

Local News

Transacts Business Here—R. B. Jennings, owner of the Myrtle Grove camp ground, spent yesterday in this city transacting business.

Move to Roseburg—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chazabern, of Lookingglass, have moved to Roseburg and will make their home on Pine street.

Spending Week in Portland—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Quinn, of this city, are spending a week in Portland visiting friends and transacting business.

Returns to Riddle—Mrs. Donna Conner has returned to her home in Riddle, after spending the past two months in this city visiting relatives and friends.

Former Resident Visiting Here—T. A. Luster, of Portland, and formerly a Southern Pacific employee out of Roseburg, is spending a few days here visiting friends.

Former Resident Here—R. L. Devaney, of Eugene, and a former resident of Roseburg, is spending a short time here visiting friends and transacting business.

Move to Riddle—Mr. and Mrs. Harold Gilbreath, of this city, have moved to Riddle, where Mr. Gilbreath will have charge of the Union Oil plant.

Return From Eugene—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Allen Brown have returned to their home in the Banks apartments, after spending Sunday in Eugene visiting relatives and friends.

Pledges Kappa Delta at Oregon—Miss Lucille Germond, of this city, has pledged Kappa Delta sorority at University of Oregon. This is Miss Germond's first term at school.

Spent Week-End at Coast—Mr. and Mrs. John Weatherford, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Groves and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Aitkenburg, of Roseburg, spent the week-end at Coquille and Marshfield.

Return From Grants Pass—Mr. and Mrs. George Witters, of this city, have returned to their home on South Main street, after spending a short time in Grants Pass visiting relatives and friends.

Discharged From Hospital—Fred Hurlbut, of Medford, was discharged from Mercy hospital yesterday, after receiving medical treatment for several days for injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Leaves Monday for Portland—Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Morlan left yesterday for their home in Portland, after spending the past several weeks in this city as the house guests of their son, William Morlan.

Returns to Eugene—Fred A. Fields returned to Eugene yesterday, where he is employed as a storekeeper for the Southern Pacific company, after spending the week-end in this city visiting his family.

Return From California—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Decker and son, Richard, have returned to their home in Roseburg, after spending the past month in California, where they visited relatives and friends.

Spends Monday in Roseburg—D. Bentz, transmission engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company out of Portland, spent yesterday at the local office transacting business with J. R. Farrington, manager.

Stops Here Short Time—Mrs. Roy Yount, of Vancouver, B. C., stopped in Roseburg yesterday for a short visit with friends. Mr. Yount formerly operated a restaurant in Roseburg. Mrs. Yount left for Medford yesterday afternoon, where she intends to visit for a short time.

Spends Monday in Roseburg—D. Bentz, transmission engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company out of Portland, spent yesterday at the local office transacting business with J. R. Farrington, manager.

Stops Here Short Time—Mrs. Roy Yount, of Vancouver, B. C., stopped in Roseburg yesterday for a short visit with friends. Mr. Yount formerly operated a restaurant in Roseburg. Mrs. Yount left for Medford yesterday afternoon, where she intends to visit for a short time.

Spends Monday in Roseburg—D. Bentz, transmission engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company out of Portland, spent yesterday at the local office transacting business with J. R. Farrington, manager.

Stops Here Short Time—Mrs. Roy Yount, of Vancouver, B. C., stopped in Roseburg yesterday for a short visit with friends. Mr. Yount formerly operated a restaurant in Roseburg. Mrs. Yount left for Medford yesterday afternoon, where she intends to visit for a short time.

Spends Monday in Roseburg—D. Bentz, transmission engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company out of Portland, spent yesterday at the local office transacting business with J. R. Farrington, manager.

Stops Here Short Time—Mrs. Roy Yount, of Vancouver, B. C., stopped in Roseburg yesterday for a short visit with friends. Mr. Yount formerly operated a restaurant in Roseburg. Mrs. Yount left for Medford yesterday afternoon, where she intends to visit for a short time.

Spends Monday in Roseburg—D. Bentz, transmission engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company out of Portland, spent yesterday at the local office transacting business with J. R. Farrington, manager.

Stops Here Short Time—Mrs. Roy Yount, of Vancouver, B. C., stopped in Roseburg yesterday for a short visit with friends. Mr. Yount formerly operated a restaurant in Roseburg. Mrs. Yount left for Medford yesterday afternoon, where she intends to visit for a short time.

Spends Monday in Roseburg—D. Bentz, transmission engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company out of Portland, spent yesterday at the local office transacting business with J. R. Farrington, manager.

Stops Here Short Time—Mrs. Roy Yount, of Vancouver, B. C., stopped in Roseburg yesterday for a short visit with friends. Mr. Yount formerly operated a restaurant in Roseburg. Mrs. Yount left for Medford yesterday afternoon, where she intends to visit for a short time.

Spends Monday in Roseburg—D. Bentz, transmission engineer of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company out of Portland, spent yesterday at the local office transacting business with J. R. Farrington, manager.

Stops Here Short Time—Mrs. Roy Yount, of Vancouver, B. C., stopped in Roseburg yesterday for a short visit with friends. Mr. Yount formerly operated a restaurant in Roseburg. Mrs. Yount left for Medford yesterday afternoon, where she intends to visit for a short time.

A Stetson

You can't afford a less distinguished hat . . . and it's poor economy to buy an inferior grade.

Only with the best hat can you feel really well dressed—no other article of clothing is more important. Take no chances—choose the Stetson that suits you best and you can be sure that yours is the latest style and the finest quality. A Stetson holds its shape and wears well—for Stetson knows how to make hats. All over the world this fact has been recognized by at least three generations of particular people.

Tiller Visitor in Roseburg—Jess Radford, of Tiller, was a business visitor here yesterday.

Dillard Visitor Here—Charles Hoffmeister, of Dillard, transacted business here yesterday.

Elkton Visitor Here—Wallace Freyer, of Elkton, was a business visitor in Roseburg Monday.

Spends Day Shopping and Visiting—Mrs. Earl Ager, of Green, stopped and visited here Monday.

Ridgely Couple Here Yesterday—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ridgely, of Ridgely, were here yesterday transacting business.

Glido Couple in Town—Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Glido, of Glido, spent Monday in this city visiting friends and shopping.

Here From Days Creek—Victor Phelps, of Days Creek, spent yesterday in this city transacting business.

Mr. Eastman Is Business Visitor—R. D. Eastman, of Winston, was in Roseburg yesterday transacting business.

Spends Day Here Shopping—Mrs. Joe Brumbach, of Dixonville, stopped and visited friends here yesterday.

Mr. Crane Spends Monday Here—George Crane, of Medford, spent Monday in this city visiting friends.

Here From Lookingglass—E. A. Crow, of Lookingglass, was in Roseburg yesterday transacting business.

Mr. Humphreys Transacts Business—J. W. Humphreys, of Willamette, spent yesterday in this city transacting business.

Miss Hutchins Shops Here—Miss Beth Hutchins, of Lookingglass, shopped and visited friends in this city yesterday.

Here From Lookingglass—Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Williams, of Lookingglass, were business visitors here yesterday.

Tenmile Visitor in Town—Robert Sumner, of Tenmile, spent yesterday in this city transacting business.

Here From Myrtle Creek—Fred Johnson, of Myrtle Creek, was a business visitor in this city yesterday.

Glido Visitor Here—Robert Blakely, of Glido, spent several hours here yesterday transacting business.

Visits and Shops Here—Mrs. John Bacon, of Umpqua, spent Monday in this city visiting friends and shopping.

Visit Here From Dixonville—Gene Mathis and Rev. and Mrs. Mathis, of Dixonville, spent a short time in this city Sunday.

Wilbur Visitor in Town—John Irving, of Wilbur, and brother of Ben Irving, of Roseburg, spent yesterday in this city visiting friends.

Oakland Couple in Town—Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Smith, of Oakland, were in Roseburg yesterday visiting friends and transacting business.

Returns From Portland—Fred Hamilton has returned to his home in this city, after spending several days in Portland transacting business.

Visiting in Roseburg—James Greaves, Jr., owner of Prospect tavern at Prospect, is spending a few days in this city visiting friends.

Garden Valley Couple Here—Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Calloun, of Garden Valley, were here yesterday visiting friends and transacting business.

Returns to Eugene—Miss Daphne Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Washington Hughes of Roseburg, left yesterday for Eugene where she is a junior in University of Oregon.

Goes to Portland to Visit—Mrs. Frank Churchill, of this city, left yesterday for Portland to spend several days visiting her daughter, Miss Helen, who is a dietitian in a Portland hospital.

Transferred to Roseburg—Miss Irma Riessland, formerly cashier and bookkeeper in the Klamath Falls Montgomery Ward and company store, has been transferred to the Roseburg store, where she will be assistant cashier and bookkeeper.

Goes to Portland—Mrs. Beagle Steel and daughter, Mrs. Maceom Smith, of this city, left the first of the week for Portland, where Mrs. Steel entered a hospital for medical treatment. Mrs. Smith will return to her home here within a few days.

Catch Large Salmon—Rev. Perry Smith, of the Episcopal church of Roseburg, caught his first salmon—a chinook—yesterday. The fish weighing 29 pounds. Rev. Smith has lived in Oregon but a short time and this was the first salmon he had ever seen in the water. George Russell, the fire man, caught a 34-pound salmon on Sunday.

Stop to Visit Friends—Mr. and Mrs. Horace G. Wilson, of Medford, and formerly of this city, stopped here yesterday to visit friends on their way home, after spending the past ten days visiting their daughter, Miss Elmer May, student at University of Washington. They stated that Miss Elmer May would stop and visit over the National Broadcast Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. She won second place in the Atwater-Kent audition this year.

Attractions AT THE MOVIES

ANTLEYS—Today and Wednesday, "Navy Blues," with William Haines; Thursday, Friday and Saturday, "The Sky Lark"; Sunday and Monday, "The Vagabond Lover," with Rudy Vallee.

LIBERTY—Today, Wednesday, Thursday, "The Bishop Murder Case," S. S. Van Dine's mystery; Friday and Saturday, "Tanned Legs," with Ann Pennington.

WILLIAM HAINES, as a hard-boiled cop, washing out clothes on the deck, dressmaking, making faces behind the backs of "non-coms," of coming out of a free-for-all unscathed, between the legs of bruised and beaten colleagues, will not surprise his admirers who have long been accustomed to seeing him do just that sort of thing.

However, in "Navy Blues," his first "all-talking" vehicle, which opens today at the Antleys theatre, he will probably surprise a good many people, for in this picture he not only gives his usual light-hearted, fun-loving impersonation, in this instance of one of Uncle Sam's sailors, but he also goes "dramatic," something which he has wanted to do for some time.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has shown itself to be wise in permitting Haines to combine a hitherto little suspected histrionic talent with his well-known abilities as a comedian, because clever as an actor may be in a certain field, sooner or later his audience will become surfeited with the same fare and will demand a change of menu.

So often the tragedy lies in the fact that the star has long been habituated to the one type of role that when the time comes when he is compelled to exhibit a chameleon-like change of colors he is unable to produce the goods. Fortunately, the temperament of broad humor, interest, and vivacity which Haines from this film, and in "Navy Blues" he produces conspicuous evidence of his ability to "come across" any time the movie public is ready for it.

BERT LYTELL WEDS FOR THIRD TIME

NEW YORK, April 1.—The marriage of Bert Lytell, stage and screen star, and Miss Grace Menken, actress, became known today. They were married in Elkton Park, Philadelphia, on March 16.

Mr. Lytell was married twice previously. His first wife was Evelyn Vaughn and his second, Claire Windsor, film actress. Both marriages ended in divorces.

Miss Menken, who is a sister of Helen Menken, well known actress, had been appearing as a member of the supporting company in a play starring Lytell.

SLIM BEATS LA MARR

MEDFORD, Ore., April 1.—Battling Slim, Bellingham, knocked out Dixie LaMarr, Sacramento, in three rounds and Buzz Landless, Eugene, won a technical knockout over George Mamaris, Manila, in five rounds, here last night.

Returns From Boswell Springs—Mrs. Barton Hellwell has returned to her home in Laurelwood, after spending a week at Boswell Springs.

Cleveland Visitors Here—Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Kocken, of Cleveland, spent yesterday in this city visiting friends and transacting business.

Oakland Couple Here Monday—Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Grubbe, of Oakland, were in Roseburg yesterday visiting friends and transacting business.

Accepts New Position—Miss Blanche Barnes, of Roseburg, has accepted a position at Whitney's lunch on South Stephens street.

Visit Friends Here Monday—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, of Portland, spent Monday in this city visiting friends. They are well known here.

Returns to Eugene—Fred Rowley, of Eugene, left yesterday for his home, after spending a short time here visiting friends and transacting business.

Spent Sunday in Idylld—Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Richardson, Mrs. H. E. Armstrong and Mrs. A. R. Wilcox, all of the Valley hotel of this city, spent Sunday at Idylld.

Visit Here Short Time—Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Childers and children, of Round Prairie, were in town yesterday, visiting friends and transacting business.

Transact Business Here—Mr. and Mrs. John Kromina and daughter, Miss Eugenia, of Guide, spent yesterday in this city visiting friends and transacting business.

EASTER BASKETS, ETC.

For a really extensive showing of Easter candy, baskets, cards, novelties, etc. you should see the line at Carr's. Our variety is much larger than most stores. Carr's—Adv.

Advertisement for Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a tonic for men or women.

Advertisement for Colds/AR, a vegetable laxative.

MISS PAT A Story of Romance and High Adventure in Life of Modern Days.

By Elenore Meherin, Author of "Chickie" and Other Famous Serials

CHAPTER 24 The man's face flashed white in the dark.

"You've taken the wrong plane," Pat screamed above the roar of the engine. "This is Mr. Elliott's. The pilot knows. I'm taking you to Elliott."

"Where? What has happened? Where is he?" The wind blew the cry back to her. The zoom of the plane drowned it. But she clung to the seat and shouted, frantic:

"Where is he? What had happened? Mother of God!" Words blew against her ears. She sought a fragment.

"Hurt! Be quiet and help!" "But WHERE? In this dark—WHEN?" She started climbing to the cockpit. The plane banked six-ply. Then the man at the controls shouted:

"Get back! Stay back!" The dark moment was closing now. For a moment he could not see the man's shoulders. These merged into the piling shadows, leaving only his head with the light colored helmet, faintly perceptible.

They soared until they were above a cloud bank; above the swift air currents. They flew in a windless dark.

Pat's terror was congealed like this blank, cold terror. Taking her to Guy—hurt, and this unknown pilot was speeding her to him. But why? And where could he be that they must rush to him like this, a pair of criminals flying through the inky night?

Suddenly Pat remembered the man's wild start when she climbed up and touched his shoulder; when she called "Guy!" He had gone pale with shock as though a ghost leapt at him from the cabin.

He wasn't taking her to Guy! She closed her eyes while little arrows of panic flew through every nerve.

Was he stealing Guy's plane? What would he do with her? She sat with cold hands frozen together and her mind pitifully numbing courage. She prayed. She thought of her father and clung to his image as though Richard would come out of the night and protect her.

It was blinding dark now. The roar and whirr of the engine seemed diabolic in the swift, unearthly onrush of the plane. The plane screamed as though it were alive, as though it were a mad bird hurtling into unknown, fathomless regions where time, where light, where sanity were all swallowed up in a black, purposeless void.

On and on. She grew used to the dark to the encompassing blindness. She dreaded the moment when they would stop.

All at once a stream of light broke upon them. The moon mooned it swept by almost at their elbows flooding the clouds with rich Autumn gold.

They rode down this lighted avenue of the skies. And now Pat could see the pilot, see his hunched shoulders and vaguely the profile.

They were coming down. Just above the mountain tops and now swinging over valleys. The moon lighted up a row of trees. The trees went in single file, dark and quiet like nuns waiting out to prayer.

They began to circle, slowly so that she felt the motion of the plane. The pilot leaned out. He flew again and again over the same area, past the same stately line of trees.

Now the trees were above them. Landing—the wheels touched the ground. Pat's heart darted to her throat. It pounded there crazily.

In another moment she would open the cabin and go plunging madly, desperately across this field.

The man in the cockpit called out. He turned with an abrupt lightning move.

"Look—over there!" She gave a start, saw his arm raised, saw that this was long and black in his upraised hand. It came crashing with a deadening blow full on Pat's head.

Laura Dawn walked uneasily about the living room. From the kitchen came annoying sound—a whacking of a spoon against a saucepan, a clatter of dishes, then a slapping of hands on something that gave back a duddy echo.

She went to the door and said a bit sharply: "It's time you were in bed." Dickie gave her a wide, aggrieved look.

"Ge whiz! Just finished. You said I could stay up!" "I thought they'd be here before this. It's nearly nine. We can't start a game this late." "Well, she promised. And she

Advertisement for SINGIN' IN THE GREASE, featuring Ed Squier, M. A. L., North Roseburg, Phone 570, Master of Automotive Lubrication.

Advertisement for Attention Farmers, offering repair work of all kinds.

Advertisement for GEO. S. MARSH, located at Shop in Glangery, one mile east of Carnes Station on old Roberts creek road.

cause I fire back. And with dum-dums!" "It is possible he can have done this?"

"I've been two and a half hours trying to check up on him. He hasn't been to his home. He left the plant around two, it is said. And his plane took off from the field, about 5:15. It has not returned."

Nor at 1 o'clock. And no one had seen Guy Elliott. Little Billy Bryce had vanished. Some one in a brown suit had come to that park and led the little boy away.

Tuesday morning the newspapers were hot with the story of the kidnapping of millionaire Bryce's grandson, and the simultaneous disappearance of Guy Elliott and Patricia Dawn.

Tuesday at noon, a gray sedan was found abandoned on the Sky-line boulevard. On a mat on the floor of the car a detective found half a dozen silky gold hairs—the hairs of little Billy Bryce.

The gray sedan was Guy's car. His plane had not returned to Mills' field. Nor had anything been seen of him and the beautiful young girl with whom he was in love.

MRS. GEORGE SUNDAY WITHDRAWS COMPLAINT (Associated Press Leased Wire)

LOS ANGELES, April 1.—Complaints charging George Sunday, son of Billy Sunday, the evangelist, and Mauryne LaSalle, Hollywood model, with marital infidelity, were dismissed in municipal court at the request of Mrs. George Sunday, the complainant.

UNHAPPY DUCHESS! SEEKS OBSCURITY

LONDON, April 1.—A mysterious woman known only to her neighbors in Brixton, London suburb, as "Mrs. Williams" was revealed today at a hospital to which she was taken as the Duchess of Leinster.

The landlady said the duchess was found in a semi-conscious condition and that there was gas in the room.

The duchess was May (Theresa) Glynne, who was married in June, 1913, to Lord Edward Fitzgerald, who succeeded to the title of Duke of Leinster in 1922. He is a premier duke and Earl of Ireland.

Their honeymoon was spent in a Canadian shack.

CARR'S 9c SALE Those hundreds of bargains at 9c continue all this week at Carr's. Adv.

Advertisement for DR. NERBAS, DENTIST, offering painless extraction, gas when desired, pyorrhea treated, phone 458, Maronic Bldg.

Advertisement for JOHN R. KELLY, Sheet Metal Works, Auto Body and Fender Work, 444 N. Jackson, Phone 466.

Advertisement for THE BISHOP MURDER CASE, featuring Basil Rathbone, Leila Hyams, and Roland Young. Includes showtimes and admission prices.

Advertisement for TODAY AND WEDNESDAY All Talking, featuring William Haines and Anita Page. Includes showtimes and admission prices.

Advertisement for WILLIAM HAINES ANITA PAGE EVERY BLUES, featuring coffee and a show. Includes showtimes and admission prices.