AMERICAN FARMERS ADVISED TO REDUCE 1930 PRODUCTION

Relief Measures Without Value if Crops Aren't Planned Carefully, Hyde Declares.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Secretary Hyde told the farmers of the nation yesterday that "blind production" was the bane of agriculture.

Speaking over the National Broadcasting company net work, the secretary closed the broadcasting of the report of the 1930 agricultural outlook with the warning that governmental farm relief measures will be useless "unless each individual farmer intelligently plans his production."

Hyde said he wanted to emphasize that in order to obtain a higher level of prices than prevails now it appeared necessary to reduce rather than to increase 1930 production and that the problem must be met on the farm.

"If we are to make agriculture profitable we must not only produce at lowest possible cost but must also keep our production reasonably close to prospective domestic demand," he said. "Blind production for an unknown demand is now the bane of agriculture. Competitive selling by six million individual farmers usually gives the purchaser a great advantage. The challenge of the new decade is to act collectively to overcome this situation.

"Agriculture's leadership has formulated and secured the enactment of the agricultural marketing act which established the federal farm board backed by half a billion dollars of public money and clothed with far reaching powers in applying collective thinking to that great problem of the new decade—the problem of modern cooperative merchandising of crops and livestock.

"But all this will break down unless each farmer intelligently plans his production," the secretary continued. "The individual farmer owes a duty to himself to make his efforts profitable and a duty to his fellow farmer to help make agriculture profitable. We cannot do this if farmers work against each other. We can do it if we work with each other."

The secretary said that detailed information on the agricultural outlook will be brought to every community within the next month at thousands of farm meetings conducted by the extension service of the department.

WOMEN URGED TO GIVE ASSISTANCE TO CENSUS TAKERS

American housewives are being urged in a governmental campaign to give every aid to the census takers who will begin their 1930 task in April. This can best be done by answering every question promptly, even down to their ages and the status of the mortgage on the old homestead.

"There need be no fear in answering all questions freely," declares The Country Home, in an article aiding the movement. "All census enumerators are sworn to secrecy in the information they secure and there is a penalty for divulging facts secured, as there is for giving false data. Not even the banker will ever see a family's statement of its economic status."

The 1930 census will be most complete ever taken since the country first counted its 4,000,000 noses in 1790. The census bureau only came into being in 1902 and since that each census has been more and more efficient.

"If you consider the census taker's visit a bother," says the article "you should thank your stars that you do not live in Turkey. When the first census was taken there in 1927, the nation was put under martial law and all citizens were locked in their houses until the census was completed that night. In Constantinople the doors were not unlocked until after 10 o'clock in the evening."

RENO'S DIVORCE REVENUE ESTIMATED AT $1,500,000

RENO, Nev., Jan. 28.—Matrimonial entanglements enriched Reno by more than $1,500,000 in 1929, according to an estimate by the county clerk, E. H. Beemer.

He said the figure was conservative. Fifty dollars each was paid by 2,106 applicants for divorce as court fees and their attorneys charged $250 as a minimum retainer, while several paid between $10,000 and $25,000 for their decrees. The county clerk estimates living costs at $25 a week and each person had to reside within the county at least 90 days.

With the 4,210 permits to wed issued during the same period, Beemer said newlyweds spent about $50,000 for the permits and fees to the ministers of the city.

HUMBLE FACTORY GIRL FALLS HEIR TO HUGE ESTATE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

PEPPERELL, Mass., Jan. 28.—A 16-year-old girl whose day dreams had brought her visions of being a fine titled lady of quality,—the sort of dreams girls have,—has had those dreams come true.

She had always believed herself to be humble Lucy Harriett Fagge, daughter of a humble choreman, who was so poor after her mother died he couldn't care for her, and sent her to her grandmother's home in Boston. There she had gone to grammar school and last fall had worked in a factory for a month.

Yesterday, though, she came home to her dad. For many years he had been Johnny Harry Lee Fagge, who worked at odd jobs about town, mowing lawns, mending broken furniture and doing similar tasks. Word came from England last week, however, of the death of his brother, Sir John Charles Fagge of Dover, baronet, and the passing of the title and estates to him. He asked for his daughter to share his new fortunes.

In his modest home here, Sir John told Lucy yesterday of her ancestry, describing to her the Fagge crest and distinguished forbears dating back to the Cromwellian wars, whose names occupy two full pages in Burke's peerage. He told her that she was now Lady Lucy.

Her father is planning to return to England when more instructions arrive. Lucy isn't sure she wishes to go. "I have only been as far as the eighth grade in school," she said, "and aren't the daughters of titled men supposed to be very wise?"

UMPQUA FOREST FIRES LAST YEAR CAUSED BIG LOSS

Incendiarism and carelessness was responsible for more than $[illegible] forest fire loss in the Umpqua national forest during the past year, according to the annual report made by O. C. Holmes, central dispatcher. Incendiarism was maker of the major portion of the loss, 22 fires out of 49 being due to malicious action on the part of unknown persons, resulting in 11 out of 16 class C fires.

There were 49 fires on the national forest area during the year burning over a total of 8,515 acres, with an estimated loss of $[illegible] in merchantable and reproduction timber. Nine fires were started by careless smokers, 15 by campfires, 1 by a brush fire that escaped from its bounds, 22 by incendiarists and 1 unclassified.

Of the smokers' fires 5 were class A, 2 class B and 2 class C. The camp fires were all class A, as was the brush fire. Nine of the incendiary fires were class B and 14 were class C. The miscellaneous fire was of class A, making 22 class A fires, 11 class B and 16 class C. A class A fire is under a quarter of an acre in size, class B is under 10 acres and class C is over 10 acres.

The worst fires of the season were late in the year, coming in September and November. The fires in November were the latest of any size ever to occur on the Umpqua forest.

The largest fire of the year was in the Beaver lake district near Tiller, burning over 6,107 acres. The Red Cloud fire of 871 acres in November and the Cow Creek fire of 434 acres in November were the next largest in size. Fires burned as late as December 7 last year, making the longest fire season in the history of the Roseburg office.

The total acreage burned was 8,515 acres of which 7,269 acres were in the forest reserve and 957 on private land inside the forest boundary and 249 acres on land outside the forest reserve but protected by the national forces under the protection plan.

The total fire protection cost was $59,000. There were as many as 350 fire fighters employed at one time in fire fighting, in addition to the regular force of 60 men and the road and trail crews, subject to call, numbering 45 men.

BANK CHAINS SPREAD FAST IN NORTHWEST

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 28.—The eight-months-old chain bank movement in the northwest enters 1930 with the two powerful chains and numerous smaller groups organized.

There are 39 of the latter in Minnesota alone. The two great chains have aggregate resources of $976,000,000 and many bankers see in the movement a chance for the northwest to become more independent of the financial centers of Chicago and New York.

The Northwest Bancorporation, the first of the two largest chains, was started in January, 1929, and now has resources of almost $450,000,000. It includes 77 banks and six trust companies.

The other, the First Bank Stock corporation, has resources of $430,000,000 and includes 61 banks and other financial institutions. It was organized in August.

It Is Easy To End Fat

That is, in the right way, used by modern physicians. No abnormal exercise or diet, but help to a gland that is weak. The recent large reduction in excess fat has been largely due to that method.

This modern method is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. People have used them for 22 years—millions of boxes of them. In almost every circle you can see the amazing change it brings.

If over-fat, you owe yourself a trial of Marmola. Don't remain abnormal. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box states the formula and tells the reasons for results. Start growing thin, as your friends have done, at once.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

ADIYAMAN, Turkey, Jan. 28.—Now that communications have been opened partially in Turkey's long-isolated turbulent eastern provinces, travelers are bringing to the world news of the existence of a hidden and dreadful village: Adiyaman, the village of the blind.

In the dusty, sandy district of Hisnimansour, not far from the city of Malatia, lies this village of whose 7,000 inhabitants 6,791 are wholly or partially sightless through the ravages of trachoma.

It is a village without sound except for the tap, tap of hundreds of canes on cobbled roads as the population gropes its way through a ghostly life from blind childhood to blind old age and death. Through Adiyaman's squalid dung-thatched huts and dust-polluted alleys, squalid human beings crawl like animals without eyes.

Utterly disregarded by the old regime of the Sultans, the village has for centuries been without a school or hospital. Without solace or help its peasant population, stricken generation after generation by trachoma, has made its living painfully and half blindly through farming and herding.

The village is utterly unlighted at night for there are only a handful of villagers who could see by any light. Kipling's City of Dreadful Night becomes a reality in this Anatolian town where night and day are of the same dire blackness.

Adiyaman is probably the only place in Anatolia where Moslem women wear no veils. For the women of Adiyaman, religious as they are, no veils are necessary beyond the veil of universal blindness which hides a woman even from her father and husband and child in this sightless village.

DOUGLAS EXCEEDS 1928 MARK IN SEAL SALE FOR T-B WAR

According to Mrs. H. C. Boyle, chairman of the Douglas county Christmas seal sale, returns from the recently concluded sale are still dribbling in to the association headquarters, and with receipts to date totaling $771.01, the county has exceeded its 1929 sale at this time by about $200.00.

This increase is thought by local persons to be the result of a better understanding of the health conservation work of the county public health association on the part of the general public, and to a growing recognition of the value of a disease-prevention program based on the policy that "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure" in all matters pertaining to health. It is believed by health authorities that the program of disease prevention financed by the annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals has been largely responsible for the consistent reduction in the number of Oregon citizens dying each year from tuberculosis. The death rate for 1928 in Oregon was 57.3 persons for every one hundred thousand population. The rate in 1915, when the Oregon Tuberculosis association was formed, was 95.2 for the same number.

The seal sale committee of the Douglas County Public Health association, states that a number of Christmas seals are still in the hands of persons who have not sent in their check and asks that either the seals be returned or checks sent to Mrs. H. C. Boyle, the seal sale chairman, at the earliest possible moment. Her address is Roseburg, Oregon.

With $771.01 now on hand from the Christmas seal sale, the Douglas County Public Health association will retain $308, less incidental expenses, as its share of the returns, to be used in health conservation work in Douglas county, along lines approved by the Oregon Tuberculosis association and the local group. The amount retained in the county always depends upon the number of seals sold. Should the sale average less than six seals for every man, woman and child in the county (using state board of health estimated population for 1925) the county will retain 40 per cent of the returns. Then for every additional seal sold per person the county retains 5 per cent more of the money, with 60 per cent the maximum amount that the county may retain. This amount may be spent directly by the county association only when nine seals or more per capita are purchased by the residents of this county. Therefore if all the outstanding money should be received this county would retain nearly $500.

It is expected that the budget committee of the county health association will hold a meeting in the very near future, when the program for 1930 will be definitely outlined. According to word received from the Oregon Tuberculosis association, several county associations have already held their annual meetings and the budget committees are now at work with the officers of the associations. The officers of the Douglas County Public Health association are: President, Mrs. John Runyan; vice-president, J. E. McClintock; secretary, Bess Redharn; treasurer, J. H. Booth. The committee to decide upon the expenditures for the various activities for this year is composed of the officers and executives.

Mrs. Saidie Orr Dunbar, executive secretary for the Oregon Tuberculosis county association which Douglas county association (as well as nineteen other county associations) is affiliated, states that the Christmas seal sale just closed has been one of the most successful since the association was formed fifteen years ago, and that the budget committee for the state association will have its report ready for the annual meeting to be held in Portland the latter part of February. "I sincerely hope that several members from the Douglas association will be able to attend this meeting," said Mrs. Dunbar.

TRAINERS HALT CARNERA'S NON-STOP FOOD ATTACK

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—Admirers of Primo Carnera, the large Italian heavyweight, who came to his training quarters bearing gifts of food have been requested to restrict their offerings to apples and oranges—for Primo is on a diet.

New acquaintances of the Italian noting his size, have sent huge steaks, whole cheeses and other delicacies. Primo, not wishing to offend, has attempted to eat everything—with considerable success. But his manager, Leon Cle, has ordered him to stick to a menu outlined by his trainer from now on until after his bout with Elzear Rioux at the Chicago stadium Friday night.

Fosnaugh Feels 20 Years Younger Now

"I've always enjoyed exceptional health until a few years ago, when my liver and kidneys began troubling me. No medicine seemed able to reach the cause of my constipation. My kidneys got me up sometimes as many as ten times a night. I suffered terribly with pains in the small of my back. Of course that dragged me down and exhausted my nerves, and I had no inclination to turn my hand to a thing.

SALEM H. FOSNAUGH

"After taking three bottles of Sargon and one bottle of Pills I feel as well and strong at seventy-five as I did twenty years ago. My liver is active and my constipation is gone. That pain in my back doesn't bother me any more and my muscles are not sore and stiff. I never have to get up more than once in a night. My nerves are steady and I'm keen to do things. I hope my experience will start many people to taking this marvelous medicine."—Salem H. Fosnaugh, R. F. D. 10, Seattle, Wash.
