

Roseburg News-Review

Issued Daily Except Sunday by The News-Review Co., Inc.

Member of The Associated Press.
This Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and to all local news published herein. All rights of republication of special dispatches herein are also reserved.

HARRIS ELLSWORTH, Editor

Entered as second class matter May 17, 1923, at the post office at Roseburg, Oregon, under Act of March 2, 1879.

SUBSCRIPTION RATES

Daily, per year, by mail, $4.00
Daily, single month, by mail, .50
Daily, by carrier, per month, .50

ROSEBURG, OREGON, WEDNESDAY, MAR. 5, 1930

GO TO BOTH

FOLKS who are talking basketball and urging support Friday night for the championship game, and others who are sponsoring the annual style show, scheduled for the same evening meet with this question:

"But how can we support two important community events on the same evening?"

The answer to that question is simple. The basketball game will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock and will be ended well before nine thus giving everyone ample time to get to the theatre in time to see the style show and see the second running of the feature picture. The fashion show will be put on immediately following the running of the feature picture the first time.

Both of these events are real headliners. The Roseburg high school basketball team meets North Bend in a game which will decide the championship of southwestern Oregon. If Roseburg wins this game it has the championship. Both teams have been defeated once.

The fashion show is an annual event. It is sponsored by the Auxiliary of the American Legion and has been an annual event for years. The fashion show is an important adjunct to the merchandising of spring clothing and is regarded highly by the retail merchants. It comes but once a year and is interesting, entertaining and worth while in every way. Rumor has it that there is an extra and unusual attraction planned but exactly what it is, no one will say.

Set Friday night aside as one of the big nights of the year and plan to go to both the style show at the Antlers and the basketball game.

Dark Days at London

FRANCE went into the London conference declaring that she would be satisfied with a naval tonnage as low as that of any other European continental power. The President of the United States and the premier of Great Britain had declared previously that they sought parity in terms of naval reduction. It seemed like a fair outlook. But it is the nettled contention and policy of Great Britain that she must have a cruiser tonnage twice as great as that of any continental power. France contends for a cruiser tonnage for herself that is as high as to make reduction by Great Britain incompatible with her own policy above stated. That in turn calls for a large increase instead of a decrease in American cruiser tonnage. Thus may be summed up the reasons for the impasse that now exists at the London conference.

France contends that she cannot lower her own cruiser demands nor consent to abolition of the submarine arms, and until nations shall join in some plan to make the Kellogg pact enforceable. The aloofness of the United States from the league of nations and the world court is the chief stumbling block to this. France regards the Kellogg pact as a sort of gentlemen's agreement likely to fail in the first emergency unless it is fortified.

In the absence of our participation in general European negotiations she demands a treaty of protection for France from this nation and Great Britain.

The present days are dark days at London. If there is failure there as there was failure at the last conference on limitation of naval armaments there will not be agreement as to where responsibility rests. It here and in Great Britain fingers point to France, continental fingers will point to the United States. We shall not escape our share of that responsibility any more than we shall escape a tremendously increased burden of taxation for naval expenditures. It is a situation that challenges the best American thought.

Roseburg buyers of a lot of good things, and among them is home made candy, and the generous supply particularly noticed at this time was made at the Palace of Sweets, and from the editor down to the stenographer unstinted praise was given for the excellence of the product—and this touch is a judge of good candy, too.

DE SOTO AGENCY IS ESTABLISHED HERE

The Roseburg distributor for De Soto straight eight and sixes is L. E. Roberts, well known automobile salesman, who has his display rooms at the Roseburg garage on Rose street. Mr. Roberts has only recently taken over this line of the Chrysler products, and is preparing for quite an extensive advertising campaign. Hereafter this car has had no rival in established distributor in Roseburg, and it has been sold in this business going to other localities. Since Mr. Roberts has taken up this work here he has placed some of the cars with local owners. The advertising campaign that Mr. Roberts contemplates for his DeSoto line of straight eight and sixes will bring the car to the attention of many people who, while they have vague knowledge of its merits, really know but little of its outstanding accomplishments in the automobile field.

TOURIST MOTORIST PAYS FINE OF $10

East Grant, a tourist from Idaho, was arrested as a motorist by Deputy Sheriff M. E. Jetter, charged with driving his automobile past a car on a blind curve. Grant entered a plea of guilty when arraigned before Justice of the Peace C. F. Hopkins, and paid a fine of $10.

ROSEBURG MAIDS IN FEATURE DANCING

OREGON STATE COLLEGE, Corvallis, March 5.—Three Roseburg students were chosen to represent the dancing class at Oregon State college which recently featured the dance drama, "The Life of Dances." They are Pauline Huber, Marian Hagar and Jessie Gibbs. The dance shows the type of work being done by the dancing classes on the campus and gives a chronological perspective of the evolution of dancing and its development and progress throughout civilization.

All three students besides being prominent in campus and women's activities are prominent in various living groups on the campus. Miss Huber is a member of Alpha Chi Omega, Miss Gibbs is a member of Delta Zeta, national social sororities and Miss Hagar is a member of Beta Hall, one of the outstanding women's halls on the campus.

LEAVES $25,000 TO WIDOW OF CARUSO

PITTSBURGH, March 4.—The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, in a copyrighted story today, said the late Ambassador Alexander P. Moore willed $25,000 to Mrs. Enrico Caruso, widow of the noted Italian tenor, in addition to a bequest of $100,000 to the queen of Spain.

NEW YORK, March 4.—Mrs. Enrico Caruso today declined to comment upon a dispatch from Pittsburgh that she is named a beneficiary in the will of the late Ambassador Alexander P. Moore.

STEEL CONCERNS IN 350 MILLION MERGER

CLEVELAND, March 4.—Dozens of stockholders in the Republic Steel Corporation were announced today by the special committee handling details of the merger. The committee said it expected boards of directors of the constituent companies to meet within ten days and stockholders to meet shortly afterward to give final approval to the project.

BRINGING UP FATHER

By Geo. McManus

Maybe I'm Wrong

By J. P. MEDBURY

THE wages of sin have gone up. Lately boys who used to be good for a hour are now demanding a quarter.

Take It Or Leave It—The Boston police arrested a man the other day for robbing a bank on Sunday.

Safety First—A coward is a man who meets his enemy prone to poison.

Excuse It Please—Marriage is a pain in the neck and divorce is the opiate.

Age of Cads—The fellow who went for a veterinary surgeon when his wife was kicked by a horse.

You're Wrong—Happy lips don't come from the Easter bunny.

Necessary Evil—Chewing gum was invented so that a married man would have some way of exercising his jaws.

You Said—A secret is something that one woman gets tired of and four other women to keep her keep.

Momentous Moments—When a sailor gets water on the knee from proposing in row boats.

Our Own Vaudeville—Referee: Luther Barkau was a great man. Umpire: Yes, but it's too bad he didn't discover some way to make roses out of razzerberries.

Copyright, 1930, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

Talks on Health

By DR. R. S. COPELAND

OUTDOOR life is good for everyone, man, woman and child. It is vital to the infant.

Sometimes I think the most wonderful babies in the world are in New York City and in other great cities. You see them everywhere, in the parks, in the street, in their carriages, going out doors.

As a matter of fact, you can have just as much fresh air in the city as in the country. And, without fresh air, we are likely to be pretty poor specimens of humanity.

No one can estimate all the beneficial results of sleeping out doors. Of course, not everyone can do this, but it is possible for every person to sleep with windows open in summer and winter. Plenty of coverings to keep you warm is all that is needed.

Those of you who have slept out under the stars at night, in the woods, beside a tumbling stream, or on a mountain top, remembering the wonderful sense of well-being and buoyancy upon getting up with the birds in the morning. You feel like chopping wood, or walking with seven-league boots, to the ends of the earth. There isn't anything like it.

We who live in this modern world lack much of the stamina and vital character which characterize our forefathers. Why is it? We are developing into a bottomless race. We live in too warm houses and ride in overheated cars much of the time. We do not exercise enough—do not properly build up our resistance to cold.

Adults should start early in the fall to train the skin to resist the cold by taking the baby out in the cold in the winter months. Hot baths, followed by a cool shower, or cool baths taken in a warm room, promote better circulation in the skin. This helps to harden it to the cold.

Mothers should take great care in the cold months in putting an infant outdoors to sleep, to see that the baby is kept warm. There are no limits, within reason, of course, to the coldness of air an infant may breathe without harm, if the body is kept warm.

Editorials on News

(Continued from page 1)

Business takes a terrible toll in this country.

HERE in Oregon, we made a better record last year. In 1929, 5,021 persons were injured and 203 killed in automobile accidents in Oregon. In 1929, only 4,711 persons were injured and only 189 killed in automobile accidents in Oregon.

This in spite of the fact that in 1929 only 316,675 automobiles were operating on the highways while in 1929 the number of automobiles operating on the highways—including out of the state cars, of course—was 378,074.

BUT, even here in Oregon, we mustn't brag too much on ourselves. In 1924, with 271,965 cars operating on the highways, only 66 persons were killed in automobile accidents. In 1929, with 378,074 cars on the roads, 189 persons were killed in accidents.

With the number of cars on the roads increased by only one-half, the number of deaths was tripled.

DR. KNIGHT DUNLAP, psychologist at Johns Hopkins university, says that bad automobile accidents are caused chiefly by people who BECOME RATTLED EASILY. This conclusion is based upon tests which he conducted recently at Ohio State university for the National Research council.

He tested his subjects at the wheel of a dummy automobile equipped with accurate recording devices and then subjected them to sudden emergencies. Those whose mental reactions were slow and whose coordination of eye, hand and foot was bad showed an extremely strong tendency when faced by these artificially created emergencies to do things that in actual traffic would have been pretty certain to result in a bad accident.

HERE is the lesson which YOU may draw for yourself from these experiments:

If your mind reacts slowly in an emergency, and your feet and hands don't do instantly and instinctively to your brakes and your clutch and your gears and your wheel the things that MUST be done accurately and instantly if an accident is to be avoided, you should drive VERY SLOWLY AND CAREFULLY at all times, thus avoiding sudden emergencies as much as possible.

Keeping that in mind may save your life and the lives of others.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 25

Business property kept in repair may be the subject of a depreciation allowance. The allowance for depreciation is intended to cover the estimated lessening in value of the original property, due to wear and tear, decay, etc., which in time will require the abandonment or replacement of the property. In case of ordinary current repairs, the cost of incidental repairs, which neither materially add to the value of the property nor appreciably prolong its life, may be deducted as a business expense, provided the plant or property account is not increased by the amount of such expenditures.

If, however, the repairs are of such a kind as to make good the depreciation, for example, a new floor or a new roof, the cost is not deductible. The amount expended by a taxpayer during the taxable year for improvements, replacements, or renewals of a permanent nature is a capital expenditure, and may not be deducted from the gross income for such taxable year. The amount so expended should be charged directly to the property account or to a depreciation reserve account, according to how depreciation is treated in the taxpayer's books of account. A pro rata portion thereof may be deducted as depreciation each year of the life of such improvement.

Eat barbecue sandwiches and live forever. Brand's Road Stand.

Lenten Devotions

By REV. PERRY SMITH

St. George's Episcopal Church

Help me, O Lord,
To live as I ought to live,
Forgive as I should forgive,
To try as I ought to try,
To die as I ought to die,
Help me, O Lord,
—Anon.

From a very early period of Christianity Lent has been kept by the church. A long time observers of this must have much good in it to commend itself to devout Christians through so many ages. The world smiles indulgently at the church begins Lent. The too common theory is that real life consists in entering every experience without restraint. To what you wish to do. Enjoy yourself. To live otherwise is unreasonable. A theory of this sort has broken down many a person at the critical moment. The learning of self-mastery during Lent is a good discipline for most of us, despite the sneers often heard about this season of the church year.

Richly understood, Lent is a time to say "Yes." "No" is just to clear away hindrance to right living. Such "yesses" as these ought to be ours—this Lent I will be more charitable in my comments on others. I will dwell in thought and speech on their good qualities. I will be kinder in my home and more just in my business relations. I will learn more about my church and will be more often at religious services for this purpose. I will give more time to my family. I will call on the sick and sorrowful. I will try to make my whole life more nearly as I should be. Habits of this kind projected into our living is what Lent can do for us.

Advice to Girls

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a boy or eighteen. I am going with a girl I love. She is at a different church. My mother doesn't want me to go with her but I am going with her now and have been for four months steadily. I don't want to quit her. I love her too much.

Please tell me what I should do.

W. G. S.: This is something that you must fight out for yourself. Although tradition frowns upon the wisdom of marriage where there is a difference of religious belief, it would be folly to say that such marriages do not often turn out very successfully. Very often the man or woman adopts the religious belief of the other, and the matter is amicably settled. And as your life is your own to make or mar, you must be guided by your own mind in this important matter.

TENOR ENTERTAINS LOCAL CIVIC BODIES

The Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions clubs met last night in a joint meeting at the Umpqua hotel at 6:30 o'clock at the invitation of the Kiwanians. The invitation was issued in order to give the members of all service clubs an opportunity to hear Signor Mario Cappelli, celebrated Italian-American tenor, member of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company, who was present through the courtesy of Dr. C. A. Edwards, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church and a member of the Kiwanis.

Signor Cappelli was in Roseburg for the Methodist Brotherhood conference, and sang three numbers before the service clubs at two joint meetings last night, besides singing at the mass meeting at the church in the evening.

His marvelous voice, together with his simple and tuneful selections, greatly delighted the men gathered at the hotel to hear him, and his pleasing personality and obvious devotion to religious work commanded immediate attention and respect.

Following Signor Cappelli's program, the service clubs listened to a very inspirational address by Dr. Alexander Bennett, pastor of the First Methodist church of Medford.

Remember this... in making pie-crust add the water...

A LITTLE AT A TIME

REMEMBER, too—Hills Bros. Coffee has a flavor no other coffee has because it is roasted by a continuous process a few pounds at a time. Never in bulk! The flavor is controlled by this process—Controlled Roasting.

Fresh from the original vacuum pack. Easily opened with the key.

HILLS BROS COFFEE

COMING!

Another Carload of JOHN DEERE TRACTORS

Order now and save money. Cheapest, simplest, strongest, most powerful tractor on the market for the price.

That is tall talk but the Model D makes good.

$1235.00

Farm Bureau Cooperative Exchange

Roseburg Myrtle Creek Oakland
L. & H. Electric Ranges John Deere Plow Co.
Hood River Spray Co. Hoosier and Milwaukee Pumps
Sutherland Spray Co.

New Location

POWELL

Furniture and Hardware

245 North Jackson

IN KURDY BUILDING

Your address on coupon

will bring Swift & Company's 1930 YEARBOOK

Free

Swift & Company has just published its 1930 Year Book. It is a significant review of the operations of this Company during 1929.

There are fifty-one pages of absorbing interest, including the President's Address to the shareholders...

Treasurer's Report... the discussion of the livestock situation...

the nation's food habits today... new developments of Swift & Company in marketing packaged goods...

an interesting chapter on sausage, from which you learn that this Company makes more than 150 different kinds of this popular food...

a fascinating account of the packing industry's contribution to medicine and surgery in the handling of curative gland products...

a chapter on fertilizing and its revolutionary effect on the country's soil yield...

the Story of Glue. Swift & Company will gladly send you this Year Book. It has a host of important facts and interesting information for every alert man and woman. Just fill out the coupon.

Swift & Company

Swift & Company, 4032 Packers Avenue, Chicago, Illinois

Please mail me free a copy of Swift & Company's 1930 Year Book

Name _____

Address _____

City _____

State _____

Zip _____

Balance Sheet

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company

Swift & Company