NICK CARTER'S TIRE SHOP

I sold another set of 6-ply heavy duty Lee of Conshohocken tires today to Royal G. Carter with Mc. States Power Co., of Marshfield. He is my son, the baby boy. We have tramped the highways and byways together, we have lived in hotels, rooming houses and hatched together. I always gave him the choicest piece of meat, and ate the crust myself. This is love pure and divine. We have hunted, fished and trapped together, we have fought and scraped for each other. He is not only my son but a pal. Nick Carter's Tire Shop, the man that sells Lee of Conshohocken tires, none better, and few as good.

TODAY'S MARKETS

PORTLAND, April 16.—Butter and egg prices remained steady and unchanged today.

In the vegetable field, retailers demands for potatoes on the wholesale market, have shown a steady activity during the last day or two that has existed in many weeks. Growers' home storage stocks are now very light, thereby necessitating retailers obtaining their supplies from jobbers' stocks. Good local Burbanks advanced to $3. Total U. S. shipments continue light, with firm market tone prevailing at all potato shipping points, and at most terminal markets.

The season's first car of asparagus from Oregon was loaded at The Dalles for eastern shipment. Some crates from the north side of the Columbia was included in the car. This shipment removed a threatened over supply from the Portland market, and prices strengthened slightly to $1.35-1.40 per dozen bunches.

California strawberries continue to arrive in liberal volume, but movement is slow, probably due to cool weather. Slight price declines occurred, especially on "hold overs" from previous arrivals.
