

MARKET DOESN'T JUSTIFY INCREASE IN GRAPE GROWING

(Editor's Note—Following is the sixth of a series of seven reports being printed in the News-Review, dealing with the outlook for fruit crops in Douglas county and containing recommendations for activities on part of the growers. These reports were submitted at the meeting of county fruit growers held at Sutherlin February 14.)

The information we get from a survey of the grape situation in the United States given out by the U. S. department of agriculture is that there are about enough vines now planted and growing to supply the market. The condition of the grape growing industry in the United States however is of little importance to us in Douglas county as there are very few vineyards of commercial size and importance here.

A few grape growers in this county ship some grapes to nearby cities but the greater part of the grapes grown in this vicinity are sold in the local markets for home consumption.

For grape juice in variety is better than the Concord, but several other varieties more or less related to the Concord are about as good, such as: Worden, Moore's Early, Isabella, Lomanto, etc. These grapes are also well suited for jelly.

Among the table grapes the Tokay has a great reputation on account of the large size of the bunches and berries, the attractive color and good shipping qualities. But the popularity of the Tokay has been gained elsewhere, for in this county it is not sufficiently warm in summer to mature this grape always.

Of European table grape varieties Muscat, Hamburg and Black Monukka are very satisfactory for this locality. Both ripen early enough to be safe here and are of very good quality. The former has an agreeable Muscat flavor and the latter is seedless and makes a good eating.

"Whatever it takes to win the $1,000 prize, the Roseburg band has, so you might as well bet up that check and make it payable to us right now," Horace Berg, manager of the band told George Mitchell, promotion manager for Jantzen Beach, who was here yesterday.

The band contest, Mr. Mitchell says, is being sponsored by the management of Jantzen Beach and the Shorman Clay company of Portland and will be the most pretentious musical event ever held in the northwest.

Forty-two bands from all parts of Oregon, Idaho and Washington will take part in this gigantic contest and will compete for prizes aggregating $5,000 in cash and trophies. There will be divisions for professional, semi-professional and amateur bands.

The Roseburg chamber of commerce is cooperating with the band in this activity and is pledging assistance to transport the musicians to Portland and provide for them while attending the contest.

AMERICAN JOCKEY ONLY PERMANENT SOVIET RESIDENT

(Associated Press Local Wire) MOSCOW, Feb. 21.—Throughout the Soviet union, which is three times the size of the United States, the only permanent American resident is Samuel W. Caton of Cleveland, Ohio.

But Caton has even greater distinction than this, for he is also the greatest jockey in Russia. On the famous Moscow race track, he is the star of the days when racing was the sport of czars and khans.

American tourists to Russia saw Caton win his sixth derby and his one hundredth victory of the season.

Even the greatest Russian harness race drivers acknowledge Caton to be the greatest jockey of his day in the Soviet union.

Caton's winnings in Russian racing are considerably less than they would be on American tracks. But the popular American driver was born in Russia and has a deep attachment to the Russian people and the country.

He therefore prefers to race in Russia, where for forty years his father, Frank W. Caton, who died only three years ago, was the czar's trainer of harness.

The son, with his brother William, who is well known on American trotting race circuits, was raised in the atmosphere of horses and court sporting activities.

Moreover, Caton is married to a Russian girl, the daughter of Count Alexander Zoff, former president of the St. Petersburg racing club.

It was Caton's father who brought the first American race horses to Russia. That was half a century ago. Today, most of the horses of the Russian turf are half American and half Russian.

(Associated Press Local Wire) PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 21.—J. R. Moore, master agent for the Pacific Steamship company, announced today that the international steamship Admiral Benson, stranded on Peacock spit, off the mouth of the Columbia river, Saturday night in a dense fog, will be turned over to insurance underwriters tomorrow.

Moore said Captain Charles Graham, commander of the Admiral Benson, who remained aboard the craft after more than 100 passengers and crew had been removed safely by boats and breeches buoy, probably would be notified today to abandon the ship.

Captain Graham remained aboard this morning.

Standing reward of $25 was posted today by Joe Lodigan, messenger on the stranded steamer, for the return of the ship's parrot mascot, Loretta, stolen from Lodigan, who was retained a berth on the Admiral Schley when he arrived here from Peacock spit where the Benson grounded.

Lodigan, who carried Loretta to the shore from the stranded vessel in a breeches buoy, took the parrot aboard the Admiral Schley with him. The bird was stolen during the night.

Authorities said they believed the theft was made by a curiosity seeker.

Enjoys Best Health In 25 Years

DAVID S. DEEKMAN

"At the age of 73 I am still active in business and I attribute my entire present good health, energy and vitality to the benefits I derived from Sargon. I sincerely believe this wonderful medicine has added years to my life.

"For five years my health had been falling steadily. My nerves were all to pieces and I hardly knew what a sound night's sleep meant.

"Since taking the Sargon treatment I feel as well and strong as I was 25 years ago. I have a fine appetite, sleep good, and constipation, biliousness and dizzy spells are all things of the past."—David S. Deekman, 525 Kearney St., San Francisco, Calif.

Sargon's aim is not mere temporary relief, but new and abundant health. Don't experiment—profit by the experience of others.

LAND PURCHASED NEAR ELGAROSE

Fritz Sjogren, of Melrose, has purchased an undeveloped tract of land near Elgarose, in the large subdivision recently opened up in that community, and is preparing to establish a desirable farm home.

A large number of young men of the vicinity have purchased land in this tract and are rapidly building up profitable farms, as the soil is excellent and transportation facilities are good.

Mr. Sjogren plans to put the entire tract into cultivation and will make such developments as may be justified. The sale was handled by G. W. Young and Son, local realtors.
