MOTHER'S DAY REVERIES

W. TAYLOR COOPER
Fifty years and more, I walked day by day

With Mother as comrade along Life's Way.

'Twas in autumn time, at the evening tide,

The parting came and her path turned aside.

O'er Sunset Hills, to the Land of the Blest,

To the Home of the Soul, God, peace and rest.

Now, I find life's richest treasure has flown,

As I wend my way down the path alone.

But a mother's love and faith in her son,

He cannot forget while Life's race is run.

And it seems sometimes, in hours of distress,

Her presence is near, to comfort and bless.

Reaching out from that mystic, unknown land,

Comes the clasp of a loving, unseen hand.

Again, strength and peace my spirit enfold,

For Mother seems standing by, as of old.

Oh, heart of my heart, dear Mother of mine,

A heritage priceless, such love as thine.

As sacred, I cherish your trust in me,

God help me to ever keep! faith with thee.

When I, too, come to the turn of the Trail,

That leads away through Death's shadowy vale,

In that land I reach when the journey is o'er,

May I walk and talk with Mother once more.

Clintock, Mr. and Mrs. Storey Dies, and Mrs. Annie J. Russell

Mrs. Wilson, who is the secretary of the state fair board, is spending the week end in this city as the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Marsters.

THE master showmanship of Florenz Ziegfeld is brought to bear for the first time on the all-talking screen with the production of "Glorifying the American Girl" which comes to the Antlers theatre for two days beginning Sunday. Here is a picture in which Ziegfeld out-Ziegfelds himself in the magnitude and dazzling splendor of spectacle, beauty and gorgeous glorification.

Here are the stage's most beautiful girls—America's most splendid creatures, in a dazzling setting of music, dancing, singing, glorified under the personal supervision of the master impresario, Florenz Ziegfeld.

"Glorifying the American Girl" is the greatest girl and musical spectacle revue that the talking screen has ever brought to the millions of movie-goers—greatest because produced and supervised by the greatest combination in the amusement world today—Paramount Pictures and Florenz Ziegfeld.

Mary Eaton is the leading lady in the production. She was last seen and heard in "The Cocoanuts" with the four Marx brothers. A feature of the picture is the revue scene in which appear Eddie Cantor, Helen Morgan, and Rudy Vallee, each giving his own inimitable manner. They are three of the biggest personalities known to Broadway, the films and radio today.

"WEDDING RINGS," a really sophisticated drama of the screen, will be seen and heard at the Liberty theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

H. B. Warner and Lola Wilson, have the leading roles. They are the easy, modern type of lovers that talk audiences delight in seeing. Both have become more popular even than they were in the silent days because of fine voices and an excellent "microphone presence."
