TODAY'S MARKETS

Loganberries Higher

PORTLAND, July 18.—Following the cent rise of Thursday, the butter market held steady today, with top grades of apples, which firm with the demand reported good. De-scrips are in fair volume.

Supplies of loganberries are very light, and growers' contracts have been made up of these; consequently,

active home-canning demands have resulted in sharp price advances to

$1.25 per 15-lb. crate, compared with

$1.00 a few days ago.

Canvassers from the berries are also in light supply, and prices are up a bit, to 75c per box.

Early Crawford peaches from California—the first, freestone of the season—are now being distributed

at $1.50 per 15-lb. box, to 75c

tailers.

Tomatoes are steady. Fancy outdoor tomatoes from Walla Walla

are topping the market by a wide margin, and are supplying hotel-

house stock.

POEM FOR THE DAY

By LOUIS ALBERT BANKS

LOOK FOR THE GOOD

This morning my wife, Florence Alken Banks, called to me from her study. "Come and see what a good friend our enemy is!" She led me to her window and there on the window ledge, between the window and the screen, lay one dead wasp and thirteen dead squash bugs.

The wasps have a way of hanging around our bird bath and we have not appreciated them.

We opened the next window to see if squash bugs had been crawling in and found none there. It was evident that the wasp had been dragging them in where he killed them and left their little skeletons to tell the tale. After all, the wasp had his share in our protection.

Mrs. Banks remarked, "And how we abuse the poor fellow—all because he carries his weapons of warfare around with him! There's so much of good in the worst of us, and so much of bad in the best of us, that it doesn't behoove any of us to make fun of the rest of us!"

—June 27, 1930.

I've pondered on my lady's find

And many thoughts have come to mind.

This thinking others only bad

Becomes with us a careless fad.

Thew asp's a uniformed police;

Where he's on guard, our fruits increase;

He feeds on most destructive bugs—

The insect bandits, garden thugs.

Think how the wasp's misunderstood,

Receives no credit for his good;

And though he is our constant friend

We quite resent his stinging end.

A gay patrolman on his beat—

No wonder he will fight with heat

When'er we try to do him harm,

Are blind to all his working charm!

Methinks that for the world of men

There's wisdom here that we should ken:

How often we but see men's faults

And o'er their good our vision vaults!

In all their wealth we see no use;

They're only targets for abuse.

If we would look with kindly eyes,

We'd see in each where treasure lies.

And yet the wasp is far too quick
