TODAY'S MARKETS

(Associated Press Special Wire)

PORTLAND, June 28.—Tone of the Portland butter and egg trade was marked by a steady decline in wholesale prices on both, however, remained unchanged.

Butter, cream, heavy, in some quarters but were being moved readily. Premiums were being asked on top grades.

Strengthened egg demand was evident in free movement of flocks.

Several price-declines were registered on the wholesale fruit and vegetable market today, owing to increasing supplies and continued cool weather. Cantaloupes and watermelons were both lower, and slow movement is reported in the absence of hot weather. Local truck crops are in heavy supply, and as well as the early farmers' market on Belmont street, lettuce, cabbage, beans, spinach, and the named vegetables all displayed weaker tendencies.

Local cherries, Royal Anns, Bings etc., of good quality but generally medium sizes, are selling as low as 60c per lb.

Alfalfa, clover, and timothy are in lower prices for California stock, states the Oregonian.

Watermelons have probably established an all-time record for heavy shipments, with total United States loadings of 2,400 cars yesterday, and nearly 7,000 cars already this week. Most of the volume is from Georgia and Florida.
