BROTHERHOOD IS ORGANIZED BY MEN AT GLENDALE

(News-Review Douglas County Special)

GLENDALE, Jan. 22.—A men's club of the Presbyterian church was organized last Thursday evening when 40 men accepted Rev. J. K. Howard's invitation to a dinner that was served by the Presbyterian Ladies Aid society. A. G. Clarke was elected president, W. L. Dobyns, vice-president, and L. A. Zook, secretary and treasurer. The object of this club is to help bring church interests and religion into the social and community life and to further good clean fellowship among the workers, ranchers and business men of Glendale and vicinity. It is proposed to hold social dinners at intervals of about six weeks.

During the dinner Thursday evening a well arranged musical program was given. Miss Mildred Scott played a violin solo and graciously complied with request for an encore. Mrs. H. G. Paige accompanied her on the piano. A small boys' chorus under the direction of Mrs. G. A. Jackson sang two numbers. Mrs. Jackson also sang a solo number.

Various short talks were given. C. A. Thomas led a roundtable discussion of "The value of brotherhood in economic production." "The best method of creating goodfellowship in a community" was discussed by G. L. Wardrip, G. A. Jackson and Carl Sether. Rev. J. K. Howard discussed briefly "What a men's club can do for its community."

GLENDALE COUPLE CELEBRATE THEIR 25TH ANNIVERSARY

(News-Review Douglas County Special)

GLENDALE, Jan. 21.—Mr. and Mrs. Iver H. Smith entertained a few of their relatives and friends with a one o'clock chicken dinner at their home on the corner of Third street and Willis avenue Sunday in celebration of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. A large wedding cake was used for centerpiece. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nebel, Miss Gertrude Nebel, Miss Alice Nebel, Miss Ethel M. Smith, L. O. Stromme, H. Lystol and Mr. and Mrs. Iver H. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were married near River Falls, Wis., January 26, 1905. A story of their married life is practically a history of the Glendale Telephone company. At the time of his marriage Mr. Smith was owner and publisher of the River Falls, Wis., Times with a job printing plant in connection. Selling his newspaper and job plant he came to Glendale in November in 1907. Here he purchased the Glendale News, a weekly publication then owned by W. E. Homme, also a former Wisconsin man. Mr. Smith published the Glendale News for five years, selling his printing business to J. K. Coet in 1912.

In August, 1908, Mr. Smith bought the Glendale Telephone company. This company had been organized two years previous by B. L. Darby, Dr. A. F. Sether, Dr. E. B. Stewart and others, and had a small switchboard in the rear of Darby's drug store. Telephone service was somewhat haphazard. A call was usually considered something to be annoyed with while trying to wait on some customer in the drug store out in front. Mr. Smith moved the switchboard into the Glendale News office. Whoever was at the typecase nearest the switchboard was usually the early day operator.

When Mr. Smith bought the Glendale Telephone company it had 20 subscribers. Since that time there has been an average increase in calls to each subscriber of about 300 per cent and the company now has about 5 times as many subscribers. The amount of long distance business has increased during this period about 1000 per cent. Much of the credit for increased business and bettered local phone service goes to Mrs. Smith who has served at the switchboard much of the time.

In 1915 the switchboard and telephone office was moved across the street from the former Glendale News office and this has been the home of the telephone company ever since. The old residence was destroyed by fire in September of 1928 but the switchboards were saved. They were installed in a new and modern home the early part of 1929.

Besides attending to his telephone business Mr. Smith has had time to take an active part in various local civic affairs. He served as a member of the Glendale school board for 9 years. He was mayor of Glendale for 4 years, city recorder for 3 years, and is now serving his sixth year as a member of the city council. Mr. Smith has served as deputy assessor for the southern portion of Douglas county ever since 1919.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith have two children, Miss Ethel M. Smith who is employed in the assessor's office at the courthouse in Roseburg, and Allen C. Smith, who is a senior in forestry at the Oregon State college at Corvallis. Another, daughter, Gertrude, died in September of 1923.

LETTER YOUR TRUCKS WITH HOME ADDRESS

"The fact that many trucks bear the name but not the address of their owner shows that some business concerns are still thinking in terms of horse-drawn vehicles."

Thus begins an article in the current issue of the Autocar Messenger, monthly house magazine of the Autocar company, motor truck manufacturer of Ardmore, Pa.

"In the days when most hauling was done by horse and wagon," the article continues, "it was not likely that a vehicle would be sent so far from its base that it would be unrecognized by those who saw it. But in these days, when motor trucks do most of the nation's fast hauling, no truck owner can expect that everybody who will see his truck wherever it may go will know immediately what city it came from. Furthermore, by leaving off the name of the locality, he loses the value of an important element of advertising and, in case of the long-distance hauler, whose truck may be half the continent away from home, he loses a certain prestige value for the distance over which he operates.

"There are many instances in our records showing that an owner whose Autocar was properly and thoroughly lettered with the name, address and nature of the owner's business, has closed some nice orders which were directly traceable to someone's having seen his advertising message on his truck."
