OREGON ENTRY OF AUTO ASSOCIATION MEETS OPPOSITION

(Associated Press Local Wire)

SALEM, Ore., May 12.—Clare A. Lee, state insurance commissioner, who also has jurisdiction over automobile service clubs, has set May 26 for a hearing on the application of the Pacific Coast Automobile association for authority to operate in Oregon. The association's entrance into the state is being protested by the American Automobile association and numerous insurance concerns. The law gives the insurance commissioner no authority to call a hearing, but this can be done with the consent of the applicant, which has been granted. The Pacific Coast Automobile association has incorporated in Oregon, but is said to be affiliated with the Pacific Coast Automobile association of California. The protesters claim the applicant intends to do an insurance business in the state.

At present the American Automobile association is the only motor service club operating in Oregon, the Union Automobile club having withdrawn voluntarily.

RADIO PROGRAM HEARD

The Lions club radio program advertising Douglas county was tuned in on at the meeting of the Riversdale Grange in Garden valley last Saturday evening. The radio for the program was furnished through the courtesy of the J. O. Newland agency.

A very interesting and instructive talk on radio was given during the course of the evening by Andrew Weid, formerly of Klamath Falls, who is now connected with the Newland radio department.

Attractions AT THE MOVIES

ANTLERS—Today, "Glorifying the American Girl," music extravaganza produced by Florenz Ziegfeld; Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Charles King and Bessie Love in "Chasing Rainbows," all talking; Saturday, Richard Dix in "Lovin' the Ladies," all talking.

LIBERTY—Today and Tuesday, "Wedding Rings," all talking; with Lois Wilson, H. B. Warner, Olive Borden; Wednesday, Thursday, "Framed," with Evelyn Brent; Friday and Saturday, "Hard to Get," with Jack Oakie and Dorothy Mackall, all talking.

By G. C. ARR
A musical revue of a calibre one could never expect to see on the stage in the west is now in Roseburg in the form of "Glorifying the American Girl."

The picture features revue songs and musical numbers, with Mary Eaton, feminine star of "The Cocanuts," in the leading role. The popular stage and radio stars, Eddie Cantor, Rudy Vallee and Helen Morgan, all appear in specialty numbers which are of course good.

Ziegfeld's reputation for glorifying the American girl is certainly upheld in this picture which shows for the last time tonight.

RECORD CROWD AT COUNTRY CLUB'S GOLF CONTESTS

A record breaking crowd turned out yesterday for play on the course of the Roseburg Country club. The links were crowded all day, the attendance on the part of local players being the largest the club has ever secured. There were also many visitors, golfers being present from Denver, Colo., Portland, Marshfield, Medford, Albany and other places in Oregon. A handicap tournament was staged yesterday, the prizes going to the players with the low net scores after handicap deductions. First prize was won by A. J. L. Burns, second by Carl Black, third by Woodley Stephenson, fourth by W. O. Clinger, Fred Lockwood, Frank Prieb and J. M. Judd tied for fifth place.

Next Sunday is to be devoted to a membership drive, with A. A. Wilder in charge. Members are expected to bring friends who they believe will be prospects for the club. The visitors will not be required to pay the usual greens fees.

TURNER GOES EAST FOR BALL PLAYERS

PORTLAND, Ore., May 12.—Thomas I. Turner, president of the Portland baseball club, left here today for the east on a trip which he said probably would result in the purchase of some new ball players to bolster the Beavers' lineup, cellar position holders in the Pacific coast league. Turner refused to amplify his statement but intimated his sudden departure for the east was prompted by the showing Portland made

SAFEGUARDS URGED FOR STATE PRISON WON'T BE PUT IN

SALEM, Ore., May 12.—Although numerous recommendations to throw fire protection around the inmates and equipment of the Oregon penitentiary are made by deputies of the state fire marshal's office, their report declares that the prison will still remain obsolete, a declared life hazard and an alleged menace to the health and the morale of the prisoners. The prison was built in 1871.

George W. Stokes and E. A. Taylor made the inspection. It was ordered by Clare A. Lee, state fire marshal, following the prison holocaust at Columbus, Ohio.

Following are the recommendations in part:

That three pumps of not less than 1000 gallons per minute capacity be installed, one inside and two outside the walls.

That an automatic sprinkler system be installed in the flax plant, commissary, dining room, kitchen, hospital, basement, auditorium, first and second floor of chapel, carpenter shop and stock room.

That the present heating plant be replaced with a plant sufficient to heat all buildings, and that all stoves be removed.

That all wood ceiling partitions on the second floor of the chapel be removed and all wooden stairways be lined with metal lath and hard cement plaster. That metal frame, sash and wire glass be installed in all window exposures, and that standard fire doors be placed in fire walls.

That the motion picture booth be removed and a standard booth installed. That all overhead electric feeder wires be placed underground. That a fire brigade be organized and drilled at least once a week. That a water main be extended completely around the flax sheds, and other equipment be added to protect flax.
