VOL. XXXI NO. 91 OF ROSEBURG REVIEW

ROSEBURG, OREGON, THURSDAY, MAY 1, 1930.

VOL. XXI NO. 22 OF THE EVENING NEWS

Editorials on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS

SENATOR BORAH, we read, approves in a tentative and preliminary way the treaty brought home from the London naval conference, but will reserve his final judgment on it until later.

That is to say, the good senator from Idaho, who plays a lone hand or none at all, will wait to see whether everybody else is for it; in which event he will be AGAINST it.

Borah is BORAH—which is probably why the people of Idaho go on voting for him practically unanimously.

DR. BROADUS MITCHELL, of Johns Hopkins university, tells the national convention of the League of Women Voters that suffrage for women has done nothing more than double the total vote.

He means by this that women are no better than men, and so the country as a whole is no better off since women are voting.

TRUE enough, probably. Women are not all perfect, any more than men are all perfect, and the average of perfection among women is probably no higher than the average of perfection among men.

Here is the thing that IS important: Granting to women the right to vote did away with the ancient and degrading theory that women are NOT AS GOOD as men.

THE winter term grade list at the University of Oregon, just published, reveals that the average rating for ALL WOMEN is 18.567. The average rating for ALL MEN for the same period is 49.509.

Tell that to the next high and mighty male who tries to make you believe that men are SUPERIOR to women.

THIS same list reveals that sorority women get a trifle better grades than non-sorority women; whereas non-fraternity men get a trifle better grades than fraternity men.

Does this indicate that social distinctions are more demoralizing to men than to women?

GETTING back to the League of Women Voters, a Texas woman arose in the crowd and declared oratorically that her state "fought for state rights, and not to perpetuate slavery." Her outburst was greeted by a tolerant ripple of laughter.

Translated into words, this tolerant ripple of laughter meant: "Well, what of it? The war is over, slavery is abolished, the state rights theory is forgotten, and this country, instead of being split up into a vast number of LITTLE COUNTRIES, as in Europe, is ONE BIG COUNTRY, of which everybody is proud."

OPEN FORUM ON NORTH UMPQUA SUPER ROAD DISTRICT PROJECT

Salient Factors of Important Issue to Be Decided by Voters of Roseburg and Vicinity at the Primary Election to Be Held Friday, May 16.

MR. WESLEY WILLIAMS (Umpqua Valley Melon Grower)
Agricultural success dependent largely upon transportation and accessibility of markets.
Removal of transportation handicaps necessary for development of Umpqua valley agricultural resources.
Value of roads to development proven by increases in production, markets, land values and rents following Pacific highway and Coos Bay highway.

North Umpqua road would increase markets for produce at least tenfold.
Agriculture, in common with all other industries, is directly and primarily dependent on transportation and accessibility of markets, and its expansion follows surely and swiftly and in direct ratio to the providing of adequate facilities for the movement and disposal of its products.

The Umpqua valley is potentially one of the best commercial gardening districts of Oregon, and from the point of outstanding quality produce, is beyond question without an equal on the Pacific coast. For the Umpqua valley to

INDEPENDENT CHURCH WILL TRAIL SCHISM

Ousted Adventists Here to Organize and Worship Under Government of Their Own.

Meeting Set for Saturday Next; Tithes and Rules of Conduct Causes of the Split.

Organization of an independent congregation of the Seventh Day Adventist faith is planned by the ousted members of the local church, it was announced today. The "rebel" members, who were barred from the local congregation, through refusal to sign a three-page typewritten agreement bearing the rules of faith and practice, are calling a meeting of their own group and sympathizers for next Saturday, at which time it is planned to organize for worship. The meeting place has not yet been definitely decided.

Self-Rule Desired.
Declaring that the Seventh Day Adventist church, as originally formed, has no creed other than the Bible and no rules of faith and practice, the "rebellious faction" which was expelled for failure to obey the orders of church leaders with regard to tithes and numerous rules and regulations regarding personal beliefs and conduct, plans to set up a church based on congregational rather than conference control.

The new church, it is stated, while following the doctrine established by Ellen White, the declarer of the Seventh Day Adventist faith, will be bound by no rules other than its interpretation of biblical commands, and will conduct its own affairs without instructions from any conference.

EUGENE, Ore., May 1.—Ousting of several members of the Seventh Day Adventist church for alleged non-conformity with certain rules of the organization has resulted from what is termed by Elder T. B. Westbrook of Eugene, president of the Southern Oregon conference, as a "rebellion."

The difficulty has arisen at Roseburg where the ousted members are held to have declined to cooperate in observance of denominational requirements.

"There are certain rules for membership in this church," Elder Westbrook said Wednesday. "If persons do not wish to abide by these rules, they cannot expect to remain. The doors of the church swing both ways."

Elder Westbrook said that the "rebellious" group at Roseburg refused to pay the tithes of one-tenth of income as the church requires to carry on its known and approved program of work. The elder said that he understood but did not definitely know that the members who declined to comply with this rule were sending tithes to another organization.

WOMAN DRY CHIEF TO RACE RITCHIE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
BALTIMORE, May 1.—Mrs. Jesse W. Nicholson of Chevy Chase, Md., prohibition leader, plans to oppose Albert C. Ritchie, anti-prohibition figure, now nearing the close of his third term as governor, for the democratic nomination at the September primary.

Mrs. Nicholson yesterday received the endorsement of the united democratic law enforcement clubs of Maryland at a meeting here. Mrs. Clement L. Shaver, wife of the former chairman of the democratic national committee, was the chief speaker.

Militant Champion of Laboring Class Reaches 100th Birthday

Mother Jones, famous veteran labor leader and Amazonian heroine of many coal strikes, shown in a hospital at Washington, D. C., where she has been confined as an invalid, while looking forward anxiously to the big party which was planned for her 100th birthday anniversary on May 1. Mother Jones realized she was nearing the end of her hard but dramatic life but was determined to be on hand for the party.

By SUE MCNAMARA

SILVER SPRING, Maryland, May 1.—Mother Jones, lifelong fighter in the cause of labor, is today celebrating her one-hundredth birthday.

"She has reached the century mark in surroundings sharply contrasted with the turbulent life she has lived. At the country home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Burgess, where even a telephone call cannot reach her, the dauntless white-haired old lady now stays. Weeks ago she planned to hold her last levee and reception there."

Letters and telegrams have been pouring in on her for days from all parts of the country. Word of

BOY KILLS WOMAN; CLAIMS ACCIDENT

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
PORTLAND, Ore., May 1.—Dale Lawson, 16, employee of the George A. Dickinson farm near Inez, Ore., was returned to Dallas, Ore., today, to testify at a coroner's inquest held in connection with the alleged accidental death of Mrs. George A. Dickinson, 45, whose body was found in her farm home by her husband yesterday.

Young Lawson, who told authorities two different stories concerning the shooting, surrendered to police here about the same time they received a report that Mrs. Dickinson had been shot and killed. He said they forced him to drive them in the Dickinson automobile to Oregon City where he was abandoned and they fled.

Under close questioning the youth, who appeared at the police station to report a stolen automobile, changed his story and said the shooting of Mrs. Dickinson was accidental. He said he was cleaning a shotgun when the trigger caught on his trousers and discharged the weapon. Authorities said they believed Lawson was telling the truth.

Dickinson, the woman's husband, said Lawson was considered "one of the family" and that "if Dale did the shooting it must have been an accident."

Authorities said they were convinced the youth became frightened when he saw Mrs. Dickinson fall to the floor and concocted the robbery story in his fear.

MUSCLE SHOALS LEASING FAVORED

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, May 1.—The house military committee today approved the Reece plan to provide for the leasing of Muscle shoals to private corporations and made plans to seek early house action.

Representative Reece, republican Tennessee, said the measure would undoubtedly meet executive approval since it was along the lines suggested by President Hoover in his annual message to congress.

VETS BILL CALLS FOR HUGE OUTLAY

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, May 1.—Director Hines of the veterans bureau today estimated the minimum yearly cost of the veterans bill recently passed by the house at $181,040,650.

Hines, testifying before a senate sub-committee which took up the measure, said the maximum yearly cost would be $104,759,959.

HOOVER AIDES ALLEGED FOES OF PROHIBITION

Stayton, Wet Propagandist, Names 6 Cabinet Men, 4 Members of Law Inquiry Body.

Activity Denied by Adams and Lamont; Anderson Avers No New Plan of Enforcement.

WASHINGTON, May 1.—William H. Stayton, chairman of the board of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment, told the senate today that he thought six members of President Hoover's cabinet believed the prohibition law a failure.

He named them as secretaries Stimson, Davis, Lamont, Mellon, Brown and Adams.

Stayton also testified that four members of the Hoover law enforcement commission had told him they were "trying to work out some other plan for distribution of liquor than under the present law."

He said the members of the commission were Judge Kenyon, Dean Pound, Colonel Anderson and another, whom he said, he could not recall by name.

The witness gave this testimony after Chairman Caraway questioned him about a letter he wrote last February to Charles S. Wood of Philadelphia, which expressed the opinion that President Hoover "is beginning to doubt whether prohibition can be enforced."

Stayton said he drew this "inference" after appearing before the law enforcement commission at its request and after talking with senators and representatives.

He said the members of the commission asked him "many questions" concerning what might be substituted and that he offered a suggestion.

Pressed by Caraway to tell what the members of the commission told him Stayton replied:

"They said they were trying to work out some other plan for distribution of liquor other than under present law."

Stayton said after the committee adjourned the impression he received from members of the law enforcement commission was that they "did not believe the prohibition law was working and they wanted to find some substitute."

"I inferred," he added, "that they were dissatisfied with the distribution of liquor by bootleggers and thought some plan should be worked out for distribution under government restriction in an effort to improve present conditions."

Adams, Lamont Reply
Secretary of the Navy Adams said there was no justification whatsoever for Mr. Stayton's assertion that he had opposed the prohibition amendment. The secretary declined to elaborate on other phases of Mr. Stayton's remarks.

Commenting upon Mr. Stayton's statements, Secretary Lamont said he had not discussed the question of prohibition since entering the cabinet.

"There is no foundation for the statement," Mr. Lamont said, "except perhaps, that while a private citizen I was a member of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment. I resigned before joining the cabinet and have not discussed the subject since."

Hearney Via Letter
Chairman Caraway read a letter written by the witness on March 9, 1929 to Dr. John B. Forst, of Philadelphia. The letter said in part:

"As a matter of fact, six out of the ten men in Mr. Hoover's cabinet believe, personally, that prohibition is a failure."

FLYING STUDENTS KILLED IN CRASH

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
SAN ANTONIO, Texas, May 1.—Flying Cadets Raymond Rowe and Benjamin Ellsworth Tilton, Jr., school at Kelly field, were instantly killed yesterday when a bomber in which they were making a flight crashed southeast of Bandera.

The heavy plane was demolished but did not burn.

LUMBER COMPANY OF COOS BANKRUPT

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
PORTLAND, May 1.—Through Frank Heath, president, the Lawson Cypress Lumber company of Marshfield, today filed a voluntary bankruptcy petition in federal court here. Liabilities were listed at $55,786 and assets at $53,315.

Heath, the American Bank at Marshfield, P. W. Laird of Myrtle Point, and the Western Products company of San Francisco are the principal creditors listed.

THREE ADDED TO ROSEBURG SCHOOL STAFF

Kenneth Beach of Portland Succeeds Mackenzie as Teacher in Trades Department.

Paul Warren Fills Junior High History Position; Marjorie Chester to Teach English.

Kenneth Beach of Portland, Oregon, has been elected to continue the vocational training program now carried on by the Roseburg city schools in cooperation with the state board for vocational education. The courses offered for the past four years have proved very popular and a large number of students have received training that has enabled them to obtain trades jobs in Roseburg and elsewhere.

The courses have been so arranged that the part-time apprentice training course, called "local trades" in the senior high school and the shop courses in the junior high school have been carried on by the same instructor. This plan has greatly reduced the costs of instruction.

The "local trades" course is organized under the Smith-Hughes law and by offering training of a purely practical nature, the local school board has been able to secure state and federal money to pay a large portion of the instructor's salary.

The preparation for vocational training begins in the seventh grade and is carried on through the ninth grade. Courses in shop work, business practice and occupations prepare the student to make his choice of life work in the senior high school, where he chooses to follow a trade or industrial course are offered an opportunity to take jobs as apprentices on a half time basis. They are supervised on the job and guided, aided and instructed in school by the apprentice instructor and are enabled to learn their chosen trade. At the same time they carry on their regular academic work and may graduate in the regular period of time.

The graduates of the trades course are very acceptable to local employers and an extremely high record of actual permanent placement of graduates on jobs has proved the merit of the plan.

Mr. Beach was elected to continue

RIOTOUS STUDENTS CLASH WITH POLICE

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
PHILADELPHIA, May 1.—Hundreds of students of the University of Pennsylvania, after banging the effigies of two unpopular professors, clashed with the police early today with the result that the head of the police department himself was arrested and held in jail for a hearing.

So serious did the disturbance become on the campus and in the neighborhood of the university in West Philadelphia that extra police were rushed into the area and Leonard R. Schofield, director of the department of public safety, took personal command. In the roundup more than 200 alleged disorderly students were placed under arrest and taken to police stations. As fast as they were brought in most of them were released, but a score were held as leaders or for some infraction of the law.

When Schofield refused to permit the release of these students, he was arrested by a magistrate's constable charged with obstructing justice and held in $1500 bail. The director refused to recognize the "hearing" at which he was held in jail on the ground that he was not present, and finally he was released by Magistrate John J. O'Malley on his own recognizance for a hearing later today.

DR. TWITCHELL TO TAKE ADDED COURSE

Dr. J. C. Twitchell, president of the Roseburg General Hospital, is leaving tonight for Los Angeles, from which place he will go to New Orleans and New York to take post-graduate work. He plans to be absent for about three months. Dr. Twitchell, who is a specialist in heart diseases, states that he has been endeavoring for several months to get away for this course, but that the organization work at the hospital has prevented his departure.

The hospital now, however, is thoroughly organized, and local physicians are carrying on the work very efficiently, making it possible for him to take his long contemplated trip. Arrangements have been made whereby doctors on the hospital staff will carry on the activities of the hospital association.

LONGEST CIVIL WAR VET ALIVE

Lewis H. Easterly, 78, of Gunnison, Colo., is believed to be the youngest Civil War veteran alive. As a boy of nine years, Mr. Easterly marched to Kentucky from Illinois with General U. S. Grant.

PIONEER REUNION PLANNED AT GLIDE

Residents of the Glide district are making elaborate plans for a pioneer celebration to be held at Glide on May 10th, in honor of the few remaining pioneers and the pioneer descendants.

During the forenoon the school will participate in a May day program, mainly featuring health progress and education. The teachers have charge of the program, and Mrs. Ellen Post, county health nurse, will also be on the field.

At noon the large gymnasium at Glide will be converted into a banquet hall. It is hoped that all present will be seated and served at tables. Music and toasts will be served with many delicious dishes.

Many invitations have been sent to people who at one time resided in Glide and had an active part in the upbuilding of the splendid community. It is especially desired that all the old-timers of the Glide district will be present. So far the committee has only found 3 real pioneers left in the Glide district: Alfred Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cannon. It is hoped to find many others.

During the afternoon an interesting program will be given in honor of the pioneers, consisting of addresses, music, etc.

RAILROAD STOCKS TAKE BIG TUMBLES

NEW YORK, May 1.—The stock market went into another headlong decline today, under the influence of acute weakness in the railroad shares, more than a dozen of which sold at new low levels for the year or lower.

Losses of $2 to $6 a share were numerous in practically all groups of stocks, and a few extreme declines ran to $15. The liquidation of the rail issues reflects unfavorable earnings reports for the first quarter.

Speculation for the rise was resumed in the first hour, under the impetus of reductions in the discount rates of the Bank of England and the Bank of France and the prospect the New York Reserve bank may cut its rate.

Pere Marquette dropped $14 a share, and New York Central, Atchafalaya and Northern Pacific lost $6 a share or more. Missouri Pacific, Southern Pacific and Southern Railway declined about $3 to $4 a share in the industrials. J. I. Case was bid up $7.25 to $52.25, only to fall back to $52.00. U. S. Steel lost more than $4, sagging below $180. Eastman Kodak dropped about $7.

Sales approximated 4,400,000 shares.

ORDER MARKS MOST OF MAY DAY ACTIVITY

Clashes Attending Labor's Demonstrations on Two Continents Not of Serious Nature.

Arrests Occur in Various Cities but in General Situation Causes Little Trouble.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

Early May Day demonstrations, traditionally the occasions for radical organizations to let off steam, were held peacefully in most places throughout the world. Minor clashes occurred here and there.

In some cities communist manifestations were forbidden while in others the police field a tight rein on demonstrators.

In Paris police quickly suppressed three demonstrations, one in the city and two in suburbs, and arrested 223 persons on various charges. About 30,000 workers in the main industries were on strike and no taxicabs were operating. Some fighting developed in the suburb of St. Denis when police clashed with seven communist councilmen and 40 of their followers.

The day dawned in Berlin with no signs of impending disorder. Activities were confined principally to orderly parades and speeches. Fifty thousand communists assembled at one place but were quiet and good natured.

Police at Sydney, New South Wales, broke up a small May Day procession, arresting 17 persons.

Moscow on Fete

In Moscow, the seat of communism, it was a big day. The workers were on holiday, and parades and speeches were numerous in all parts of the soviet union.

A communist demonstration at Warsaw, Poland, was halted without difficulty, but socialists were permitted to hold meetings and processions.

Two policemen were injured in a riot near Tokyo. Police later arrested 200 known radicals for the day.

Vienna permitted orderly meetings under police supervision but demonstrations were forbidden in Hungary. Athens also prohibited meetings and more than 100 communist agitators were arrested. Bulgarian policemen were on the alert after the workers decided to cease activity. They arrested 140 communists for distributing literature but released most of them later.

Prague, the Czechoslovakian capital, permitted parades but tolerated no disorder.

In Mexico City communists were forbidden to demonstrate and a nationwide edict against liquor sales and pistol toting was put into effect.

The day was quiet in London. Unemployment marchers from Wales and Lancashire joined the usual May Day turnout on the Embankment.

No disorder was reported in the Turkish capital, Istanbul.

Several communists were arrested and a number injured in Liege, Belgium, after between 200 and 400 of them started marching toward a prison with the supposed intention of freeing one of their friends. Police and gendarmes

SENIOR CLASS GIRLS TO BE PARTY GUESTS

A very enjoyable affair planned for the girls of the senior class of the Roseburg high school is the May breakfast, which will be given on Saturday morning, May 3, at 9 o'clock by the A. A. U. W. The girls of the graduating class and their mothers and the class adviser, Miss Alice Celand, are to be the guests of the association.

Speakers at the affair will be Mrs. Laura Jessup, assistant dean of women at Oregon State college, and Mrs. Hazel Titman Scherling, dean of freshman women at the University of Oregon.

The committee in charge of the program consists of Mrs. Maurice Newland, chairman; Mrs. J. C. Leedy, Kothmann and Mrs. J. C. Leedy. Decorations are in charge of Mrs. Foster Butner.
