Park With The Toes Turned In

When you stop on a hill park your car with the front wheels turned into and touching the curb. Then it will be there when you come out. Also put the gears in reverse, and set the brake. The illustration shows the right way and wrong way to park a Chevrolet sedan on a steep hill. Many accidents have resulted from parking the wrong way. The car may roll down hill and hit son etihng.

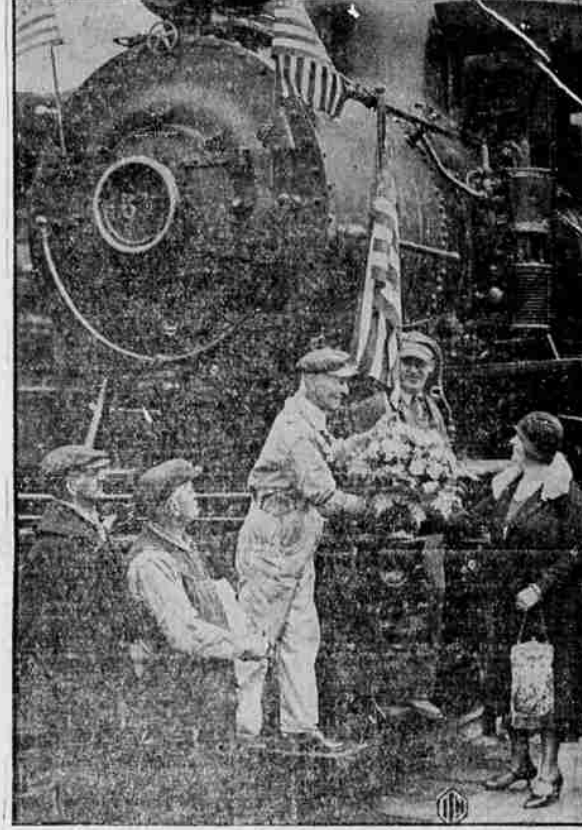

Click the front tires into the curb when you park on a hill. Put the car in reverse and set the brake. If you do these things, simple as can be, you will find your car where you left it. If you don't you may find it wrapped around a telegraph pole at the bottom of the hill. "Plain every day carelessness causes most of the trouble and most of the wrecks," E. W. Fuhr, regional manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, stated recently. "There seems to be no reason why a motor car should be allowed to slide downhill," the Chevrolet dealer continued. "If these simple precautions are taken the car will stay right where it is put. Even if it is struck from behind, it will only be forced across the sidewalk into a building, if the wheels are pointed that way. The damage caused is likely to be far less than if the car rolls down the hill gaining speed every second."

From Death House to City Jail

Four of the convicts awaiting death in the electric chair of the Ohio state penitentiary being removed from the penitentiary under heavy guard. They were placed in the city prison, bound hand and foot with heavy manacles. The men had been freed from their cells in the death house by rioting fellow prisoners in the state institution.

most of the ceremonies will take place. Bloody Ground Trodden—The pilgrims will tread ground probably more deeply soaked with human life blood than any other similar area on earth. Only Rome, it is safe to say, has seen more Christians massacred and martyred. And even Rome probably had not been the scene of as much fighting. Modern history contains no outstanding records concerning activities at Carthage. From 533 A. D. until the end of the seventh century its possession was handed about frequently. In view of these numerous wars it is not so hard to visualize the slaughter of 450,000 inhabitants of ancient Carthage in the six days which had marked Rome's final triumph in 146 B. C. The archaeological treasures of Carthage scarcely have been touched.

JASON LEE MISSION GROUND IS DEEDED TO WILLAMETTE U.

(Associated Press Leased Wire) SALEM, Ore., May 7.—Heirs of the late State Senator A. M. LaFollet of Salem have deeded to Willamette university a tract of between 63 and 10 acres of land on the east side of the Willamette river, 12 miles north of Salem, which is the site of the original mission of Jason Lee, pioneer Methodist missionary. In deeding the property the heirs have carried out a wish of Senator LaFollet, who had the deed prepared but did not get it executed before his death.

President Carl Gregg Doney of Willamette will select a rock of large size which will be conveyed by a county road crew and set up on the site of the original mission buildings as a permanent monument. The mission was established October 6, 1834. A public dedication of the memorial site is planned, June 15, the date on which the Jason Lee party crossed the crest of the Rocky mountains in 1834 and also the date of the settlement of the international boundary question affecting the Oregon country, has been suggested as an appropriate date for the dedication, but is Business Visitor—L. Like talking face-to-face

MANY telephone users find it practical to place inter-city calls by the "station-to-station" method, instead of specifying a particular person. It is also worth while to place out-of-town calls in the evening, when many of the charges are materially lower.
