OUTDOOR BOYS TO END CAMP SUNDAY

The one-week summer camp for Outdoor Boys, of the ages from 9 to 11 years, being held in connection with the Boy Scout camp at Wolf creek, comes to an end Sunday, and the eight boys in the camp will return to their homes in Roseburg. The boys have a separate camp from the scouts and neither group is allowed in the other's camp.

Tuesday the boys were taken on a hike to Wolf Creek falls by Rex Applegate, a senior scout. They were taken to Greenman creek Wednesday by E. A. Britton, and on an overnight hike to Emille creek Thursday by Gordon Applegate. Friday they went to Sampson creek falls with Rex Applegate in charge. Last night the boys staged a circus following their return from the hike.

There are 28 boys in the second scout camp, which has been in progress for the past week. The scouts have three patrols and are working on tests, the patrol passing the most tests to receive a packer of ice cream Saturday. The boys will take a series of short hikes next week. Bill Black, with his harmonica, is the popular entertainer for the camp.

Mutt court convened last night and three courts were assigned to labor details and 5 took a plunge in the "bathtub" for minor infractions of camp rules. The scouts have their own officers and hold their own court.

The Campfire Girls will Zaké over the camp Monday, July 28 for two weeks, the scout equipment being left for their use. The scout camp will be followed by a two weeks' hike for scouts up the North Umpqua to Diamond lake and return by way of the South Umpqua.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS SEEKING 20 COTS

The Camp Fire girls, who go camping on July 28 at Wolf creek, will have to demonstrate their ability of sleeping on the cold, cruel ground unless some one responds to this call for 20 camp cots.

The supply of cots at camp has been dwindling every year, but as the scouts plan to build bunka next year, it was not held feasible to buy any more camp cots for just this year.

Any Camp Fire girl who can bring her own cot, or any one else who has a cot to lend or to rent is asked to phone Miss Dorothy Arundel at once, so that she can cots immediately just how many cots can be had.
