

OREGON SEEKING NO PREFERENCE IN CITY BOND DEALS

State Treasurer Kay Gives Reasons for Buy-Back Proposal Made to Municipalities.

Permits Higher Yield With Safety and Tax Slash; Serial Maturity Is Held Best Plan.

(Associated Press Special Wire) SALT LAKE, Ore., April 13.—The State of Oregon is not trying to get preference over other holders of Oregon municipal bonds, State Treasurer Kay explained in a statement Saturday.

"The offer is made to all municipalities alike," Kay said, "whether or not they are having difficulties in meeting their bond interest and principal obligations. The state is not endeavoring to obtain preference over other bond holders by attempting to sell back bonds to municipalities that are in financial difficulties and thereby take advantage of other bondholders through advance liquidation of the state's holdings."

Four Reasons Given —The offer to recall bonds to municipalities is made for the following purposes:

"To enable the municipalities to earn with absolute safety a higher yield than they are now getting or will get in the future, on sinking fund investments."

"To insure the municipalities against loss by enabling them to retire their indebtedness now, rather than jeopardize their funds through judicious investments in mortgages, in mortgage certificates of eastern concerns, in safe bonds of other municipalities, or through possible bank failures in which uninvested sinking fund moneys are deposited."

"To lower their taxes through higher interest earnings on investments and by progressive and earlier payment of their bonded obligations."

"To encourage liquidation of bonded indebtedness and to keep sinking fund moneys in Oregon."

Advices Serial Plan —It has been brought to my attention that the sinking fund of some of the municipalities have already been jeopardized through poor investment of their funds in mortgages, mortgage certificates, bonds of other subdivisions with whose affairs the investing officers were not conversant, and whose condition is or will become such that default will result. It is obvious that a double default might occur if sinking funds are invested in unsatisfactory bonds of other subdivisions maturing simultaneously with those of the investing municipality."

"The offer to permit municipalities to purchase their own bonds is equivalent to converting long term bonds with definite maturities into bonds with several maturities, and so long as this can be done without loss to any of the state funds which have been invested in Oregon municipal bonds, the municipalities and bondholders in general will derive the benefits hereinabove mentioned."

The state treasurer advocates that, in so far as possible, all further issues of municipalities in Oregon be made serial as to maturity. The municipalities will then, he explained, be able to apply their sinking funds against their respective bonded debts as the funds accrue, and thereby eliminate the danger of making poor investments of such funds.

Smith, who is deputy assessor in this district, received a letter the other day from a business man calling attention to the fact that this man thought the assessment on his property too low.

"In this day and age when nearly everyone is complaining about high taxes and wanting better methods of avoiding at least a part of their taxes it is indeed gratifying to find a man who says his assessment is too low," said Mr. Smith who has been assessing since 1919. "I have had a number of instances occur where women have volunteered information about some property that they had previously failed to declare but it is very, very seldom that man does this."

COMMUNISTS PLAN MARCH TO CAPITAL

(Associated Press Special Wire)

NEW YORK, April 12.—Plans for an unemployment demonstration march of "workers" from Chicago to Washington, were announced here today by William Z. Foster, communist leader who is in jail awaiting sentence on a charge of unlawful assembly growing out of the communist demonstration in Union square last month.

The march will start on July 5, Foster said, after "a colossal mass meeting" in Chicago July 4. More than 100,000 "workers" and members of the communist party will participate in the Chicago July 4 demonstration, he said.

"On the 10th," Foster continued, "10,000 of the delegates meeting in Chicago will begin a march to precipitate the unemployment situation and bring it to a crisis before the fall elections."

The delegates will finish their March at Washington, he said, where they will make a formal protest to President Hoover over the unemployment situation.

The capitalistic class is scared stiff by the present crisis precipitated in that assembly on March 6, said Foster, referring to the "red Thursday" riot.

"This is but the beginning of a series of mobilization meetings of the unemployed," he added, stating that another demonstration would be called for May 17.

Foster, with Robert Minor, his chief lieutenant and three other communists were convicted of the unlawful assembly charge yesterday. All four have started a hunger strike while awaiting sentence April 21.

SOUTH UMPQUA ROD AND GUN CLUB HOLDS MEETING

Dr. Wainscott and Charles Lockwood Chief Speakers at Session Devoted to Conservation Plans.

Arrangements Being Made for Picnic to Be Held at Tiller, Sunday, April 27.

(News-Review Douglas County Special) DAYS CREEK, April 14.—Dr. Wainscott, president of the Douglas County Sportsmen's association, and Charles Lockwood, president of the Western Fish and Game association were the principal speakers at the regular meeting of the South Umpqua Rod and Gun club held at the Lavander club building Wednesday evening, April 9th.

Dr. Wainscott in a short talk pledged the support of his organization to any forward-looking move along conservation lines initiated by the South Umpqua club and complimented the club on its growth and progressive action in the three years since its organization.

Mr. Lockwood very interestingly reviewed the work done in the last few years in conserving our wild life by sportsmen of the west. Speaking from experience as a legislator he explained the difficulty of cordly securing the legislation desired by sportsmen, particularly anglers, due to the powerful influence exerted by the commercial fishing industry. However he expressed confidence that action will soon be taken by law to declare the Steelhead a game fish, thus taking it out of the commercial fish class. This would be a great stride toward natural rearing of coastal fishing streams and would undoubtedly solve a large part of the angling question. He discussed the predatory animal situation and stated his belief that an increase in the amount and scope of state bounties would be the means of saving many deer and wild game birds. Mr. Lockwood took occasion to compliment the federal forest service in its hearty support of Oregon's fish and game conservation program particularly on the Umpqua National Forest.

Other speakers of the evening were V. W. Harpham, supervisor of the Umpqua National Forest, Oscar Houser, forest ranger, and Frank Hills, sportsman of Roseburg. Mr. Hills on behalf of the Douglas County Sportsmen's association, extended an invitation to the members of the South Umpqua Rod and Gun club to attend the banquet of the association at Roseburg April 16th.

The South Umpqua club voted to sponsor a picnic at Tiller Sunday, April 27th and delegated its social committee, with Hugh Ritter as chairman, to make the arrangements. It is the desire of the club to make this affair as fully representative of the South Umpqua territory as possible and a hearty invitation is given to all residents and friends. A program with special music and speakers will probably be given in the forenoon, a basket dinner at noon and baseball and other sports in the afternoon.

According to John Gross, the president, the club now has about 100 members and with the interest being displayed it is probable the enrollment will soon reach the hundred mark.

The next regular meeting will be held at Tiller Wednesday evening, April 23rd at which time there will be interesting reports given by the standing committees who are working on various projects and probably speakers from other kindred organizations.

Spit is a horrid word, but it is worse on the end of your cigar

Many people who are on a diet in order to reduce weight, complain about the hungry feeling they experience after they finish their meal.

Invariably this is due to the lack of a sweet dessert in the menu. Surprising though it may be to those dieting, a sweet dish can be eaten after the main dish without fear of adding weight. It is the amount of food in general that produces fat—not one item of food alone.

Too often menus are lacking in foods that are really enjoyable and satisfying. But sugar when used as a flavor can make the most simple meal complete. For sugar improves the taste of most foods.

Vegetables, fresh or canned, can be made much more tasty and satisfying if they are cooked with a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. Likewise, French dressing, in which such a combination of sugar and salt is used, is a delicious addition to raw or cooked vegetable salads.

And sugar also modifies the harsh acids of fruits, making them more pleasing to the taste. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.
