By FRANK JENKINS

IF YOU are an average person, with your mind centered pretty largely upon the problems of your own business, you have only the vaguest and haziest notion of the meaning of the word research and its importance to human progress. You think of research, probably, as the pastime of bespectacled professors, who have nothing better to do.

If you are just a little less intelligent than you ought to be, you probably think the world would be better off if these professors would take off their coats and go to work digging ditches.

YOU are wrong. All the progress the world has made away from original savagery has come out of research—has been made possible by new facts discovered by somebody a little more observant than his fellows.

THE earliest man had only his bare hands with which to defend himself against the beasts. Then some mind more observing than the average discovered that flint could be sharpened. Research, patiently carried on through centuries, developed methods of chipping flints so that weapons and useful edged tools could be made of them.

Thus the whole history of the human race was changed.

SOME early savage, sitting by his campfire built upon the rocks, noted that when these rocks became extremely hot a curious red substance ran away from them. Out of this red substance, smelted accidentally from the ore, long and patient research developed bronze.

Again the history of humankind was changed, and research gave to human beings new security, new comforts and new opportunity.

SOME early ancestor of ours noticed that a round pebble rolls. That started his mind to working, and so research was begun along another line. Out of this slow, patient, tedious research, carried on wholly without facilities, came the wheel, which has changed the whole face of world affairs.

Think of that the next time you spin down the highway in your new modern automobile, which has been made possible by the application of the principle of the wheel.

ELECTRICITY, that mightiest of all the servants of modern progress, has been present and waiting to be harnessed and put to work since the world began. But intelligent research to discover the facts about electricity and apply them to the problems of human beings was LACKING. So the ancients did without electricity.

A LONG in the third century the tent of a Roman emperor, who was campaigning victoriously against the Persians, was struck by lightning and the emperor was killed. His entire army, officers and common soldiers alike, filled with superstitious terror, abandoned their hitherto victorious campaign and retired in wild disorder.

Centuries later, Benjamin Franklin brought the lightning out of the skies by means of a kite string, and upon the fact thus discovered and developed the whole modern structure of electricity and its uses.

THE force that struck down the Roman emperor was the same force that turns your washing machine and cooks your food and lights your house. It has been present through all the ages of the world. It was research that turned it to our uses.

THROUGH countless centuries, men were swept away by plagues and contagions. Millions of mothers, to cite one plague alone, have gone through that despairing torture which grips a mother when she hears and sees the slow choking of her child that is seized by diphtheria.

Then came Louis Pasteur and through the slow processes of research developed and proved the germ theory. The knowledge given to us by Pasteur has made possible the control of plague and contagion and has added immeasurably to human welfare.

If you are a mother, whose children have been freed from evils that mangled children through so

BOMB HITS CLUB HOUSE OF FILIPINOS

Stockton Scene of Latest Racial Violence; Fist Fights, Robberies Also Occur.

Officials Anticipate More Trouble Owing to Large Number of Stranded White Laborers.

(Associated Press Local Wire)
STOCKTON, Cal., Jan. 25.—Dozens of Filipinos were hurled from their beds in the Filipino center, a clubhouse, here early today when a bomb exploded on the front porch of the structure. The blast carried away the facade of the building and shattered windows of dwellings within a block's radius. No one, however, was reported seriously injured.

The bomb was hurled, apparently, from a speeding automobile. Charles Woodrow, a street car motorman, said he saw a "large blue sedan" speed past the club an instant before the blast occurred. The center, a remodeled mansion, is in a poorer residential section in the southern part of the city. It is an entertainment center as well as a dormitory and white women have been employed there recently as entertainers.

Sequel to Riots
Police say the bombing was an aftermath of recent riots and anti-Filipino disturbances in San Francisco, San Jose and Watsonville, where whites, who regard Filipinos as the cause of much unemployment in the state, have subjected the islanders to numerous attacks. A Filipino shot to death and a white man stabbed have constituted casualties so far. In Watsonville whites began aggressions when two white women were employed as entertainers by a Filipino social club at Palm Beach, near there.

Almost simultaneously with the explosion this morning, three riotous were reported in various parts of the business district and a half-dozen fist fights between Filipinos and whites were reported.

Situation Grave
Officials said the situation today was orderly, but admitted they were worried. They pointed out that this city has a Filipino population of 15,000, said to be the largest in California. Three Filipino labor contractors have headquarters here and supply the delta farming region with workers. The city is also a center for white transient labor and this winter.

BOMBERS DAMAGE CHICAGO BUILDINGS, DISTURB TRAFFIC

(Associated Press Local Wire)

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Four bombs were exploded last night and early today, one of them shattering the bridge over Michigan avenue traffic. Guests in the New Southern hotel fled from their rooms as an explosion in the 1200 block on South Michigan broke windows on four floors. Automobile traffic and pedestrians in the avenue, many of them visitors to the automobile show at the nearby exhibition, were caught in the shower of glass.

At St. Luke's hospital, two blocks away, many patients were frightened; windows in other buildings on Michigan and Wabash were broken, but no one was hurt.

The bomb was exploded in the rear of an automobile finance company.

On the northwest side, an explosion blasted windows in a paper company; on the near southwest side, another bomb damaged a two-story apartment and grocery store.

A fourth bomb early today damaged a shoe repair shop in a north side apartment hotel, drove hotel guests into the street and broke windows in the building.

A fifth explosion was reported in the loop district, but a search of the neighborhood revealed no damage, albeit, diners in a restaurant nearby averred they smelled burning powder.

"SCOTTY" SPEIGHT RECOMMENDED TO OREGON ASYLUM

(Scotty) Speight, arrested a short time ago near Sutherlin at the request of Marion county authorities, on a charge of manslaughter, has been sent to the state hospital for insane, according to word from Salem. Speight was originally indicted in connection with the death of a two-year-old child, struck by his automobile. He was sent to the state hospital at that time, but was released upon his agreement to return to his old home in Canada. He went to Canada, but within a short time returned to Oregon and located at Sutherlin. The Salem officers learned of this fact and had him arrested on the old charge. Upon a new examination he was adjudged to be still insane.

MALE-CLAD GIRL'S BAD CHECK CAREER LANDS HER IN JAIL

(Associated Press Local Wire)

THE DALLIES, Ore., Jan. 25.—Held on a charge of impersonating a man, and attempting to cash a worthless check, Kapitola Cooper, 21, who during the past three months has created a problem for police in Idaho, Oregon and California, was being held in jail here today. She was dressed in riding habit, a man's coat and a cap. She was with George Kelley, 32, who was held for questioning. Kelley said he had given the supposed boy a ride in his automobile. He was on his way from Colorado to Klamath Falls to work, he said.

Although Miss Cooper passed readily as a boy, she was recognized from photographs which appeared in Portland papers at the time she walked into the police station there last fall and confessed that her "conscience was buring her" as the result of passing bad checks at Twin Falls, Idaho.

She was involved in similar episodes at Silverton and later in San Francisco.

At Acata, Calif., Miss Cooper, who traveled under five aliases, sought refuge at police headquarters to escape violence of a mob who believe she was an under-cover agent for federal prohibition agents operating there.

The young woman, who professes an ambition to write poetry, said she was enroute to Glendive, Montana, where her mother lives.

SCHOOL HEAD GETS 2 YEARS' RENEWAL OF HIS CONTRACT

City School Superintendent W. M. Campbell, who has been in charge of the Roseburg schools for the past three years, was given a contract last night for two more years at a slight increase in salary. Mr. Campbell's present contract has another year to run, but it is customary with the city school board to enter into such contracts a year in advance. Under the present agreement Mr. Campbell will be retained until 1932.

The board of directors was unanimous in its action, declaring that the present superintendent has provided utmost efficiency and harmony in the schools, and at the same time has effected economies permitting an easier financial situation. The board, thoroughly satisfied with the work of Mr. Campbell, was very desirous of retaining his services for the coming period for which he is engaged.

He has been connected with the Roseburg schools for more than six years, having served as principal of the Roseburg high school prior to taking over the duties of city superintendent.

LITTLE HOPE FOR TRAPPED DIVER

(Associated Press Local Wire)

QUEBEC, Jan. 25.—With little hope that they would find Peter Trane, a diver alive, rescuers today renewed their efforts to bring him from the depths of the St. Lawrence river where he had been trapped since Monday.

Trans went down to inspect the base of a cofferdam at Riviere de Outardes, where a dam is under construction. Soon after submerging he became caught on a spike projecting from the cribbing. When efforts to bring him to the surface failed, a call was sent to Quebec for a rescue diver. Two divers started in an airplane but were delayed yesterday by snow storms.

Air has been pumped to Trans continually but it was feared he had succumbed to the exposure in the cold water.

EMMY DESTINN OF SONG FAME DIES

(Associated Press Local Wire)

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—The prima donna, Emmy Destinn, died today at Rudweis, Czechoslovakia. She was 51 years old.

She took out her first citizenship papers in the United States shortly before America's entrance into the World War. In 1927 she married a Captain Halsbach, Czech aviator, who was much younger than herself.

Her voice was a soprano of extraordinary range.

SLEEPING SICKNESS FATAL TO STUDENT

(Associated Press Local Wire)

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 25.—Ruth Kallak, twin daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Kallak and a sophomore in the Woodburn high school, died Tuesday night from sleeping sickness. The case was verified by county and state health officers. She had been ill about three weeks.

Funeral Tomorrow—Funeral services will be held Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the soldiers home for Louis Norwood, Spanish war veteran who died Tuesday. The local camp of Spanish war veterans will conduct the interment services.

GANG LEADER GOES LIKE HIS PREDECESSOR

"Red" Donnelly, Stevedore Czar of Brooklyn, Dies From Bullets Fired From Ambush.

Freed of Murder Charges 5 Times and Laughed When Warned of Plot to Take His Life.

(Associated Press Local Wire)

NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—The name of Charles (Red) Donnelly, 50 years old, was added today to the long list of gang leaders who have been slain in the fight for control of the waterfront in the Red Hook district of Brooklyn.

He was ambushed and shot twice in the head by gunmen hiding behind a checker's shanty on the pier of the Colombian line.

Two weeks ago Detective William Brogan, whose business it is to know the doings of the waterfront gangs, met Donnelly.

"I've been hearing things, Red," the detective told the stevedore czar. "You had better lay off. It's in the cards that they'll get you sometime."

Brogan said Donnelly answered his warning with a laugh. He was watching the ship loaders from whom he extracted tribute yesterday when a messenger approached him and said:

"You're wanted down on the pier."

Donnelly strolled toward the pierhead. As he passed the checker's booth there were two shots. Leaders working nearby found him dead. The killers had disappeared.

The Law of the Gun
Like that of many of his predecessors, Donnelly's reign was short. Eighteen months ago he was arraigned in homicide court charged with the slaying of his immediate predecessor, Eddie Martin. It was the fifth time he had faced a murder charge, and as in

CHICAGO ROBBER SHOT AS HE WALKS INTO HOTEL TRAP

(Associated Press Local Wire)

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—A thief was shot and probably fatally wounded early today by policemen who trapped him in the robbery of a Gold Coast apartment hotel.

Patrick Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney, and two police officers were concealed off the lobby of the 211 East Delaware building as the robber entered. The man carried a revolver which he pointed at the night clerk, Abraham Danks.

Nine other men were able to interfere, fearing the thief might use Danks as a shield or possibly shoot him. The officers remained concealed while the robber took Danks to the 17th floor and locked him up.

Back in the lobby, the robber walked to the cash register and was taking $50 from it when he heard Policeman John Greer call out, "throw up your hands."

The robber whirled, reaching for his gun. Greer fired once, the bullet entering the shoulder and penetrating one lung.

At the hospital slight hope for the man's recovery was given. He was tentatively identified as Andrew Wright, 35 years old.

Acting on tips from underworld sources, Roche has had police guards at the East Delaware building and three other Gold Coast hotels for several days.

AIRPLANES DROP FOOD TO INDIANA FLOOD SUFFERERS

(Associated Press Local Wire)

EVANSVILLE, Ind., Jan. 25.—Ninety families reported in distress from lack of food and fuel in the flood-bound territory south of Crawleysville, Ind., were the immediate goal today of four national guard airplanes engaged in relief work.

One hundred and twenty bags of food and clothing were ready for the aviators to drop at the homes of these families and others marooned more than a week ago when the waters of the Wabash and White rivers overflowed, spread over a large territory, and then froze.

The planes yesterday dropped packages of supplies to twenty persons isolated on cut-off islands, and to others in the vicinity of Hawthorne Island, Gibson Hill and Crawleysville. In Clayson, Posey and Vanderburgh counties.

One pilot related how a log dropped near a farm house broke through the ice, whereupon a man who had been watching the plane dived under the ice to retrieve the supplies. At another point, the pilot said a man and boy perished on the ice and were found as severed animals would, in search of food.

SENATE TO FAVOR VETS' HOME HERE, McNARY ASSURES

(Associated Press Local Wire)

Frank J. Norton, president of the Norton Canning company of this city, has received assurance from Senator C. L. McNary that favorable action on the bill providing for the establishing a branch of the national soldiers' home at Roseburg will be taken at the present session of congress, according to a report received through the Portland Oregonian's Washington news bureau.

Mr. Norton has been spending several weeks in the mid-west and Atlantic states, contacting the brokers handling the local cannery output, and stopped in Washington on business. He conferred with Senator McNary and according to the Washington report was assured that favorable action on the measure in the senate at this session is probable.

Mr. Norton is planning to return home within the next two weeks, but will return to Washington to testify at the committee hearings, if his presence is desired.

SPAIN JOYOUS AT END OF RIVERA'S SIX YEARS' RULE

MADRID, Jan. 25.—Police today battled crowds of students boisterously celebrating in the streets of the capital the resignation of General Primo de Rivera, for six years premier and dictator.

Almost 200 were arrested and many were injured, several seriously. Clashes occurred in many parts of the city. One demonstration near the royal palace was dispersed when police fired over the students' heads.

Drawn sabres were used to force back the manifestants in some downtown streets. There were many fistfights between the students and police, who shouted "Viva, rey! Muera primo!" "Long live the king! Death to primo!" Police quickly suppressed shouts of "Viva republic!" or "Long live the republic!"

Meanwhile General Primo de Rivera, whose resignation was accepted by King Alfonso, effective last night, conferred with his successor and explaining reasons for his resignation, issued an official note which concluded:

"And now to rest a little, to recover my health. Two thousand three hundred and twenty-six days have been filled with inquietude, then if God wishes, I shall return to serve Spain until I die!"

Later the premier designate announced that the duke of Alba, one of the foremost nobles of Spain, has accepted the portfolio of public education. The selection is likely to be popular. In 1925 the duke divided his estates among 400 tenants in order to set a democratic example.

Madrid newspapers, freed of censorship after more than six years, found so much to say regarding the cabinet crisis that their regular editions were not sufficient. Extra editions at midnight handled the overflow of copy.

TAX STATEMENTS SOON TO BE SENT

Statements will be mailed out to taxpayers within a short time for the 1929 tax, the assessment rolls having been turned over to the tax collection department, where the work of writing the statements is now under way. The county this year is to collect $1,159,701.09 of which $181,347.85 is for state and county purposes, $192,332.82 special taxes and $106,020.57 municipal tax.

County Assessor Calkins has compiled a complete summary of taxes to be collected this year, showing the assessed valuation of each municipality and special taxing district together with the levies for all special taxes and the amounts to be raised in each. This tax summary is being printed today on page 6 of the News-Review.

AUTO SNAPS POLE, INJURES DRIVER

(Associated Press Local Wire)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 25.—With the death early today of Deputy Sheriff Lee Wright from gunshot wounds inflicted in a battle with W. Glenn Bagge, Mrs. Irene Schroeder and Joe F. Wells, two weeks ago, the county attorney's office moved quickly to issue first degree murder charges against the trio.

Mrs. Schroeder and Bagge are in jail at Newcombe, Pa., where they face charges of murdering State Highway Patrolman Brady Paul last December. Wells is held here in connection with the slaying of Wright. Joe Chapman, was kidnapped by the desperados and wounded in the fighting but he survived.

The woman and Bagge were returned to Pennsylvania last week.

MERCHANTS HEAR EXPERT ON PUBLICITY

Specialist on Advertising Points Out Values and Says Proper Use Is Without Cost.

Newspapers, Recognized as Chief Medium, Receive Over One-Half of Great Outlay.

Going back to the very beginning of civilization, Walter W. R. May, advertising manager of the Portland Oregonian, told of the development and progress of advertising in an address given before a group of Roseburg merchants last night at the Umpqua hotel. Every move a businessman makes, everything that he does, is really advertising because advertising is the creating of good will and the creation of a desire to trade or buy service at that place, Mr. May said.

Going briefly into the discussion of available advertising media, the speaker pointed out that of the total advertising expenditures in this country of about one and one-half billion of dollars, newspapers receive more than half with outdoor advertising and radio well down the list and with direct mail in second place. The expenditures for direct mail advertising are estimated to be about half the amount spent in newspapers.

Ultimate Cost Nil
"One fact I want to point out to you as merchants of Roseburg," said Mr. May, "is that advertising properly used does not cost a cent." He proceeded to show why this is true by pointing out that advertising carefully used increases business volume, which in most cases can be handled without additional overhead expense. By increasing the efficiency of distribution, advertising is actually a saver of consumer dollars, he said.

In his position as advertising manager for a great newspaper, Mr. May has access to figures and data of large advertising campaigns. He read a list of a number of nationally known advertisers and told of their small beginnings and gave the total of their present day expenditures. The case of the retail furniture dealers in Portland and their studies in conjunction with the school of business of the University of Oregon.

VENGEFUL YOUTH SLAYS MAN WHO KILLED FATHER

(Associated Press Local Wire)

TEMPLE, Okla., Jan. 25.—Having avenged the slaying of his father with a gesture reminiscent of old time mountain feuds, Jim Graham was in the cotton county jail at Walters, Okla., today, held without bond pending arraignment in connection with the killing of Harry Adair, convicted killer of young Graham's father.

The elder Graham was slain last April in a poolhall after he had ordered Adair to leave the place. Adair, who it was said, was intoxicated at the time, departed but returned soon afterwards and without warning killed Graham with a shotgun.

Convicted of manslaughter and sentenced to 40 years in the state penitentiary, Adair was at liberty on appeal bond.

Yesterday he was in a barber shop here, his face covered with a towel, when Jim Graham, the son, stalked into the shop.

Silently, the youth stood beside the chair until the towel was removed by the barber. Then, without a word, he pulled out a pistol, fired five times and strode from the room.

Adair died almost instantly.

Young Graham went from the barber shop to his car and drove to Walters, where he surrendered to O. C. Hopper, sheriff, who ordered him held without bond. He made no statement.

OFFICER DIES OF WOUNDS INFLICTED BY FUGITIVE TRIO

(Associated Press Local Wire)

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 25.—With the death early today of Deputy Sheriff Lee Wright from gunshot wounds inflicted in a battle with W. Glenn Bagge, Mrs. Irene Schroeder and Joe F. Wells, two weeks ago, the county attorney's office moved quickly to issue first degree murder charges against the trio.

Mrs. Schroeder and Bagge are in jail at Newcombe, Pa., where they face charges of murdering State Highway Patrolman Brady Paul last December. Wells is held here in connection with the slaying of Wright. Joe Chapman, was kidnapped by the desperados and wounded in the fighting but he survived.

EMMA CARDWELL DIES SUDDENLY AT HOME AT UMPQUA

(Associated Press Local Wire)

Mrs. Emma Cardwell, widow of the late W. W. Cardwell, for many years one of Roseburg's leading attorneys, died suddenly at her farm home near Umpqua this morning after a short illness. Mrs. Cardwell, whose maiden name was Emma Peterson, was born September 28, 1867, at Fort Bidwell, California, the daughter of pioneer parents. She was married to W. W. Cardwell August 22, 1888, in Cedarville, California, coming to this state to reside about 40 years ago. For the past 13 years she has made her home at Umpqua.

She is survived by one son, Murray L. Cardwell, and a daughter, Helen J. Cardwell, both of Umpqua. She also leaves the following sisters and brothers: Mrs. H. P. Brown, Berkeley, California; Mrs. Leon Sargent, Los Angeles; Mrs. Peterson and E. G. Peterson, Fort Bidwell, and C. Peterson, Ontario, Canada.

Mrs. Cardwell was a member of the Episcopal church, and funeral arrangements will not be made until word is received from relatives.

The body has been removed to the Douglas Funeral Home.

COMMITTEES ON ROSEBURG CIVIC PROJECTS NAMED

The work of the chamber of commerce during the coming year is to be carried on largely through committees, each having a special task to perform. Maurice Newland, the new president, is endeavoring to put the activities on a systematic basis, where the community projects will be given consistent attention, leaving the directors free to undertake such major and emergency matters as may arise.

Several standing committees have already been announced, and special committee appointments were completed today.

The chamber of commerce is greatly interested in agricultural development and expansion, and all matters connected with it will be supervised by an agricultural committee composed of O. C. Brown, chairman; Homer Gove, J. C. Leedy, John Farrington, Dave Busenbark and Fred Goff.

A committee composed of Dr. George E. Houck, chairman; R. R. Shoemaker, H. W. Haynes, Clay North and Ben Ivler will take the matter of garbage disposal, working with the city council in an effort to secure elimination of the present troublesome dump ground.

An aviation committee composed of Wm. Gerretsen, chairman, Leon McClintock and H. C. Church will endeavor to aid in the improvement of local facilities for air traffic.

The chamber of commerce is particularly anxious that the government census to be made this year shall be accurate. The census in 1920, it is declared, was very incomplete, and Roseburg's population was far underestimated. A committee composed of Glen Wimberly, chairman, Morrill Ritter and Charles Wharton has been named to work with the enumerators and to check the work done in this city to see that no names are omitted.

A committee on civic affairs has been appointed, consisting of S. G. Goff, chairman; Charles Heintze, E. F. Malden, Charles Grand, W. F. Harris and Walter Fisher.

The committee on transportation and industrial affairs is composed of J. E. McClintock, chairman; Frank J. Norton, W. H. Gerretsen, Claude Manning, Wesley Williams, A. G. Sutherland and Al Balford. It is also planned to start a junior chamber of commerce this year, and organization work is in charge of Foster Rutner, chairman; E. A. Britton, E. Unrath, James Soules and Willard Johnson.

PROBLEM DEVELOPS OVER GOVERNORSHIP

(Associated Press Local Wire)

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 25.—Miss Beatrice Walton, secretary to Governor Norblad, has asked Attorney General Van Winkle for an opinion on the question whether there will be a short term to fill in the office of governor at the November election. In Portland the question has been raised whether it will be necessary to elect a governor to serve from November 4, the date of the election, to January 12, the date on which the governor elected for the four-year term will take office.

The question arises because of the possibility of the constitutional provision applying to the tenure of office of Governor Norblad as successor to the late Governor Patterson.

KILLS WIFE THEN WOUNDS HIMSELF

(Associated Press Local Wire)

WICHITA, Kans., Jan. 25.—While three of their six children looked on, Arthur T. Cartwright, 45, wealthy farmer living near Oatville, ten miles south of here, today shot and killed his wife, Eva, 41. Then he critically wounded himself.

Medical troubles were blamed by friends for the tragedy.

BOOTLEGGERS ROUGHLY USE DRY OFFICERS

One Kidnapped and Badly Beaten in Auto, Other Slugged and Left in the Street.

Attack Occurs in Seattle as Sequel to Deal for Liquor; Woman Aids the Gangsters.

(Associated Press Local Wire)

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 25.—Kidnaped by a gang of bootlegger suspects whom he and another undercover prohibition agent had attempted to trap in a whiskey deal, D. Dunning, one of the agents, was "taken for a ride" and terribly beaten by the gang, three men and two women, shortly after midnight here today.

Dunning was taken to the city hospital by police, who found him wandering aimlessly about the streets in the south end of the city. He had previously stumbled into M. S. Jackson, a south end resident, whom he requested to notify the police. While Jackson was telephoning headquarters, Dunning wandered away, to be found by a prowler car detail later.

Pistol Fails Him
Dunning said that one of the women in the car struggled him, while the other occupants took turns in beating him. He said that he snatched his pistol at them several times, but in each instance the cartridge failed to explode. He said that he was thrown out of the machine at Ruwamish, on the highway leading to Tacoma, when the car stalled temporarily. One eye, at first reported gouged out, was said not to be as seriously injured as at first believed.

Staged Fake Deal
The other agent, R. Glin, said that he and Dunning arranged to meet the suspects in the university district to complete the supposed whiskey deal. Glin reported that after the deal was completed Dunning got into the car. Glin said he was standing on the running board and snapped his handcuffs onto the wrist of one of the men. The men swung at him with his free hand, knocking him to the street, he said. His assailant then leaped out of the machine, a large black southerner and after kicking him several times as he lay on the street, jumped into the machine, which immediately got underway.

As the car sped away, Glin said he heard one of the men tell Dunning, "We are taking you for a ride."

Glin reported the affair to his chief, William M. Whitney, assistant prohibition director, and police officers throughout the north-west were notified at once to be on the lookout for the car and its occupants.
