Editorials on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS
WE read in the newspapers of a new pulp mill and wood products plant at Longview, in Washington. This new plant, it is stated, will cost in the neighborhood of $1,500,000.

So, you see, BIG MONEY isn't afraid of the future, so far, at least, as the industries of this part of the Pacific coast are concerned.

THE Longview News, telling of this new development, says: "Establishment of this wood conversion plant would be another outstanding move toward complete utilization of waste wood, in which lumber mills are vitally interested. For several years, the larger mills have endeavored to convert the full value of scrap wood into profit by manufacture of small by-products."

THE meat packers, you will remember, became prosperous when they learned how to convert all of the hog except the squeal into something useful which could be sold at a profit.

The lumber manufacturers will become MORE PROSPEROUS as they learn how to convert all of the wood which grows on their land, and which must be handled in the course of their operations, into something useful which they can sell at a profit.

This new plant at Longview indicates that they are moving in that direction.

NOTE THIS: This new wood by-products plant, involving a capital expenditure of $1,500,000, and holding out possibilities of large payrolls to provide jobs for more people, is to be located on DEEP WATER.

Reasonable proximity to deep water, with its assurance of lower freight rates to the markets of the world, is an important factor in the location of new industries, with their accompanying payrolls.

BUSINESS in this country, at the present moment, is in one of its periodic cycles of depression—which is a big worded way of saying that business has its ups and downs and that it is now in one of the DOWN periods.

That raises this question: How long will business STAY down?

HERE is an answer to that question, suggested by the economist of the National City bank, of New York, one of the biggest banks in the world:

"It will be seen upon examination of the records that at no time during the past 50 years (with the

Faced by severe public criticism of his conduct of the department and apparent failure of the police to cope with the gang rule of Chicago, the commissioner said he had prepared a statement offering his resignation to the mayor.

Commissioner Russell's retirement carried with it the demotion of John Stege, chief of the detective bureau, whom he assigned today to captaincy of the Irving park police district.

In submitting his resignation, Commissioner Russell, a close friend of Lingle, gave out the following statement: "I am resigning because I can't function here any longer and because I do not want to hamper the investigation. I thought I did a good job and I am ready to let someone else try."

"Deputy Stege (chief of detectives) is going to Irving park station so he will not hamper any investigation either."

MERCURY SOARS TO 95 HERE YESTERDAY

Yesterday, with but one exception, was the hottest day in Roseburg since July 26, 1928, according to E. H. Fletcher, local meteorologist. The mercury soared to 95 degrees yesterday, being the warmest day of the year and with the exception of August 10, last year, when the temperature of 98 degrees was recorded. It was the hottest day since July 26, 1928, when the thermometer went to 98 degrees. Yesterday's high mark, however, was followed by a stiff breeze, which brought a cool and comfortable evening to afford relief from the heat of the day.

STORMS IN TEXAS TAKE NINE LIVES

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
DALLAS, Tex., June 16.—Sudden storms over the week-end in the southwest took a toll of nine lives in Texas and caused damage in Oklahoma estimated unofficially at several hundred thousand dollars, chiefly to ripened wheat.

Mrs. Norris Durham, Lamesa, hostess at a supper party, and Mrs. Cora Whitaker, one of the guests, were killed and five others injured by lightning Saturday night. Oscar Tidwell of Gore, his wife, Oscar Jr., 8, Edna, 17, their daughter, and Mrs. Tidwell's mother, Mrs. W. M. Gilliland, 80, were drowned when a sudden freshet swept away their home on Lake Creek Saturday.

Lindsay Phillips, 15, of Kirven, was drowned Saturday when his automobile ran off a road into a swollen stream near Fairfield, and P. C. Loring was drowned when his automobile was swept from a stream crossing near San Angelo.

Scores of persons were driven from their homes at Wichita Falls yesterday by a rain which inundated several hundred acres of farm land, and a mile of the Fort Worth highway.

Rainfall which was almost a cloudburst near Uvalde south Texas, turned unnamed creeks into raging torrents that washed out several hundred feet of Southern Pacific right of way and disrupted train service.

EIGHT TOLEDOANS FEARED DROWNED

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
TOLEDO, Ohio, June 16.—A coast guard boat returned here today after an all night search for no word from eight Toledoans, including Charles H. Naus, collector of internal revenue, who are missing, following discovery of an empty speed boat in Lake Erie in which the party left Toledo Saturday.

Their speed boat, in which they set out Saturday for the annual Elk outing at Pelee Island was found drifting yesterday morning off Put-In-Bay Island. In it were three life preservers and a hat.

The men are Charles H. Naus, internal revenue collector for the Toledo district; Franklin B. Jones, former member of the Lucas county board of elections; Herbert Naus, an attorney and son of Charles; Arthur Kruse, president of the Kruse-Burns Mortuary company; Frank Miller, former city water commissioner; Henry Heinbuch, assistant county engineer; John Myers, pilot of their boat and John Hipcock.

TARIFF BILL SATISFACTORY TO PRESIDENT

Business Uneasiness Ends, Agriculture and Labor Receive Benefits, Hoover Says.

Flexible Provisions Permit Changing of Schedules When Required by Conditions.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
WASHINGTON, June 16.—President Hoover will sign the tariff bill.

He regards such action as essential to prompt business recovery. Any inequitable rates the measure may contain, he says, can be corrected through the new flexible provision.

With the return of normal conditions, he foresees a continued expansion of export trade. Foreign complaints against certain rates, he believes, can be satisfied through application to the tariff commission.

The chief executive sees in the flexible clause a much-needed "progressive advance," giving "great hope of taking the tariff away from politics, lobbying and log rolling."

He regards the bill, too, as the fulfillment of the republican party's pledge to protect the markets of agriculture and the wages of labor and of its own requests for a "limited" revision of the customs schedules.

All this Mr. Hoover made clear in a statement issued for publication today, which he bluntly asserted his intention of approving the bill and then proceeded to an analysis of its contents.

Political Battle Looms
Immediately the tariff took on the aspect of a major issue in the coming congressional elections, with the democrats and the independent republicans for the west arrayed against the administration.

It was learned the latter group, which failed in its effort to keep the export debenture plan in the bill, is preparing for an intensive campaign in the farming states and is counting upon Senator Borah as its principal speaker.

SLAYER OF PROHIBITION AGENT SURRENDERS

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
ALTURAS, Cal., June 16.—A first degree murder charge was expected to be placed today against Rodney Selby, 35, Indian Springs service station operator, who surrendered Saturday night after he had been sought since last Monday for the killing of Prohibition Agent Albert Brown and the wounding of Agent Robert Davis.

Selby gave himself up to C. J. Fulcher of Lookout, 50 miles southwest of here. His shoes were worn and he was near collapse from hunger and exhaustion. Selby declared he fired at Brown in self-defense after the agent had shot first.

The shooting occurred when the agents sought to arrest Selby on a charge of selling liquor.

SCHOOL ELECTION DRAWS BIG VOTE

Roseburg's annual school election was started this afternoon at 2 o'clock with every indication of a very heavy vote, due to the intense interest and feeling surrounding the recall vote. A great many voters were present when the polls opened, and a constant string of them immediately began keeping the board extremely busy.

A vote is being taken upon the matter of recalling Directors G. C. Finlay and B. R. Shoemaker, while two candidates are to be chosen to fill the vacancies made by the expiration of the terms of Directors V. T. Jackson and B. S. Nichols. Four candidates are seeking the two offices, Ralph L. Russell, John E. Flury, W. F. Harris and Horace Berg.

The vote is being taken at the junior high school building, and the polls remain open until 7 o'clock this evening.

Any person over the age of 21 years who has been a resident of the school district for 30 days is privileged to vote. It is not necessary to be a property owner, nor is it necessary to be registered.

ROSEBURG CENSUS TO BE CORRECTED

The error detected recently by the News-Review in Roseburg's 1920 census has been called to the attention of the chief supervisor of the census, and proper corrections are to be made in official reports, showing Roseburg with an increase in population instead of a decrease, according to information received this morning from Joseph H. Koke, district supervisor.

In checking over the census figures recently, the News-Review discovered that in 1920 Parrott precinct had been included in the city totals, which should not have been done, as the precinct is located outside the city limits. This error was called to the attention of Mr. Koke by telephone, and he agreed to immediately take the matter up with the proper officials.

He advises the News-Review today that the error was reported and that he has been advised that the inclusion of Parrott precinct in the city's total 10 years ago was incorrect. In the future comparative figures to be issued covering the 1930 census, Roseburg's corrected total for 1920 will be used instead of the former figures, which will give the city credit for a gain in population instead of a loss.

"I congratulate you and the people of Roseburg upon the fact that you have shown an increase in the face of the many misfortunes which have befallen you in the last few years," Mr. Koke writes to the News-Review. "I also wish to thank you for calling our attention to this matter."

JOURNEY TO COAST POINTS DATED FRIDAY

Terminal Opportunities of Reedsport and Coos Bay Will Be Studied by the Visitors.

Harmony of Interests and Necessity for Keeping Pace With Rest of State Stressed.

A correlation of interests to develop the central southern Oregon empire is the purpose of the caravan to be sponsored Friday by the Roseburg chamber of commerce. More than 50 men and women from various sections of the county are expected to make the trip to Reedsport and Coos Bay to study harbor conditions and to harmonize interest in the various individual projects now being undertaken. It is felt that there is a close relationship between the major road projects of Douglas county and the port development of the lower Umpqua and Coos bay regions, so that by a unity of effort it may be possible to secure a very great expansion of shipping and transportation facilities in the near future.

In order that there may be a better understanding between the various communities, the Roseburg caravan will make a thorough study of the two ports which are tributary to this city, and will, at the same time, endeavor to interest the coast sections in the importance of the North Umpqua and Tillamook road projects, as factors in the development of greater business for the port.

The caravan is to leave Roseburg at 7 a. m. Friday morning and will go to Reedsport by way of the Dodge canyon road, arriving probably about 9:30 o'clock. The county court is arranging to have the road in shape so that it should be possible to make good time.

The Reedsport chamber of commerce has arranged to have boats ready for the Roseburg visitors, and trips will be made around the harbor and possibly over the bar, so that a first-hand study of present facilities may be made and knowledge secured regarding future needs and plans for development of a first class, deep-water harbor at the mouth of the Umpqua. The Umpqua harbor is, of course, of first importance to the people of Douglas county, as it is located within the county and is directly tributary to the entire Umpqua valley.

Following the inspection of the harbor, the delegation will meet with the Reedsport chamber at a luncheon, where short talks will be made regarding the various projects in which each section is interested.

From Reedsport the caravan will go to North Bend and Marshfield where a similar trip will be provided to inspect Coos bay. Dinner

NOTABLE PUBLIC CAREER IN OREGON ENDED BY DEATH

NOTED SPORTSMAN WILL RESIDE HERE

Captain Frank Winch, internationally known sportsman, who has been spending the past week in this vicinity, announced today that he plans to locate in the Umpqua valley and will soon establish a home near Roseburg, where he can devote his entire time to his writings. Captain Winch is one of the most noted authors and lecturers in the world on sports matters, and is a prominent figure in the fish and game conservation activities of the country. He has for many years been engaged in lecturing as well as writing, but plans to give up much of his lecture work to devote himself almost entirely to fishing and writing.

He came to Roseburg last year, not intending to stop here, but through the chamber of commerce was brought in contact with E. R. Thurber, state traffic officer, and John Ewall prominent local sportsman, who induced him to stop for a trip up the North Umpqua. He was so delighted with the stream

Work as Janitor Helped to Pay for Geo. W. Joseph's Early Education; Long Prominent in State Politics

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
PORTLAND, Ore., June 16.—George W. Joseph, republican nominee for governor of Oregon, who died today at Camp Clatsop, was born in a sawmill settlement on the banks of Joseph creek, Modoc county, California, May 10, 1872, the son of Edward Worthington and Delilah Jane Heath Joseph. His mother's father was the Rev. George W. Heath, pioneer Methodist.

When four years old, Joseph was taken by his family to the Chewaucan valley, Lake county, Oregon. Some time later the family moved to Nevada. With his mother, four sisters and two brothers, Joseph at the age of 10, went to Michigan Bay, Calif., where he received his first schooling.

A year or so later the family returned to Modoc county and the boy obtained a job herding sheep. He attended the public schools at Lakeview, and graduated from high school in 1889. To help pay for his education he worked as janitor in the school.

County Judge W. A. Wilsbire of Lake county encouraged young Joseph to study law. The boy did tasks around the judge's home in return for board and room and legal instruction.

In the early 90's Joseph came to Portland and continued his legal studies. He was admitted to the Death Due to Heart Blood Clot, Announcement of Attending Doctors at Clatsop.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
CAMP CLATSOP, Ore., June 16.—Senator George W. Joseph, republican nominee for governor, died at 8:45 a. m. here today on the drill field of the Oregon National Guard encampment. He was talking with Major General George A. White when a heart attack seized him.

The two were laughing and telling jokes when Joseph sank to the ground.

Lieutenant Col. Scott, medical officer, examined Senator Joseph and found that death had been instantaneous.

Mr. Joseph yesterday met with the Clatsop county republican central committee. At 8 a. m. today he came to Clatsop to view the camp. After breakfasting with General White and his staff he went with the officers to review the 162d regiment.

He would be unable to attend the major camp review, he told General White, and wanted at least to see the one regiment on parade.

His death, without any warning, followed.

Also with General White and
