

SENATE CONTINUES BATTLE OVER CASE OF JUDGE PARKER

(Associated Press Special Wire)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—With republican leaders expecting a vote to be delayed until Monday, the senate today continued its debate over the nomination of Judge John S. Parker to the supreme court.

Unless a vote is taken tomorrow, Senator Watson, the republican leader, said the senate would adjourn until Monday. He expressed the view that Parker was gaining strength but would make no prediction on the outcome.

President Hoover was reported to be taking a hand in the contest. Several republicans charged as doubtful have been on the White House calling list recently and some of these were claimed to be for Parker.

Meanwhile, the furious debate continued with Senator Walsh, democratic, Montana, the assistant democratic leader, carrying the attack today's debate after Senator Herbert, republican, Rhode Island had spoken for the Parker cause.

Walsh said Parker had sought to "throw discredit on the democratic administration."

He said that to this end Parker lent himself toward the prosecution of a government war trust charge. Previous accusations that Judge Parker had withheld evidence favorable to the defendants in the case had been denied by his friends. It involved the United States Harrows company. Parker was government counsel in its prosecution in 1924.

ANTI-SALOON BODY TO STAGE PLAY AT ROSEBURG SCHOOL

A home talent drama, "Who Killed Earl Wright?" is to be presented at the junior high school auditorium May 19 under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon league, according to R. T. Cookingham, assistant superintendent of the league, who has been spending the past few days here arranging for the production.

The play is in the form of a court trial and there will be 26 members in the cast. The players have all been selected and rehearsals are to start immediately. Mr. Cookingham reports. It has been presented in Portland, The Dalles, Astoria Grove and several other Oregon cities and has met with much success, he reports.

The author of the play is George Hammond of New Orleans, Louisiana, who has written an annual essay case which he attended in which a young man was convicted of killing his best friend in a drunken brawl.

STORY 2

In many seasons, when the Roseburg area highway was blocked a further tremendous increase was noted. The amount that a highway user, as retail taxes and land values, occurred, those properties lying adjacent to these arteries in some cases increased several hundred per cent in value. Even those highways so far removed as the Astoria-Klamath Falls, the Medford-Crocker Lake and the Medford system witnessed the development of gardening in the Umpqua valley, although they were of secondary importance to the districts through which they passed and handicapped the Umpqua valley nearly a hundred miles in either direction.

Aside from all the other main-line advantages the North Umpqua highway will enable the grower of Umpqua county produce to compete in the profitable consuming territory of central and eastern Oregon on an even footing as regards distance with the other producing districts of western Oregon and those of the Columbia River. In recent times thousands of eastern Oregon consumers were deprived of produce available at less cost due to increased transportation expense. The motor truck, one of the most important factors in the movement of fresh fruit and vegetables, will find an easier pathway across the Cascade range and the North Umpqua than by any other route except the Columbia gorge, and one that is possible for more months of the year.

Less easily estimated but with out a doubt equally valuable is the demand for Douglas fir, redwood, spruce and hemlock products created at home by those who would use the highway for business or pleasure. From the building of the Pacific and Coast railway highways to the present time, fully half of the commercial garden produce, with the exception of perhaps two items, has been used in the home of those highways by the stores and restaurants. There is no reason to believe that the North Umpqua highway would not increase this consumption at least an additional third.

It can be stated without thought of question that there is no individual member of Douglas fir, redwood, spruce and hemlock products who cannot point out the advantage and profit that has come to him from the Pacific and Coast Bay highways. It also must be surely obvious to all that the construction of cross-state lines on either side of Douglas fir, redwood, spruce and hemlock products in what might be called a traffic eddy with a consequent lessening of the profits and advantages which we have hitherto enjoyed from our existing roads.

It therefore follows that continued progress will necessitate the tapping of a new source of funds to relieve the traffic eddy. The North Umpqua highway is the means with which to do this and every loyal son of the Umpqua valley should use every means within his power to insure its accomplishment.

and opposition to wearing of jewelry and the modern abbreviated feminine dress are not fundamental tests of fellowship in the church and the violation does not necessarily mean members will be ousted. The Roseburg members were in open rebellion against the church. We will be glad to take them back if they change their views," Elder Westbrook said.

Certain Rules Ink.

Jacob J. Juty, secretary-treasurer of the conference with headquarters here, has been ousted also. Elder Westbrook said that it was true that Secretary-Treasurer Juty was no longer either an officer or a member of the church and that he had left for Portland.

That there were no serious violations of rules or regulations behind the leaving of Juty is the contention of Elder Westbrook who said that there was simply a "lack of desire on his part to adhere to certain disciplinary rules of the church."

"Ouster" Disclaimed

"The whole church," Elder Westbrook said, "voted to disband in a meeting Saturday night and did so with the result that there was no Adventist church in Roseburg until the congregation reorganized Sunday night. In the reorganizing several former members of the church who had moved from the community and certain others who had openly denied the fundamental principles upon which the church is founded, were not included. There was no 'row' in the church and the matter is closed as far as we are concerned."

The six reported dropped from membership are said to have denied the fundamental principles of fulfillment of the prophesy in revelations.

Treasurer "Irregular"

Elder Westbrook said "The church has never put anyone out for non-payment of tithes or what is termed violation of the principles of health and dress reform, or support of the gospel work in other ways. These points have never been held a test of fellowship."

Dismissal of Jacob J. Juty as secretary-treasurer of the conference, with headquarters in Eugene, Oregon, was reported in his work, Elder Westbrook declared. Failure to comply with rules or principles of the church was not the reason for his dismissal, Westbrook added.

"Of course, they are not going to help us but it is rather heartening to feel that six of the ten leading men of our country, selected by a dry, are convinced that the dry law is a failure."

Stayton said he will "stand by" the letter.

He also said he had talked with Senators Tydings of Maryland and Hawes of Missouri, both wet democrats, and a number of representatives.

Mr. Beach graduated from O. S. C. in 1928 from the industrial arts department, and has been receiving additional training this year in the trades work in Portland.

Two Others Engaged

The election of Paul Warrick, graduate of Linfield college, as instructor in history at the junior high school and coach of junior high athletics, also announced by W. M. Campbell, city superintendent.

Mr. Warrick served in his history at Linfield college and in a four-semester in football, basketball and track.

Miss Marjorie Chester, a graduate of the University of Oregon, has been elected to teach sophomore English and Miss Laverne Trevell, also a graduate of the state university, has been chosen as junior English instructor. Miss Trevell has been teaching for the past three years at Lakewood.

DORAN PLANS NEW BOOTLEGGING PERIL

(Associated Press Special Wire)

WASHINGTON, May 1.—(Special Wire)—The state regarded as a source for converted alcohol, will be shut down after June 1 under orders passed today by Prohibition Commissioner Doran.

Doran ordered that effective June 1, all ethyl alcohol owned, controlled or on the premises of manufacturers of the product or transported therefor, should be denatured by adding one eighth of a gallon of a petroleum product known as coal ethylate to every 100 gallons of ethyl alcohol.

Bootleggers had obtained ethyl alcohol and, removing the alcohol, used the alcohol to make intoxicating drinks.

ROTARIANS HEAR 4-H CLUB LEADER

Charles Wharton and Oliver Johnson told Roseburg Rotarians about their respective businesses at the regular luncheon meeting today. The program of the meeting was in charge of the attendance committee which reported, in addition to giving the program, the fact that today's meeting was a 100 per cent attendance meeting.

J. Roland Parker, 4-H club director, was a guest at the meeting and told of the work of the 4-H club and explained how the marketing essays are to be judged. The judges are Carey Reedy, John Runyan and J. K. McClintock, members of the club.

The next meeting of the club will honor Mother's day, May 11, and wives and mothers are to be guests of the members. The meeting will be held at noon as usual.

Jones to remain in Washington last winter, believing she would be more comfortable than in an isolated farm home the little old lady said firmly: "Dammit, if you go off and leave me I'll take a taxi and follow you."

Mary Jones, as she was christened, was born in Canada. She first came into prominence in the anthracite coal strikes of 1900 and 1902. She helped organize marches of miners to collieries for the purpose of closing them down. She feared neither cops nor militia. The denunciation of capitalists who opposed union labor was scathing in the extreme.

Still Full of Fight

"Mother" Jones, denounced "capitalists" with all her old time vigor in a short speech today for the talking pictures.

Attired in a black silk dress with a lace collar, the woman whose name long has been linked with the cause of the laborer, sat on the front porch of her little house here and her voice rang as the cameramen ground away.

"Women have a great power in their hands if they know how to use it," she snapped. "But capitalists put them into women's clubs and try to make ladies of them. Nobody wants a lady; they want women! Ladies are parlor parasites."

Secretary of Labor Davis, Governor Ritchie of Maryland and Senator Borah had promised to see her during the day. A big birthday cake with 100 candles was presented by the Washington building trades council and people thronged to the frame house all day.

barred the way, the fight following.

Clash in Oakland

OAKLAND, Cal., May 1.—Thirty Oakland policemen personally directed by Chief of Police James T. Dwyer charged more than 50 men and women attempting to parade under communist banners here today and dispersed them. One unidentified parader, bleeding profusely, was carried away in the police patrol wagon.

The police had delivered a warning to communist headquarters that any parade attempted on an international labor day demonstration, would be stopped by police.

"It's too late now," said Sonia Baltum, secretary of the communists here, "we are going ahead with the parade." Another alleged communist, Sam Barham, out on bail pending investigation as to possible deportation, said, "We're going to fight if necessary."

As the leaders voiced their defiance the communists began to form, their lines moved forward and with banners reading "Down With Police Brutality" and "Join the Young Communist League" they proceeded toward the city hall until they reached Tenth and Franklin streets, where the police with drawn night sticks, charged at command of Chief Dwyer.
