Not This Year

FROM Portland there comes report that lumbermen, dissatisfied with the failure of the Oregon delegation in congress to obtain a lumber tariff, consider bringing out a candidate for senator to run against Senator McNary. "The only matter which appears uncertain," says the dispatch, "is the finding of a suitable candidate." If by "uncertain" is meant the matter of finding a candidate who may be expected with any confidence to oppose Mr. McNary successfully in the primary the promoters may as well resolve their uncertainty now as later. They cannot find such a candidate this year. It is not in the cards.

Disappointment of the lumbermen at the failure of Oregon's delegation to hold their own in behalf of lumber in the general "honorarding" process whereby the tariff bill is being built is wholly natural. In view of the liberality of the tariff makers in giving added protection to industries not in need, the refusal to give it to the suffering lumber industry is inexorable.
 And it is not unnatural that the wrath of the disappointed seeks a mark. But the record shows that Senator McNary has both spoken and voted for a lumber tariff. He has not been so active about it as Senator Steiwer has but it cannot be said with truth that he has stood aside.

However well it may be argued that because of the strong national position Senator McNary has attained in the senate he ought to be able to do something for the principal industry of his own state, the fact remains that no citizen of Oregon is available for the purpose of this year who might be expected to give him much more than nominal opposition for the republican nomination. So the Portland group, if they proceed with their enterprise, are almost certain to break their lance upon a rocky wall.

The Pacific Coast Crusade

COMES now the plan evolved by energetic Oregon and California citizens for an all-Pacific coast booster tour beginning with Vancouver, B. C., and ending at the southern California line. It is stoutly maintained by the organizers of the movement, and rightly so, that what we should do out here is make a united effort to attract tourists to the Pacific coast and then take our chances as separate regions for entering them to linger with us. This is the right idea and each of the many Pacific coast communities will profit by it in just about the proportion in which they enter into the project. In other words the big problem is to get people from the eastern and middle western states to tour out to the coast. When they arrive on the coast there will be lots to see and plenty of places to stay. The individual and personal contact that will be provided by this tour will make it possible for the communities taking part in the effort to send tourists from one point to the other, passing them around as it were, and so we all profit, for it is well known that the tourist crop is a mighty profitable one. We are all in it together, more or less, and we know that we spend plenty of money when we take a trip.

What we must do is see that Roseburg and the Umpqua valley have adequate representation in this great Pacific coast crusade so that we will have contacts with the other points of interest about the coast.

On Thin Ice

GREAT Britain's labor government under the leadership of Ramsay MacDonald is skating on thin ice, as was shown by the ad-versive vote on a feature of its imposed Tuesday. Another reverse on a similar question and we may look for a new government and an election. The chief interest of the situation to those of us in the United States is in the effect that such might have upon the London conference, which already seems to be in a bad way. From the British side that conference is representative of MacDonald, with Macdonald out of the picture, new ideas or advocates might be forthcoming from the British side.

It was a condition of liberals and conservatives that defeated the MacDonald government by assenting the labor party's coal bill, over that party's opposition. Lloyd George, for the liberals, had been leading the general opposition to the measure but it was from the conservatives that the particular amendment came on which the liberalists were outvoted. The bill, a somewhat socialistic measure designed to relieve the distress in the coal industry of the British isles, has been closely controverted from the first, passing through the committee stage and through its various readings by narrow margins. If it is finally adopted the labor government may then be said to have passed its trial by fire.

Oregon Editors' Opinions

(Oregon Journal)
 IT IS refreshing to see Portland's mayor approach the conditions created by unemployment on a different plane from that used by other mayors.

It has been the habit in numerous instances of mayors to describe the unemployed as "Reds," to talk of defending their cities against the menace of "Communism," and to order police to disperse crowds who were seeking employment. They have, in effect, charged nearly every man who is out of a job with being a Bolshevic and a menace to America, though all most of the men have done is to ask for work, in order that they might live honestly. In several instances police brutality has been invoked against the unemployed.

Mayor Baker, instead of declaring war on the "Reds," has met with Portland employers and business men in an effort to find means of providing more work. He is seeking to get jobs for the jobless. He is trying to relieve a serious situation by providing work instead of calling out police reserves.

The mayor's plans may or may not provide the necessary jobs, but he is at least meeting a situation by attempting to remove its cause rather than by rattling the sabre and shouting "Reds!" from the housetops at men who ask for housing but a chance to earn a living.

Enemies No Longer
 (Grant's Pass Courier)
 The Pacific highway organizations which once thought they saw an enemy in the lusty Redwood Empire association when it had doubled its traffic in a year's time and secured a third the total traffic of the inland route, now find themselves gladly joining with the coast group in promoting the All-Pacific Coast Crusade.

The vision that has hurled the barrier of competing interests and conceived a plan grand enough to deserve the support of groups on either coast has and is making itself felt in the Redwood Empire association.

Clyde Edmondson, general manager, has brought the project into being, and here is what he hopes to achieve by it:
 To crystallize the "See the Pacific Coast" movement.

To give those making the trip an intimate, first-hand acquaintance with highway routings, scenic attractions, accommodations, communities and people throughout the entire Pacific coast.

To increase the volume of traffic on the coast; to increase the interchange of travel between sections and states throughout the coast; to eliminate inter-sectional jealousies and friction; to wipe out destructive competition for travel; to erase political boundaries and state lines; and to improve service to the traveling public.

The scope and feeling of the plan is too much to envision at once.
 A few months, and we all will have risen to its level.
 That's leadership.

Criticisms and Officials
 (Astoria Astorian)
 The Ohio judge who sentenced two editors to jail for "contempt," when they criticized his findings in a certain case has been properly rebuked by the state supreme court. When our public officials get above decent and reasonable criticism, surely presented, we are well on our way to tyranny.

Wifely Self Restraint
 (Weaver Leader)
 Unusual forbearance is indicated in the suit for divorce brought by a Chicago woman because her husband often threatened to shoot himself and then do so. An impec-cious wife would have shot him herself.

The Gasoline Misunderstanding
 (Boyd Bulletin)
 Another gas price war is on in Portland. And wars, our best-informed patrons inform us, are the result of misunderstanding. In Portland the misunderstanding seems to be as to the margin required in conducting a profitable business.

Signs of Spring
 (Medford Mail-Tribune)
 The bull census season has started in the Willamette valley, and farmers are running for the fences.
 This is an infallible sign of spring.

All Set to Go
 (The Dallas Chronicle)
 Rev. Payne, of the Salem Baptist church, has resigned and is to be succeeded by an ex-minister. The church has a good start on the necessary publicity.

OIL FISSURE IN SEA THOUGHT OPEN
 (Associated Press London Wire) WRECKAGE, Ore., March 12.—A substance which is believed to be crude oil was found about the beaches of Manzanita and Naselle while fishing and lead pioneer researchers to believe that an oil fissure in the sea had opened.

Talks on Health

By DR. R. S. COPELAND

WATER is about the most important of all the substances found in the body. It is indispensable to health and life cannot be sustained without it.

We take too much as a matter of course the many blessings bestowed upon us. For instance, how little we realize the immense importance to us of the fountain and pure water supplies brought to the doors of great communities for our benefit.

cold, water is one of the most beneficial habits one can have.
 Water is the basis of all the fluids of the body, as well as being an element in all the solid tissues. Perspiration, urine, the blood, milk and the gastric juices of digestion are composed almost entirely of water. As I have said, much water is thrown off by the skin and the kidneys. The free drinking of water washes away the waste products and the so-matter of the body. It is quite probable that drinking much water prevents the formation of kidney stones.

If we want to live healthy, happy lives, we must partake of Nature's foods and drink. We must refresh the body with water lost through the function of elimination. It is much better to drink through meals than to eat and drink much at the same meal.
 There is needed proper mastication of the food, and drinking too much water interferes with this process.

Answers to Health Queries H. G. J. Q.—I am twenty-nine years old, five feet five inches tall. What should I weigh?
 A.—How can I gain weight?

A.—You should weigh about 125 pounds.
 2.—Add to your diet plenty of good nourishing food, including milk, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables. Drink water between meals.
 Avoid constipation. Take cod liver oil after meals as a general tonic.

A. S. E. Q.—What will make freckles disappear?
 A.—In order to make freckles less noticeable, you may try applying equal parts of lemon juice and peroxide of hydrogen both night and morning.

A. B. C. Q.—What do you advise for liver?
 A.—This may be due to some food poisoning, constipation or a nervous condition.

M. M. F. Q.—Will a blood test prove the parentage of child?
 A.—There is no way by which the parentage of a child can be definitely determined.

Advice to Girls

By ANNE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: I always read your column "Advice to Girls," and find it very interesting.

I am seriously in love with a boy nineteen and I am only sixteen. He asked me to marry him.
 He told me if I would he would be the happiest man in the world.
 He has asked his folks and they are willing. My folks did not say I could or couldn't get married. I am in high school. Now do you think I should quit school for him?

I do not intend to use my education as office girl or anything like that. If I go on to school.

RED HEAD: It would be best for you to finish your education. Although you say that you do not intend to have a career, you do not know when circumstances may compel you to get out and keep yourself or contribute to the upkeep of your home and family. This has happened countless times to girls who came from wealthy homes and made wonderful matches. No one can predict the future, and so, I repeat, take up stenography or something that will furnish the basis of a career, before you get married.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE: There is a certain young man whom I see most every day. When he passes me he smiles. Annie Laurie, I would like to get acquainted. Please tell me how to do this without causing any embarrassment.

WISHING AND WAITING: Does it not occur to you, that if the young man is anxious to propose beyond this just passing and smiling stage, that he will endeavor to find a way to make your acquaintance in a more conventional way? Although this is an age of freedom for women, we have not yet reached the stage of taking the initiative in meeting a man.

Editorials on News

such as ours.

EVERY 17 minutes during 1929, somebody was killed in this country in an automobile accident.
 In 1919, automobile accidents accounted for only 15 per cent of all accidental deaths in the United States. In 1929, ten years later, automobile accidents accounted for THIRTY-TWO per cent of all accidental deaths. That is to say, one accidental death out of each three last year was caused by automobiles.

THE outstanding cause of automobile accidents is CARELESS-NESS, in some form or other. The price that is paid for carelessness is getting to be something terrific.

BON CALLAHAN recovered from the inside of an old clock the other day an auction sale bill bearing the date of February 2, 1930.
 Here is the property that was advertised for sale by this ancient poster:

"A prime and orderly gang of bona cotton field negroes will be sold at public auction in Charleston, at the mart in Chalmers street. This gang of negroes, who are said to be remarkably prime, will be sold as per catalogue."

THERE follows then the catalogue listings, which include "Charles, aged one year," for whom it is specified that a price of at least $125 must be realized.

Take a look at your year-old child, if you have one. Then remember that only 70 years ago, in this supposedly enlightened country, human babies were being offered for sale in the public markets like calves or pigs.

VALUE in those days, it is evident, went up with years, until a certain point was reached.
 "Abram," for example, "aged two," was offered for $275, and the price of "Isaiah, aged 8," was set at $720. Louisa, also aged 8, was put in at a minimum price of $750.
 She must have had some extra good points to be worth that additional $20.

Mathias, aged 18, supposedly in his prime for cotton picking purposes, was listed at a minimum price of $1220, while Ellick, also aged 18, was adjudged to be worth a minimum of only $1160. Ellick must have been slightly lazy.

HERE is something for the feminists: The highest minimum price in the lot was demanded for "Hagar, aged 20," who was judged to be worth not less than $1320. There was no prejudice against women workers in those days, you see.

Nor is installment buying a wholly modern institution, for it is specified that the terms are "one-third down, balance one and two years, secured by bond and mortgage on the negroes."

REMEMBER that these were human beings, put up for sale on the auction block. And remember that prior to 1860 this was a common occurrence, right here in the United States of America, the land of the free.

Remembering that, you will be prepared to deal adequately with the next person who tries to tell you that the world is getting WORSE INSTEAD OF BETTER.

YOUR INCOME TAX

NO. 33

Various penalties are imposed by the statute for failure to file a return and pay the tax on time, and for making a fraudulent return. Distinction is made between failure and "willful failure" to file a return. For failure to file a return on time, the penalty is 25 per cent of the amount of the tax, unless a return is later filed and it is satisfactorily shown to the commissioner of internal revenue that such failure was due to a reasonable cause and not to willful neglect. If a taxpayer exceeded ordinary business care and prudence, and nevertheless was unable to file a return within the prescribed time, the delay is due to a "reasonable cause."

For willful failure to make a return the penalty is not more than $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than one year, or both, and in addition 25 per cent of the amount of the tax. For willfully making a false or fraudulent return, the penalty is not more than $10,000, or imprisonment for not more than 5 years, or both, and in addition 50
 tax.

CARD OF THANKS
 I take this means of thanking all my friends and patrons of the old time dance at Macabee hall for making same the clean social success it has attained, and to say that the dance will continue under a new management until further notice.

Lenten Devotions

By REV. JOHN B. PENHALL
 Methodist Church, South

Be strong and of good courage.—Joshua 1:9.

The promise of good success is made only to the strong. Only the courageous can come to terms with life. Brave people can feel at home in the world, and rejoice in life, for this is a hero's world.
 It is not amiable or indulgent; it coddles no one. The timid and those that are afraid of struggle and wounds find life difficult. It is these who are the pessimists.
 The end of creation seems to be the making of great souls. The world is fitted to make souls of that sort. It is to the courageous heart that God promises His strength.

Therefore to have this strength, it is necessary to practice the presence of God, which involves the diligent cultivation of every spiritual grace. For one thing we must think of God. This is to say we must strive constantly to realize His presence, joyfully desiring Him near as the friend from whom we would never be separated in work, in prayer, in recreation, in repose; for He is that life and strength necessary to our personal success. It is wondrous truth revealed by John, that man dwells in God, and God in man.

Cultivate this habit of mind, this grace of intercourse with God, and by and by you will arrive at the blessed state of an unbroken and delightful consciousness of God's presence to you, His presence with you.

Joshua needed this courage in the leading of the Children of Israel. He is to go up against Jericho, whose people have shut themselves within the walls in fear against the five confederate kings. But courage is not only to march in the path of duty. It had nothing to do with revenging itself on old foes in Egypt, or in anticipating future enemies on the other side of the Euphrates.

Do we need this courage? Yes, just as much as the prophets needed it. We, too, need it in our every day life. Have courage in the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved; repent ye and have courage in the gospel. Let us pray for more courage to do God's will daily. Lord increase our courage.

Lent is the season of the year when the spiritual life of church members needs to be deepened and strengthened. "And whoever would be My disciple let him take up his cross and follow Me." It takes courage to take up your cross and follow Christ. The greatest men of the centuries, have done it. Will you do it? Take up your cross and follow Christ in this Lent season. The invitation is to whosoever will. That means you.

Jesus I my cross have taken,
 All to leave and follow Thee; Destitute, despise, forsaken, Thou from hence, my all shall be;
 Perish every fond ambition, All I've sought, and hoped, and known;
 Yet how rich is my condition,
 God and heaven are still my own.
