lies in the home.

Fortunate is the child whose parents appreciate the importance of a good start in life, and are able to give him a heritage of sound physical and mental health.

Answers to Health Queries

Peggy. Q.—Is reducing—Is it harmless? Would like to lose about eight pounds. I am 17 years of age, 4 feet 11 in. tall. What should I weigh?

A.—I am not familiar with the preparation therefore cannot advise you along these lines. If you cut down on sweets and starches and indulge in systematic exercise you should lose weight. You should weigh about 110 pounds.

Mrs. F. L. L. Q.—What do you advise for falling hair? My husband recently had an operation and his hair has been coming out ever since.

A.—The state of the scalp plays an important part in the condition of both hair and scalp. The general rules for good health coupled with a good, stimulating hair tonic should bring about results.

Good Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

After Theatre Suppers

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: I go out frequently with young men, and after a show or dance they usually suggest going some place to eat. I always decline because I am at a loss as to what to order. Won't you please give me a few hints?

WANTS TO KNOW. I have a very full list of suggestions of things to order after the theatre. I recorded everything I could think of, from the humble roll and coffee to the particular dishes "under glass." Would you like a copy of it? It is called "After-Theatre Eating" and if you'll send me an addressed envelope I shall be most happy to send you a copy.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: How should I introduce a girl friend to my mother?

2. Do you like my writing paper? "MOTHER, this is Miss Alice Rule," or "Mother, this is Miss Rule," or "Mother, this is Alice Rule."

2. Yes, pretty well. It is a bit too vivid for my taste. The same kind in a lighter blue or in white or light gray would have been so much better. I think it is of a good texture, however, and of an excellent size for your handwriting.
