A. F. Edwards, pioneer moving picture man of this vicinity, passed away at the Psychopathic hospital in Salem July 16, following his second paralytic stroke. Interment was in the Pleasant Hill cemetery Monday. Mr. Edwards was 55 years of age. He is survived by his wife and two brothers.

Owing to fire hazard, Ranger Durbin of Gardiner has served notice that no one will be allowed in the Three-mile region on the north side of the Umpqua until the fall rains begin. He has had a crew of 20 men and 3 pumps on the fire which broke out there last week, caused, he thinks, by careless smokers.

F. I. Tappendorff, representing East & Russell of Portland came to ReedSPORT this week to engage a crew to cut out 55,000 cords of pulp wood for the paper mills on the Willamette river. Work will begin as soon as arrangements are complete on the Warren Reed tract at Winchester Bay, 50 men being employed.

Mrs. Nora Tucker took her son, Charles, to Eugene Tuesday for medical examination. He had an attack of mumps last winter, and his present sickness had been pronounced tuberculosis resulting from the mumps. Three physicians in consultation have disagreed with this opinion. There is no hope given for the child's recovery. He is 13 years of age, and his mother's home is in Gardiner.

Misses Barbara and Helen Steinhilch left Friday for an extended trip through California and middle western states.

While the valley has been sweetening lower Umpqua remains cool and comfortable. Afternoon winds have annoyed some people who are looking for paradise, but most spend their time being thankful for low temperatures.
