U. S. Fighting Shark Sails in Massachusetts Waters

As Uncle Sam's new fighting shark, the new navy submarine V-5, took its first swim at Provincetown, Mass., it was hailed as the safest craft afloat. It is 571 feet long, 35 feet beam, with a 16-foot draft and has three escape hatches through which several men may escape in emergency (upper) Commander J. H. Brown and some of his crew.

The foreign markets are generally passing through the period of mid-summer dullness. The Liverpool East India sales recorded a record decline in value over the cause of the preceding series of 19 per cent.

Mohair still is rather slow. Some demand for low quality hair around 36 cents is reported.
