Farm Marketing

There is no more complicated situation in business today than the farm produce marketing problem. The man who produced it has, up to now, been left to his own devices to market his product. He has no organized plan of action, and he is at the mercy of the market.

Mr. Farnham suggests that it would be a good plan for producers and processors to get together and work out a mutual marketing arrangement. This arrangement would be a plan of action for the marketing of the product. The arrangement would be a plan of action for the marketing of the product.

How can any person keep thoughts on business on a beautiful spring day like this?

Oregon Editors' Opinions

No Such Animal

(Corvallis Gazette-Times)
 There is considerable discussion in the Corvallis Gazette-Times as to whether or not a workman is a "man" or a "boy." The discussion is a very interesting one, and it is one that is worth the attention of all who are interested in the rights of the workman.

Reply Owners Say

(Astoria Daily Journal)

Maybe I'm Wrong

By J. P. McElroy

It's a terrible thing when a woman has a total operation and not a word is said to her about it.

Pickle Females—The widow who says she doesn't want to be buried next to her husband because he was so loud.

You're Right—A brunette is a married man who wishes the same with a smile on his face.

Take It or Leave It—Youth must be served. It's only the older people who are in the market.

Social Accomplishments—Taking a course in trigonometry before moving to Chicago.

Advice to the Love-Worn—It isn't the first kiss you give the girl that counts. It's the last one.

Winter Complaints—Getting pneumonia from riding in open pit cars.

You're Wrong—Quiet wedding have nothing to do with peaceful marriages.

Our Own Vaudeville—Daughter: When I grow up I'm only going to get married once. Mother: Such talk, my dear! Have you no ambition?

BAND ENTERTAINS WITH FINE CONCERT

The Roseburg Municipal band last night played an exceptionally fine concert at the Junior High School auditorium.

on rule. Yet, all over the world, the people of those countries where living has not been made pleasant and happier and safer and freer by Anglo-Saxon rule are yearning and struggling to get to the countries where living has been made pleasant and happier and safer by Anglo-Saxon rule.

There is something significant about that fact.
