April to Be Big Month at Local Theatres, Says Manager Gross.

APRIL will be a big month at both the Antlers and Liberty theatres if good pictures mean anything, it was announced today by E. A. Gross, manager. Beginning with the first of the coming month a new policy of showing first-run pictures will be inaugurated at the Liberty. It was stated.

For the first half of the month at the Antlers the list includes: "Navy Blues," with William Haines, April 1-2; "The Sky Lark," April 3-5; "The Vagabond Lover," with Rudy Vallee, April 6-7; "Dynamite," Cecil B. DeMille's first talking picture, April 8-10; "She Steps Out," an uproarious comedy from the play "The Family Upstairs," starring William Collier, Sr., April 12-14; "Their Own Desire," with Norma Shearer, Lewis Stone, April 15-16; "Devil May Care," April 17-19, starring Ramon Navarro.

At the Liberty the first run schedule reads: "The Bishop Murder Case," S. S. Van Dine's mystery story, April 1-3; "Night Parade," starring Aileen Pringle, April 4-5; "Tanned Legs," with Ann Pennington, April 6-7; "The Big Party," with Sue Carol, April 8-10; "Dance Hall," with Arthur Lake, Olive Borden, April 11-12; "The Ship from Shanghai," with Louis Wolheim, Conrad Nagel, Carmel Myers, April 13-17.

GREAT dramatic strength is giving "Untamed," M-G-M all-talking picture, which comes to the Antlers Sunday, because of the contrast between the first locale in the Central American jungles and the later scenes in the center of fashionable New York.

Joan Crawford has the strongest and most effective role yet given her as "Bingo" Dowling, the daughter of an oil prospector who is eighteen before she leaves the jungles for blase Manhattan. It is her first all-talking picture.

Appearing with Miss Crawford are Robert Montgomery, Ernest Torrence, Holmes Herbert, John Miljan, Grace Conrad, Gwen Lee and Eddie Nugent.
