By FRANK JENKINS

WHY is it that California, Washington and Idaho produce, sell, ship and get the money for many times the volume of Oregon's production of fruits, vegetables, dairy and poultry products?

What's the matter with Oregon, anyway? Why can't we do what our neighbors on all sides are doing?

IF YOU follow this column, you read the other day the answer of William James to these questions. Mr. James says:

"Western Oregon agriculture is suffering chiefly from UNDER-PRODUCTION.

"We suffer from under-production because we haven't growers enough with NERVE ENOUGH to go ahead and produce quality stuff in carload and trainload quantities, so as to meet the requirements of the big markets.

"Our growers on the farms lack the nerve to go ahead on a big scale partly because they haven't the backing of the men with money who live in the towns."

SO MUCH for what is wrong with us. Now for a constructive suggestion as to what to do about it. The suggestion comes from George A. Dorris, whose experimental work in the development of important Oregon crops—private, personal experimental work, paid for out of his own pocket—has been worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to this state already and will be worth millions in the future.

MR. DORRIS said yesterday to this writer:

"I read what James says about under-production and the need to produce good stuff in carload and trainload quantities in order to get into the big markets, and I think it is the soundest statement of what we need to do I have ever seen in print.

"Now I'm going to tell you how we can get some of this big-scale production. RAISE ARTICHOKES. We can sell at least 300 carloads of them a year."

CALIFORNIA, Mr. Dorris adds, is the big artichoke state. From October to June, it grows and sells artichokes all over the country by the thousands of cars. But from June to October California is out of the market.

It is from JUNE TO OCTOBER that Oregon artichokes come on the market. Do you see what that means? It means that for eight months in the year California creates a market for artichokes and then steps out of the market at the very moment when Oregon's production is coming in.

"OF course," Mr. Dorris says, "you will be told that it CAN'T BE DONE. Just send anybody to me who tells you that Oregon can't grow artichokes.

"I've been growing them, in a small, experimental way, for nearly 15 years, and I've grown finer artichokes than ever went onto the market from the best sections of California.

"It CAN BE DONE, and I know it. But, just as James says, we've got to produce them in carload quantities if we're going to get into the markets with them."

FIVE or six years ago Mr. Dorris spent some time in the Half-moon Bay district of California, which is the big, outstanding artichoke section. He was told by the manager of the artichoke association:

"If you can do what you say you can do with artichokes up in your country, we can sell 300 carloads of your product during the time when we are off the market."

GET this significant statement: "WHEN WE ARE OFF THE MARKET."

If we work it right, California, instead of being a competitor, will be a pace-maker for us here in Oregon. She will establish the market with her earlier production, and we can then come in and go on with the market with our later AND

CAPONE GIVES UP TO POLICE OF CHICAGO

Gangland Chief, Recently Freed From Prison in Pennsylvania, Ends Hiding Spell.

(AP Staff Wire Dispatch)

CHICAGO, March 21—"Scarface" Al Capone surrendered to Chicago police today and was in conference with Chief of Detectives Stege shortly before 2 o'clock.

The gang leader gave himself up, accompanied by Attorney Thomas D. Nash. Nash had informed Stege Capone was willing to talk to him provided he was not put in jail.

Nash and Capone were accompanied by Phil D'Andrea, described as a Capone henchman.

Before giving himself up, Capone said he wanted to make sure he wasn't going to be thrown in a cell just so the authorities could make a showing."

Had Been Hiding

His surrender came unexpectedly after police had abandoned hope of finding him following his release from the Eastern penitentiary at Philadelphia last Monday. A squad of detectives had been guarding his home on the south side. Apparently he had been in hiding in Chicago since arriving Tuesday after his release from prison.

Yesterday his home in Miami, Florida, was raided by authorities.

Nash would nt say where Capone had been since his release from prison but indicated he had come directly to Chicago.

7 Killings Cleared

NEWARK, N. J., March 21.—Seven killings in gang warfare that broke out with the slaying of Arnold Rothstein, New York gambler, were stripped of their mystery by Newark police today with the announcement of the identification of Eugene Moran, alias John Rice, as the victim of a "ride" whose flame-enveloped body was found on the outskirts of this city, August 9, 1929.

Solution of the Moran slaying, Frank E. Brex, deputy chief of police, announced, was brought about in St. Louis, February 18, after seven months work by detectives. Moran's slayers having forfeited their own lives, Brex described his announcement as the "final chapter of a brutal, but thrilling book" of crime.

Moran's charred body was taken from a flame-wrecked automobile in the desolate marshland skirting Newark's east side.

It was Moran, the police said, who engineered the $305,000 robbery of Mrs. Hugo C. P. Schoellkopf in 1922. The gangster es-

OUTGO OF BROCCOLI REACHES 13 CARS

Thirteen carloads of broccoli have been shipped so far this season. Trucks have so far handled more than half the broccoli raised in the county. All of the crates shipped so far by rail have been of excellent quality.

The loading rate at present is slightly more than one carload daily, but will increase to two cars per day the first of the week, it is expected, with the peak of the season being reached early in April.

Grower are hoping for a warm rain, followed by warm clear weather, which will bring the crop on hurriedly and cause it to clean up within a short time.

TILLER TRAPPER BAGS 6 COUGARS

Frank Dumont, trapper, who resides in the Tiller district, was in Roseburg today with the pelts of six cougars, which he has killed since the first of the year. Two of the big cats were killed January 5, another February 9, the fourth February 22 and the last two were killed March 16. All were full grown and two were of exceptionally large size. Nearly all of the cougars were treed by dogs and shot.

Spring Makes Debut On One Half of Earth

By The Associated Press

Spring descended today upon one-half of the world—from the North Pole to the Equator.

Careless of whether the ground was covered with snow or blossoms, the vernal season came, bringing its usual influences.

Generally speaking, she got a somewhat cool reception in New England, the middle Atlantic region and the northern portion of the middle west. The west, south and southwest warmed up to the occasion a bit.

She brought her usual gifts, spring lambs, pussy willows and puppy love; marbles, lilacs and spring sales; sulphur and molasses, liniment and Jamaica ginger.

In the south and on the Pacific coast the blossoms break out as if the sun were staging a popcorn party. Everything turns green. Hills turn green, fields turn green, early plants and bushes turn green.

The automobile speed record seeks are out and the astronomers are measuring the new planet for its first set of figures. The senate yearns for a week's vacation and the naval conference shows symptoms in keeping with the spirit of the season.

Spring's in the air.

QUIZ MAY COMPEL HUSTON TO RESIGN

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, March 21.—Going further into the $36,100 which Claudius Huston, chairman of the republican national committee, collected from the Union Carbide company, the senate lobby committee today heard W. E. Moore, Huston's personal representative, testify that he bought and sold stocks with the money at Huston's direction.

Huston had previously testified he did not know that part of the $36,100 had been used as margin for stock purchases until he heard Charles A. Krickl, member of the brokerage firm of Blyth and Bonner, give the information to the committee.

The money collected from the carbide company was given to Huston for the Tennesse River Improvement association which has interested itself in Muscle Shoals legislation. Huston is a former president of the association.

Reports that Huston would resign his post as republican chairman have persisted since his questioning by the lobby committee began. He, however, has denied these. His withdrawal at some later date, however, would cause no surprise in political circles.

SOVIET TOLD TO BE EASIER ON RELIGION

Propaganda Should Replace Force Against Churches, Speakers Advise at Atheist Meet.

Official Journal Pictures Pope in Fiendish Role, Asserts Toilers in No Need of God.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

MOSCOW, March 21.—Official warning to be moderate in carrying out the anti-religious campaign of the soviet government and the communist party was the interpretation gained today from speeches before the opening of the all-union congress of atheists.

A succession of speakers told the congress that their propagandists must abandon the idea that religion can be exterminated in Russia overnight. They declared that excesses committed by atheistic workers and village officials in the war on religion must forthwith cease.

Anti-Force Warning

The conclave was warned that no attempt must be made to close churches by force, to remove church bells, to coerce peasants into joining the league of the godless, or to proclaim entire districts as "atheistic regions."

Alternatives of peaceful argument, persuasion, propaganda, and scientific explanation were listed by Emelyan Yarosyavsky, chairman of the society of militant atheists, who declared that propaganda particularly must be intensified, partly among women who, he said, were more ignorant and superstitious than men.

Pope Pius Scored

This moderation, however, did not prevent speakers striking back at Pope Pius for his recent denunciation of the anti-religious campaign, and for his mass and prayers Wednesday at St. Peter's. "The Godless One," official atheist organ, printed a drawing of the pontiff sitting placidly on a throne while victim after victim of the religious inquisition was hanged and tortured before him.

The caption, "your blood-stained hands are too short to strangle soviet workers," was carried over the picture, while in the accompanying columns it was said:

God "Not Needed"

"Those who overthrew on earth the thrones of the czars, manufacturers and land-owners, those who build a new life with their own hands, are in no need of a god or heavenly protection.

"Our laborers no longer wish for the chiming of bells, the light of holy candles, or the burning of incense. They want to build palaces of culture, to erect tall radio masts, and to cover their country with a long chain of universities."

HIGHWAY MEETING SUMMONED BY IDE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

PORTLAND, March 21.—W. G. Ide, manager of the Oregon state chamber of commerce, announced today that all persons interested in the proposed international highway which would traverse the western coast area of Alaska, British Columbia, Washington, Oregon and California and countries bordering the Pacific in Central and South America, will be invited to attend a meeting here April 14.

Invitations, he said, would be sent to chambers of commerce, highway bodies, travel agencies, motor associations, individuals and other organizations.

Principal subjects of discussion will be adoption of the highway by the federal government and support of a bill introduced in congress by Senator Charles L. McNary, republican, Oregon providing for a $25,000 appropriation for a survey of the route through Alaska.

PROSECUTOR NAMED FOR FISH PIRATES

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

SALEM, Ore., March 21.—At the request of Governor Norblad, Attorney General Van Winkle today appointed Chester McCarthy of Portland as special prosecutor to handle alleged illegal fishing cases growing out of the activity of fishermen on Rogue river in Curry county. The demand for a special prosecutor came from the state game commission and from the sportsmen. It is said that authorities in Curry county have been unable to get any case to trial.

The trouble is said to have been brought to a head by the recent seizure by the Curry county sheriff of a quantity of salmon that was being cured by local game officials to be held for evidence. The game officials had previously taken the salmon from the alleged illegal fishermen.

Partial Sun Eclipse to Be 3-Hour Event

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

PORTLAND, Ore., March 21.—For more than three hours on April 28, Oregon will lie in the weird twilight of a partial eclipse of the sun. It will take a half century before another opportunity to view this kind of an eclipse is offered, R. G. Aitken, associate director of Lick observatory, announced today.

The first effects of the moon's passage between the earth and the sun will be noted at 9:52 a. m., and the sun will not clear until 12:35 p. m. with maximum darkness at 11:12 a. m. Eighty six hundredths of old Sol's face will be covered.

Along a narrow path in California the eclipse will be total, due to the tortuous course of the moon which is pulled by numerous heavenly bodies.

The eclipse will be visible as far south as Guatemala and as far north as Alaska.

BRIBERY CHARGES HIT 6 IN OIL CASE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, March 21.—Six persons named in grand jury indictments on charges of bribery and bribery conspiracy today will appear for arraignment before Superior Judge Walton J. Wood, as the next step in the reopened Julian Petroleum corporation investigation.

Those indicted on information growing out of the investigation of the 1928 Julian juror bribing scandal include S. C. Lewis, former head of the oil company; Jacob Berman, alleged jury fixer; Frank Grider and John B. Groves, members of the jury that acquitted the defendants in the Julian fraud trial.

Mrs. Caroline Love, another juror who admitted negotiations with Lewis, through J. H. Weaver as his representative, for a bribe of $10,000, was not indicted but was placed under technical custody to appear for further questioning when the grand jury reconvenes next Tuesday. Weaver also is held in technical custody.

Meanwhile Fitts said he will continue an investigation into the operations of an alleged jury bribing ring that is suspected of having "bought the juries in several major criminal cases."

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21—Los Angeles officers were here today checking with jewelry firms where Louis Krause, alleged Julian jury fixer, is alleged to have purchased $1,000 worth of gems to be given jurors. The officers were also to go to San Quentin prison to question Albert Marco, convicted Los Angeles "underworld boss" in whose trials Krause is suspected of having tampered with the jury.

OSWALD WEST SEES PLOT IN PIERCE BOOM

Thinks Ex-Governor Would Be Post-Primary Tool Used by Defeated Republicans.

Threatens to Go Into Race Himself—Lumber Duty Vote Placates Foes of McNary.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

PORTLAND, Ore., March 21.—Oswald West, former Oregon governor and democratic national committeeman, today announced that if Walter M. Pierce, former governor, and George W. Joseph, Portland attorney, are nominated for governor in the democratic and republican primaries, "I will resign my national committee position and run for governor as an independent."

West's announcement followed what he claimed was a discovery of a "plot" to draft Pierce for the democratic nomination as governor.

Revenge Motive Seen

Although West refused to comment directly, he said he believed the movement to draft Pierce was started by a handful of republicans with a view to the general election in November when Pierce could be used as a revenge candidate by disappointed republicans.

Ground work for the Pierce-for-governor boom was laid a few days ago, West said, when thirteen democrats were invited to a luncheon at a hotel here. A motion, West said, was put to the meeting which read: "It is the sense of this meeting that Pierce will run for governor," and the motion was carried, although W. A. Dalzell, who was secretary to Pierce when he was governor, is said to have doubted the wisdom of starting the boom behind closed doors.

Obeyed "a Hunch"

This luncheon meeting, West said, was held a short time after democratic leaders met in unity and attempted to agree on whether Edward F. Bailey, Eugene; George R. Wilbur, Hood River, or others should be given support. West said he thought the meeting was in accord throughout, but said he "had a hunch" and dropped in on the luncheon meeting just when the motion to draft Pierce was being made.

With that democratic politics in Oregon has remained stationary.

McNary's Foes Placated

The Associated Press was informed today that a sudden and complete collapse of the movement of revolting lumbermen to bring out a candidate against United States Senator Charles L. McNary, republican, Oregon, followed yesterday's one-vote margin passage of the soft woods tariff

Late Justice Taft's Estate Is $475,000

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

As filed recently by Mrs. Taft, the petition for probate showed Mr. Taft owned real estate near Murray Bay, Quebec, Canada, and the mansion on Wyoming avenue in Washington, together estimated to be worth $125,000.

The former chief justice's personal estate, comprising stocks, bonds and personal effects was estimated at $350,000.

Mrs. Taft added that his debts, including the expenses of the funeral, would not exceed $3,000.

She told the court also that the suscription of $10,000 to Yale university, mentioned by Mr. Taft in his will, had been paid during his life time. Likewise, he had paid the $2,500 to the Taft school, founded by his brother, Horace Taft, which was mentioned in a codical.

OIL TARIFF VOTE LOSES FIFTH TIME

Senate Against Protection 38-37; Session Goes on Until Bill Passes, Watson Avers.

Duty on Chinaware Boosted Ten Cts. Dozen Pieces; Ashurst Criticises Senate Action.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, March 21—After the senate today had refused for the fifth time a tariff on oil, Senator Watson of Indiana, the republican leader, announced the senate should stay in session tomorrow until it passed the measure.

Prior to the vote of 38 to 37 against oil protection, democrats and western republicans had rallied and put through, 39 to 36, an amendment to slash existing rates on plate glass which were placed under the flexible provisions by presidential proclamation.

Watson was joined in his demand for speedy disposition of the tariff measures by Senators Swanson of Virginia and Barkley of Kentucky, democrats.

The senate then by a vote of 39 to 29 approved an amendment by Senator Hatfield, republican, West Virginia, to add ten cents a dozen pieces to the duties now in the bill on all chinawares.

It was the closest the oil advocates came to getting their tariff.

Nine democrats voted with 28 republicans for the duty while 17 republicans and 21 democrats opposed it.

Ashurst Criticises

The fifth attempt for the oil duty brought an attack from Senator Ashurst, democrat, Arizona, on its sponsors. The Arizonian in return was admonished by Vice-President Curtis for using severe language.

"When I was at the bar," said Ashurst, "tactics such as have been employed here on oil would have been severely denounced. I do not question the good faith of the tariff proponents but it is extremely bad taste and bad manners to call up an amendment of that kind after senators have gone home to a sick bed believing the oil matter settled."

Boon To Northwest

PORTLAND, Ore., March 21.—Prominent Pacific coast lumbermen in this section today predicted a general quickening of the pulse of the lumber industry in the northwest, the reopening of many mills closed because of over-production and re-employment of hundreds of men in mills throughout the state as the result of the United States senate adopting the $1.50 per thousand board feet tariff on soft woods yesterday.

Although the tariff does not become a law until the house and President Hoover approves it, the measure, which was passed by a margin of one vote, indicated a trend toward protection of the Pacific northwest's greatest industry, lumbermen said.

John Tennant, president of the West Coast Lumber Manufacturers' association and vice president of the Long-Bell Lumber company, at Longview, said that American lumbermen could now compete on a more favorable basis with British Columbia and Russia, where lower wage scales and lower water transportation have prevailed.

RUNAWAY GLENDALE GIRL IN CUSTODY

Marian Watterman, runaway girl from Glendale, was taken into custody at Eugene yesterday. Word had been telephoned ahead from Roseburg to northern points, and deputy sheriff Lee Brown checked the arrival of the north bound stage, and took Miss Waterman into custody. She ran away from her home at Glendale Wednesday night and started for Salem, being given financial assistance by people at Deer Park Inn, where she gave a story of being on her way to join her brother. Relatives of the girl followed the stage, and are taking her from the Lane county juvenile officer today, and will return her to her home.

MELROSE MAN HURT AS CAR OVERTURNS

The car was a new one which they were driving from Medford to Roseburg. It handled differently from their former machine, and got from under their control and rolled over a steep grade in the canyon. Mr. Hedburg suffered a badly bruised leg and numerous body injuries. His brother was unhurt. The car was towed to the Umpqua garage for repairs.
