PILOTS TO FLY WEST OVER ATLANTIC

SOUTHERN CROSS.

QUESTION MARK

CAPT. KINGSFORD-SMITH.

DIEUDONNE COSTES.

The honor of completing the first flight westward from Europe to Long Island is to be sought twice within the next month, Dieudonne Coste is expected to arrive at Roosevelt Field, L. I., from Paris before May 8, and Captain Charles Kingsford-Smith at Curtiss Field from Croydon, London, about the same time. Coste will use the Question Mark, in which he recently established several records for endurance and airline distance flying. Captain Smith will be remembered for his flight across the Pacific ocean from Oakland, Cal., to Australia on what has been declared one of the most spectacular flights in the history of aviation.

Two Pilots Plan Flight From Europe to New York

The 1930 trans-Atlantic flying season has got under way with a flying start. For announcements have just been made of plans for a westward flight across the Atlantic with the spectacular side of the feat emphasized in the form of an international race. France and England are keenly interested in the plans of their crack flyers to make the initial successful flight from the United States to Europe, since the French flyer Dieudonne Costes and the British aviator Captain Kingsford-Smith have both announced that they intend to make the westward flight.

Costes is regarded as one of the most brilliant aviators in the world. His flying career is studded with records, both for endurance and airline distance flying. He plans to use the Breguet biplane Question Mark for the flight and will be accompanied by Maurice Bellonte, who has been his companion on several of his record-making trips. The Question Mark has been completely overhauled, and now carries enough fuel for 6,000 miles at cruising speed. A new motor has also been installed. Costes will attempt a round-trip flight, for he is expected to arrive from Paris by plane. Tentative arrangements call for his arrival at Roosevelt field on or about May 8.

Frank Ambros, operations chief of the Curtiss-Wright corporation, is responsible for the statement that preparations are being completed for the arrival of Captain Kingsford-Smith from England at about the same time as that of Costes. The British flyer is the hero of the California to Australia flight that is said to be one of the most spectacular feats in the history of aviation, and is regarded as one of England's best pilots. The Southern Cross used in the flight across the Pacific is a veteran Fokker monoplane and may be used by Kingsford-Smith in his attempted flight, but no specific details are yet forthcoming, although the plane's three Wright whirl-wind motors were tested last year by officials of that corporation.

PORTLAND'S BABY CASE UP TO JURY

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

PORTLAND, April 28—L. V. Jenkins, chief of police, today repeated his declaration of last night, that unless officials investigating the so-called Schaefer baby case brought out some positive information within the next two days, the district attorney's office would be given full charge of the inquiry.

The case which has been hanging fire since January, involves the disputed parentage of an infant girl. Mrs. George F. Schaefer, Portland, and Miss Geraldine Watson of Phoenix and Los Angeles, each claims to be its mother.

Recent developments were that one of two other children Mrs. Schaefer said were born to her was found to have been abandoned in Salem by its unidentified mother. Mrs. Schaefer adopted it.

A jury trial will be held, probably on Thursday, to determine whether Miss Watson or Mrs. Schaefer is the mother of the child now in question. Mrs. Schaefer says the infant was born to her in a Portland hotel. Miss Watson says the baby is hers, that she abandoned it in Los Angeles while she sought work. She came to Portland and identified it out of seven others.

ENJOYMENT OF FOOD IS HELPFUL IN PROMOTING HEALTH

Most Foods Can Be Made More Pleasing to the Appetite by Using Sugar as a Flavor

When meals please the taste, the flow of digestive juices is promoted with the result that digestion is materially aided.

Pleasing the appetite, however, does not necessarily depend upon serving out-of-season or expensive foods. As a matter of fact, the familiar foods which should be eaten for their vitamins, minerals and roughage, can be made most taste-appealing by the use of one of the most inexpensive foods that comes into the home — sugar.

For example, many vegetables, canned or fresh, are more delicious if seasoned with a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt. Vegetable and fruit salads have a new appeal when served with a French dressing to which sugar has been added to the oil, lemon juice and salt. And if sugar is sprinkled on the breakfast cereal its flavor is pleasantly developed.

Balanced meals which are eaten with relish show their effect on the entire system. Not only will body vigor be assured, but, according to dental authorities, there will be improvement in the teeth and gums. Good food promotes good health. The Sugar Institute.
