TEETH SUFFER WHEN THE DIET LACKS VITAMINS

Menus Should Be Planned to Include Vitamins and Roughage

Dental authorities say that a child must have a balanced diet to insure proper development of the teeth. Furthermore, such a diet must be continued in adult life to maintain tooth structures already developed.

Vitamins "C" and "D" play an important part in promoting the health of teeth. Many familiar foods contain one of these vitamins. They are tomatoes, peas, leafy vegetables, yellow turnips; oranges, apples, raspberries, peaches; egg yolks, butter and whole milk.

The taste-appeal of many of these foods can be increased by the use of sugar. Put a dash of sugar to a pinch of salt in the vegetables as they cook. Sprinkle sugar on the fresh fruits or add it when stewing them. And of course, puddings made of eggs and milk need sugar for palatability.

In meal planning, jellies and jams should be included frequently. They are delicious accompaniments for meat as well as for bread. Their fruit content is also healthful. Good food promotes good health and teeth. The Sugar Institute.

CONGRESS UNDER DRY LEAGUE THUMB, WOMAN DECLARES

(Associated Press Special Wire)

WASHINGTON, May 21.—The charge that congress was to a "certain extent" under the control of the Anti-Saloon league was made in the house yesterday by Representative Mary T. Norton, democrat, New Jersey.

Mrs. Norton, a wet, in a prepared speech urged the house to "throw off the shadow of paid lobbyists" and consider prohibition "dispassionately."

"I have a great respect for my colleagues in this house," Mrs. Norton said, "and I feel certain many of you would like to be relieved of the unsavory label of the Anti-Saloon league, whose business transactions as disclosed by recent testimony before the senate lobby committee, conclusively proves this organization to be what we always have suspected it to be, an organization of clever men, who prey upon ignorance and prejudice for their personal gain."

A resolution which declared prohibition had a fair trial for the last 12 years, and had resulted in an increase of drunkenness and attendant evils was passed without discussion.
