

TWO UNION HEADS SHOT TO DEATH IN BUILDING WARFARE

(Associated Press Local Wire)
CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Bernard Rubery, known to police as a mysterious power in the Chicago journeymen plumbers' union, died today from bullet wounds suffered late yesterday at the time his union superior, Chas. Mulcahy, was killed.

Mulcahy, nationally known labor figure and business agent of the plumbers' union, had gone with Rubery to the site of the new Lane technical high school, ostensibly to call a strike because of the failure of a plumbing contracting company to discharge its superintendent, Charles Courchene, from the high school job.

Police are seeking Courchene and Charles A. Stein, son of Carl Stein, who heads the contracting company employing Courchene.

The elder Stein, chairman of the arbitration committee of the Building Construction Employers' association, told police Mulcahy and Rubery came to his loop office yesterday and demanded that Courchene be discharged. Stein said he refused to do this and that Mulcahy then threatened to call a strike on the construction job. The younger Stein then went to notify Courchene.

Shooting Not Seen
No one at the construction site saw the shooting. One workman said he saw the union leaders enter Courchene's office and that ten minutes or so later he heard shots. The workman said he went to the office and saw Rubery lying outside, bleeding from wounds in the stomach. He found Mulcahy inside, dying.

A youth at a barbecue stand nearby heard the shooting and said he saw Rubery stagger from the office. Two men ran from the office, the youth said, and drove away.

Rubery, a hospital, refused to say who did the shooting.
The Stein company head told police that Mulcahy had once threatened to kill Courchene during the construction of the Stevens hotel.

Police could offer no reason for enmity between Courchene and Mulcahy, but said the plumbers' union had often used "strong arm" methods to intimidate plumbing firms.

Orfit Complained of Alderman Arthur F. Albert and Edgar Cook, counsel for the plumbers' union, said that Mulcahy had a reputation as "one of the few honest labor leaders in Chicago" and that Mulcahy and Rubery had complained to State's Attorney John A. Swanson several weeks ago of graft in the water pipe extension bureau of the city.

Police Capt. Max Danner, in charge of the investigation, said he had learned that Mulcahy and Rubery at one time had tied up $700,000 in construction work by strikers after a dispute with the steamfitters' union.

ROTARIANS HEAR OF 4-H CLUB ACTIVITY

Dave Busenbark, as chairman of the program for the Rotary club, today presented Roland Parker and a 4-H club program. Mr. Parker spoke to the club of the work of the clubs and urged the club's support be given to the idea of progressive club work within the city. Mr. Parker introduced Rae and Ruthelma Dougherty, of Yoncalla. These versatile young ladies rendered a violin and piano duet and also a piano duet. Ruthelma then spoke to the club telling of the club work in Yoncalla and Rae told the club of her trip to Corvallis this summer for the summer course for 4-H club workers at the O. A. C.

Ruben Masters spoke briefly to the club lauding the work of the 4-H clubs and bringing home the fact that parents should make a greater effort to interest their children in doing constructive things.

CITY SCHOOLS WILL OPEN SEPTEMBER 15

W. M. Campbell, city superintendent of schools, and P. L. Jensen and Clyde Beard, principals of the senior and junior high schools, have opened their offices in the high school buildings and are busy preparing for the opening of the city schools September 15. The schedules for the two high schools are being made up and registration is to start the week of September 8. A number of changes are being made in the faculty personnel this year, so that organization work for the fall term is demanding considerable attention.

WESTERN STATES EXHIBIT WILL BE HELD IN SALEM DURING 1931 STATE FAIR

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 19.—(Special) More than 100,000 people who never before have been in the state of Oregon are expected to attend the Western States exhibit at the 1931 state fair here next year, according to D. M. Lowe of Ashland, who is in charge of the Oregon exhibit at the California state fair in Sacramento, August 31 to September 7.

Oregon day at the event is scheduled for September 5.

The Western States exhibit was originated at the diamond anniversary of the California state fair last year, and will come to Oregon in 1931 in connection with the 70th anniversary of this state's annual exposition. Oregon is represented by eight booths at the southern event this year. Mr. Lowe revealed, each booth symbolic of one special industry or a particular district of this state. Other states represented at the Sacramento exposition include Washington, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Wyoming, Colorado, Nevada, New Mexico, Arizona and California, in addition to Mexico, Alaska and the Hawaiian Islands.

Pictures of the Oregon booths are to be shown throughout the United States during the fall and winter, Mr. Lowe stated, with several large eastern cities already definitely on the itinerary.

"The success of this undertaking has been financed by the Oregon State Fair board, and to that body should be given every praise for the largest advertising campaign of Oregon and its resources ever undertaken," Mr. Lowe declared.

fairs of the department from a deficit into a surplus.

Multnomah Club Rapped
The governor raps the "organized card" of Oregon sportsmen, particularly the Multnomah Anglers and Hunters club.

"By far the greatest voice in both approval and disapproval of the commission in dismissing Clifford and Clark has come from the organized minority," he says. "Past experience has demonstrated that the majority of the troubles of the game commission has emanated from Multnomah county, and principally all from the members of the Multnomah Anglers and Hunters club. So far as I know the history of this state no game warden has ever been able to please the various factions of this club and I doubt whether one will ever be able to do so."

"I did something no governor has ever done before when, at the time of Commissioner Miller's term expired, I offered to appoint one of a list of five to be suggested by the sportsmen of Multnomah county, that county being entitled to the commissionership. I soon discovered that I made a mistake because the gathering from which the list of five was named turned out to be purely a political affair. However, I kept faith and appointed one of the list of five as a member of the commission."

Senator Eddy Heard
Among the prominent men who called at the executive department yesterday in connection with the controversy was Senator B. L. Eddy of Roseburg.

Senator Eddy told newspapermen that while the sportsmen of Douglas county apparently had not taken any active part in the controversy, there was a feeling there that the governor should support the game commission. Eddy made it plain that this statement did not mean that Clifford was without friends among the sportsmen in Douglas county.

It was pointed out that in case Governor Norblad desired to reconstitute Clifford as state game warden it would be necessary for him to remove at least one of the three members of the game commission who voted for his removal.

The Islander, 48-foot vessel, owned by Lieut. Colonel John N. Diggle, of the royal yacht squadron, went to pieces on the jagged coast under bluffs which, at the point of the disaster, rise to a height of from 50 to 200 feet.

Guardsmen See Tragedy
Two coast guardsmen bravely descended the face of the overhanging cliff and reported they distinctly heard the screaming of a woman, apparently imprisoned in the cabin.

The first actual sight of human life aboard the yacht was obtained when the coast guards, who were still trying to reach the vessel, saw a man dive off the deck and attempt to swim for the shore.

The savage seas were too much for him, however, throwing him back repeatedly. Eventually the swimmer gave up the struggle.

sank and was seen no more. The yacht then became a total wreck.

Victims Identified
LONDON, Aug. 21.—Confirmation that Commodore H. D. King, member of parliament, was aboard the wrecked yacht Islander was obtained by the central office of the conservative party this afternoon from the commodore's solicitors. The central office issued the following statement:

"We have heard from Commodore King's solicitors that he was on board the yacht Islander. His friends on the yacht, we understand, were Commander Searle of Berwick on Tweed, A. R. Brailley of Dumfries, Essex, and Captain Glazebrook of Bishop, Stortford. It also is believed one of Commodore King's daughters was on board."

(Except for Commodore King, none of those mentioned in this statement is a member of parliament.)

Brailley has the title of surgeon captain. He has been a medical officer of H. M. S. President, which is a naval training vessel for London boys. He is an honorary surgeon to King George and during the war was consulting ophthalmic surgeon to the royal air force.
