SIX DIE WHEN EXPLOSION DESTROYS PLANE

Editorials on the Day's News

By FRANK JENKINS THREE sitting contests, we learn through the medium of the front page, are the very latest craze.

IF you are a boy, what do you do with your leisure time? If you are a parent, what does YOUR BOY do with his leisure time?

HERE is a saying that is very, very old: "Satan will find some mischief for idle hands to do."

UNIVERSITY towns are full of young people who have no time to sit up in trees and watch the hours go by until a new record has been established.

BUT don't pity these young people who are earning their way through school. They are FORTUNATE. They are getting an education because they want it.

CLUB'S SURVIVOR DRINKS LAST TOAST

STILLWATER, Minn., July 21.—Thirty-three vacant chairs, draped in black, stood as silent sentinels around a banquet table today, witnesses that Charley Lockwood carry out the covenant of the Last Man's club.

Lockwood, 57 years old, is the last man and today the club's only member required of him what he considered the hardest task of his life, the dramatic labor of drinking a toast to 33 Civil war comrades who died before him and left him with the honor he has found empty.

Lockwood and his fellows were survivors of Company B, First Minnesota Volunteer Infantry, and today's weird banquet like those each year before was on the anniversary of the first battle of Bull Run in which the company's losses were exceeded only by those at Gettysburg.

THREE TITLED BRITONS ON DEATH LIST

Viscountess Ednam Ward, Marquis of Dufferin, Sir Edward Ward Are Victims.

Lieut. Colonel Henderson, Pilot of Machine, Also Killed; Craft Torn Into Pieces.

(Associated Press London Wire) MEOPHAM, Kent, England, July 21.—Six persons, including three titled Britishers, were killed when a Junkers passenger airplane exploded over this hamlet this afternoon.

The victims, blown from the cabin, fell in a heap in a cottage orchard. The force of the blast carried pieces of the plane two miles from the scene, aided by the terrific speed of the "air taxi" which was bound for the Gouquet, France, to Crocydon. The identified victims were: The Marquis of Dufferin and Ava, 42.

Viscountess Ednam, wife of William Humble Eric Ward, daughter-in-law of the Earl of Dudley. Sir Edward Ward, 48, prominent figure in the World war. Mrs. Henrietta Loffler of 51 Grosvenor Square, Mayfair.

Lieutenant Colonel George L. P. Henderson, principal of the Henderson flying school and pilot of the plane. Plane Torn Apart. Sir Edward was a leader in measures taken by the British for the comfort of American troops in the war.

Witnesses said there was a terrific roar. The wings separated from the cabin and the fuselage, containing the passengers, fell straight down while other parts of the machine floated off some distance. One wing came to earth two miles from the scene of the crash.

The second pilot, whose name was believed to be Shearing, was one of the victims.

BARRETT INQUEST DUE THIS EVENING

The inquest into the death of Urban Barrett, killed last week by his farming partner, J. W. Hamm, will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the courthouse. Several witnesses are to be called in an effort to determine what degree of responsibility shall be placed against Hamm for the killing.

A reservation was accepted. It was offered by Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, and stipulated that in ratifying the treaty the senate did not approve any secret agreement or understanding which might exist relating to the pact.

A reservation to permit the United States to construct either eight inch or six inch cruisers without regard to limitations in the treaty was rejected, 57 to 8.

The treaty still must be ratified by Great Britain and Japan before it becomes effective.

The electrocution occurred when a wire the five were holding for the aerial came in contact with a 11,000-volt transmission line of the San Joaquin Light and Power corporation.

The dead: Mrs. J. R. Gaffery, Jean Gaffery, her niece; injured, Allan Gaffery, 19, the dead woman's nephew; J. W. Gaffery, her son; Eileen Gaffery, her niece.

There was a large turnout of Alaska and Yukon sourdoughs yesterday for the picnic held at 33rd street park. A delicious basket dinner was served at noon, followed by a general social time in the afternoon.

The commission received this information today in a letter from Guy W. Talbot, president of the Northwestern.
