Best, Brahan and Martin were all arrested together, being engaged in erecting cabins at the Brahan and Martin claims. Logs had been cut and shaves were being prepared in preparation for the erection of the buildings. Davis was arrested at his own cabin.

Others Told to Vacate The officers also served notice on Benjamin Craven and the family of Lee Henderson, who are occupying cabins constructed by previous squatters in the Fish creek desert, to vacate within 30 days. These alleged trespassers have done nothing, it is stated, to indicate an effort to permanently hold the property where they are staying, and have made no improvements.

Henderson is employed in eastern Oregon and his family is occupying the cabin.

Brahan, Henderson and Martin, it is stated, came into the forest in January from Montana, all being equally related. They accompanied Best, who had been residing in Montana for a short time.

The officers were forced to return in Roseburg until this afternoon, as they had no warrant against Martin, making it necessary to arrange him before C. E. Hopkins, U. S. commissioner this afternoon, in order that he might be ordered held for the federal court. Warrants for the other men were issued directly from the court, so no arraignment was necessary in their cases.

It is planned to take the prisoners into Portland tonight.

Best is suffering from a slight cold, as a result of exposure, the men having been sleeping in the open while engaged in construction of the cabins. He was offered medical attention this afternoon. Injunctions Ignored

The Fish creek desert came in one of long standing, having given the government trouble for the past five years. Best and Davis have returned to their claims as soon as released from their prison terms, despite the permanent injunctions filed against them. As the act does not constitute a felony, they have received only short sentences each time, and upon release go back to their claims to await another arrest, maintaining a passive resistance to the government's efforts to eject them.

The government code, relative to national forests, forbids permanent occupancy of any land not directly designated by the forest and secured through lease or other recognized method, and also strict-by forbids cutting of any standing timber without special permission. Violation of this code constitutes an act of trespass, punishable by fine and imprisonment, or both. Contempt is Alleged. Due to the fact that Best and Davis have been enjoined from entering upon the forest lands, their violation of the order also constitutes contempt of court, it is claimed. The squatters have declared that the land is of no value for forest purposes, but has certain agricultural resources and have been endeavoring to secure a reclassification of the entire Fish creek desert territory. The secretary of the interior, however, following an investigation made, after receipt of petitions circulated by the squatters, held that the land had no agricultural value, but if occupied would constitute handicaps in forest administration.

OFFICIALS STILL WORK ON PORTLAND INFANT PUZZLE

(Associated Press Leased Wire) PORTLAND, April 21.—Custody of a four-month-old baby girl which in this brief span has experienced more adventures than befall the most of us in a lifetime, awaited action of the court of domestic relations here. Miss Geraldine Watson of Phoenix, Ariz., who declares the child is hers, arrived yesterday to battle for the babe. Mrs. George F. Schaeffer of Portland who declares the baby was born to her in a Portland maternity hospital, is prepared for a legal fight. Miss Martha Randall, head of the women's protective division of Portland police, accompanied Miss Watson from Los Angeles where the baby is said to have been born. Miss Randall was south on other business when the case came up. She declares she believes the baby is Miss Watson's. The young Phoenix girl declares she was penniless when the baby was born and that she left it in a hotel room while she sought work. The baby was taken away. Police there charged the girl with desertion, but this charge has been dropped. After obtaining work Miss Watson says she returned for the child only to learn it had been given to another woman. Miss Randall says records show that Mrs. Schaeffer appeared in Los Angeles soon after the child was born, reserve seats are now on sale and are going rapidly. People holding tickets should reserve seats early in order to get good locations, as the house is to be sold out for both nights, according to present indications. Dillard Residents Here—A. B. Rice and Thomas Burnett, of Dillard, were in town Saturday conducting business.

ERWIN SHORT WEDS MISS ESTHER MILLER

Miss Esther Miller and Erwin Short were married Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the Christian parsonage. Rev. W. R. Baird read the service. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Miller, brother and sister-in-law of the bride, witnessed the ceremony. The couple left immediately after the wedding for Tillamook, where the groom is employed by the telephone company. Mrs. Short is well known in this city and until her marriage was employed by the First State and Savings Bank.

(Continued from page 1) luncheon by Frank B. Noyes, president of the Associated Press: "Frank B. Noyes, "President, Associated Press. "I would appreciate it greatly if you would extend my greetings to the annual meeting of the Associated Press. It is a great institution which daily renders intellectual service to the American people with that fine impartiality and reliability that have given it high distinction. "It is marvelous advancement of science that enables you to listen today to address from London by Secretary Stimson. The work of Secretary Stimson and his colleagues at the conference has been carefully and fully transmitted over the wires of the Associated Press day by day for the past four months and thereby the American people have gained an appreciation of the problems which the conference has undertaken to solve and the success that has resulted. "Their achievement marks another great step in the maintenance of peace. Only the utmost courage and tenacity of the eminent men comprising all the delegations at London could have brought to so difficult a problem a solution fruitful of so many blessings. "The Associated Press and other press representatives have contributed materially for such negotiation in these times as not alone the work of the delegation, it must be responsive to national instinct and national aspiration. Peace is fundamentally a state of mind and is solved by will of the whole people. Therefore the fidelity of the press representatives in reporting the course of the conference has played a large part in its success by giving all of our people an instant and comprehensive knowledge of the facts, and thus enabling the nation itself to share in these negotiations. "I wish to compliment the Associated Press on the service it has rendered. "HERBERT HOOVER."

(Continued from page 1) had voted against a favorable report on Judge Parker upon the condition he reserved the right to vote on the floor otherwise if new evidence were presented. Some senators believed efforts would be undertaken either to have the nominee withdraw or to have the president withdraw his name. Senator Overman, who is leading the contest in behalf of Judge Parker, announced he would not give up. Friends of the nominee sought to communicate with Parker to learn his wishes. It was their determination, unless instructed otherwise, to carry on the fight on the senate floor. Senator Stetson informed the committee he had been told by Walter Newton, executive secretary to President Hoover, the president had not requested the appearance of Judge Parker before the judiciary committee. However, the senator said New-

NATIONAL FLOWER WEEK ON; HELPFUL BOOKS AVAILABLE

Give fools their gold and knives their power; Let fortune's bubbles rise and fall; Who sows a field, plants a tree or trains a flower, It more than all. —Whittier.

The week from April 20 to 26 has been designated as National Flower week. While no particular observance of the period has been planned in Roseburg, there is a very general interest throughout the city in yard and garden improvement through the activity of the Roseburg Garden club and the City Beautiful commission. April 24 is to be known as National Wild Flower day, and special emphasis is to be placed upon the wild flowers of the land. Schools, particularly, are being urged to endeavor to interest and educate the pupils further with regard to wild flowers.

For the help of Roseburg residents who are interested in yard and garden improvement, Mrs. L. F. Reizenstein, librarian at the Roseburg Public Library, has listed the books obtainable at the local institution for use of Roseburg readers. These books are as follows:

- Books in the Little Garden—Harding.
- Chronicle of the Garden—King.
- Little Garden for Little Money—Brewer.
- Well Considered Garden—King.
- Practical Plant Propagation—Hottes.
- 1901 Garden Questions Answered—Hottes.

(Continued from page 1) purchased property at Lookingglass. He made several trips into the Willamette valley and southern California before permanently deciding upon his location, and after making up his mind to locate in the Umpqua valley, went into the fruit business on a large scale. He set out 16,000 prune trees during the first year of his residence and two years later planted 5,000 more. He also engaged in stock raising and general agricultural lines. Mr. Marsh was always very active in community work, being particularly interested in school and grange activities. Although urged on numerous occasions to accept public office, he declined to engage in public activities. He is survived by his widow and one son, Arthur Marsh, of Lookingglass, and also three grandchildren. He was an active member of the Methodist church. Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Lookingglass church, Rev. Ira Rankin officiating. Interment will take place in the Lookingglass cemetery. M. E. Ritter of the Roseburg Undertaking company is in charge of arrangements.

DAIRY SPECIALIST DIES

Word has just been received of the death of Neal C. Jamison at the Corvallis General hospital, where he had been confined for the past two weeks with a case of erysipelas. Mr. Jamison had served as extension specialist in dairying at O. S. C. for a period of eight years, and was well and favorably known to many Douglas county dairymen.

Mr. Stone in Roseburg—O. L. Stone, manager of the Stone's division of the MacMarr store, spent Saturday in this city attending to business at the local stores.
