ARGENTINE REGIME BRACED FOR UPRIISING

Editorials on the Day's News

By GLENN RADABAUGH
If you are one of the many who are prone these days to stand in public places and shout about hard times consider this news item which appeared in the press yesterday: The Babson organization, credited with being one of the largest concerns in the world whose business is to watch business, has just issued a bulletin to its clients which for the first time since the stock market crash last fall is optimistic in tone. Clients are urged to again buy stocks and securities.

THE Babson agency accurately foretold the great stock crisis of last year. With its systematic and reliable method of gathering financial data this firm is able to predict both hard times and good times. And now Babson says good times are coming and advises new investments. Maybe, after all, things are not so bad.

DOWN in the fruit centers of California, where this writer recently visited, growers are faced with the same or even worse discouraging predicament which Douglas county agriculturists are now encountering. They have carefully tended their crops, fought insects and elements. They have produced a big crop—a bumper yield. With a few exceptions they now realize that much of their effort has been in vain—that the market will not absorb their produce.

ONE farmer in Tulare county has a peach orchard of 160 acres. He is not even going to attempt to harvest the fruit, because he knows that the price he will get for them will not pay for the harvesting. Others are following the same course. Pomegranates by the acre will be left to fall on the ground. Other products will have the same end.

YOU would think these California fruit men would sit back and howl about the way things have come to the canines, but not so! They are already looking forward to next summer and fall, when, by the law of averages, they may reasonably expect good markets. The chances are nine to one that they are right. The same thing will be true in the Umpqua valley. Insofar as possible we of this wonderful section should stand with heads high above the present pessimism in order to get a glimpse of the more prosperous times that must surely follow.

YOU have read, with a pang of sorrow, no doubt, of the death of Lon Chaney—the man of a thousand faces. He died in the prime of life, just as he was reaching the pinnacle of his remarkable career. It is always with deep regret that we human beings learn of the passing of one of our kind, who has, by his own efforts, raised himself above the common run. Born of deaf and dumb parents, struggling against heart-breaking odds, Lon Chaney made a name for himself. This he did without transgressing the rights or retarding the progress of others. When we read of him that "it was his love for his mother more than anything else that gave Lon Chaney a notable career" we have just cause to pay this man our homage.

NEXT Monday is Labor day. Throughout the nation the holiday will bring a toll of death. Reckless driving, poison liquor, drownings, firearms—all these agencies will combine to exact lives of scores of young and old. Here's a suggestion about driving

Glide Grange Protests Copco Plan

COMPLAINT FORWARDED TO NORBLAD

Proposed Dams Mean Peril to Farms and Expensive Road Change, Says Resolution.

Complete Investigation of North Umpqua Projects Ordered by Federal Power Board.

A vigorous protest against the granting of power permits on the North Umpqua river providing for the construction of high dams and impounding of large quantities of water, is made in a resolution adopted by Glide grange and being forwarded today to Governor Norblad.

The resolution declares that the construction of the dams proposed by the California-Oregon Power company would constitute a great menace to property along the river below the dams, and would put lives in peril. It also includes an objection on the grounds of increased cost of the proposed North Umpqua road.

The resolution is as follows:

Dams Regarded Peril
Whereas, it is reported that the California-Oregon Power company has filed with the state engineer of the state of Oregon an application for a permit or franchise for power rights on the North Umpqua river, and the plans of said California-Oregon Power company, as published in the press, include the damming of said river at various places for great heights and the backing up of the waters of said river for long distances, thus impounding great quantities of water; and whereas, the impounding of large quantities of water behind high dams would create a constant and dangerous peril to many of our members who own farms and live along said North Umpqua river;

The Ponsler garage, owned by J. C. Ponsler, former Roseburg car salesman, was also entered and the safe forced open, yielding about $8 to the burglars. An attempt was also made to enter another store, but the burglars were apparently frightened away.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—President Hoover went over the plans for extending credit to the drought stricken farmers at a white house breakfast today and put his support behind the program.

As agreed upon by banking representatives on various state relief committees, the major aid will be rendered by local banks and credit organizations. Steps are under way to get the machinery functioning.

The white house conferees included Senator Watson, the republican floor leader; Henry M. Robinson of Los Angeles, chairman of the special committee of bankers which met yesterday; and Joseph R. Nutt of Cleveland, a banker and treasurer of the republican national committee.

No legislation needed. Watson advised against a special session of congress unless it were absolutely necessary. It was agreed no call was warranted.

Terms from the drought areas were studied. These showed areas where the harm wrought was confined principally to 300 widely scattered counties.

Extension of credit to the farmers and Red Cross relief to the suffering in the problem receiving immediate attention. The conferees noted that feed was being sent into the drought areas for cattle and cattle were being moved when necessary to places where feed is available.

NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—Acquitted two years ago of the slaying of her second husband, Mrs. Francis Kirkwood Van Cleaf, 34 years old, was shot and killed last night by her third husband, Eugene Van Cleaf, who then committed suicide.

This was the theory of police based on a note found after the two bodies were discovered in a Brooklyn rooming house. The note addressed to Ida Van Cleaf, a daughter by a previous marriage, read: "Please forgive me for what I have done. It is the best way out. Your dad, Eugene."

TIGER CLAWS BOY TO DEATH IN ZOO

(Associated Press Leased Wire)
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 28.—A boyish search for adventure in the artificial jungle of Luna park zoo brought death late last night to 12-year-old Alfred Hill. The boy was severely clawed by a tiger in the zoo yesterday afternoon. Melvin Koonitz, lion keeper at the zoo, shot the big cat as it crouched over its victim's body. Attendees at the zoo said the tiger was so old it had lost all its teeth, else young Alfred might have died almost instantly.

The boy had climbed the high wire fence surrounding the jungle. He was "hunting" with a small knife in his hand when the tiger pounced upon him from a screen of thick underbrush.

WOOD-PULP DUMPING TO BE PROTESTED

Senator McNary Acting to Get Evidence Required by Treasury Dept. for Inquiry.

Canada Reported to Be One of Offenders—Puget Sound Firm Sends in Complaint.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

SALEM, Ore., Aug. 28.—Senator Charles L. McNary is endeavoring to procure concrete facts for presentation to the treasury department to prove that pulp wood and chips are being dumped into the United States from foreign countries. It was said at his headquarters here today, and if necessary Senator McNary will present these facts in person.

This statement was made at his office upon receipt of information from his Washington office that the treasury department did not feel that it should make an investigation at this time unless concrete facts are presented showing evidence that would prove dumping.

Upon receiving complaints from Pacific northwest mills that pulp wood and pulp are being dumped into this country from Canada, Norway, Sweden and elsewhere, McNary telegraphed Washington for an inquiry into the situation.

No evidence found. A reply from his Washington office today was that the customs service was handling the matter. The senator's secretary in Washington telegraphed that she was "informed that a petition had been received from the Puget Sound Pulp & Timber company, complaining of the situation, but the customs service have found no evidence of dumping."

"In 1928 and 1929," the telegram from Washington continued, "the treasury department made investigation of the question of dumping by the countries mentioned in your wire, but were unable at any time to establish facts necessary to constitute dumping. The department does not feel it should undertake another investigation at this time unless concrete facts are presented showing evidence that would prove dumping."

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Aug. 28.—The nation's most powerful air beacon was turned on last night.

Touched off at the white house by President Hoover, the light sent a two billion candle power beam circling through the murky night. Invented and presented to the city by the late Elmer A. Sperry, the light is visible in good weather 250 miles away.

The light of the blue-gray beam is equal to one square inch of the sun's brilliance.

A second beam of 1,000,000,000 candlepower, remains fixed upon the municipal airport as a guide to aviators.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, for whom Sperry named the beacon in honor of his "heroic flight from New York to Paris," did not attend the presentation.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

PORTLAND, Aug. 28.—Twenty witnesses, mostly women, were subpoenaed today for tomorrow's inquest into the death of Charles W. Wigfall, 35, former Vancouver, Wash., and recent Portland attorney, shot to death last Thursday. First reports indicated Wigfall was slain by a robber.

Stanley Myers, district attorney, said he would demand Judge W. W. McCredie, Wigfall's law partner, produce the slain attorney's will which MacCredie indicated would shed light on the death but has refused to disclose. Mrs. W. W. McCredie was named beneficiary in Wigfall's insurance policies totalling $75,000.

While preparations continued for the inquest, detectives continued piecing together threads of the mystery gained from various women friends. The revolver used to slay Wigfall was found in brush near the shooting scene and has been tentatively identified as Wigfall's. Another revolver was found in his office desk.

HEAT KILLS EIGHT IN GREAT BRITAIN

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

LONDON, Aug. 28.—Most of Europe sweeter today in a continuation of a heat wave of the past few days which has taken at least eight lives from prostration in Great Britain.

The hot weather again caused much discomfort in the British Isles and was also felt in western and central Europe.

In Germany 90 degrees was registered and Italy had similar high figures, while France, Belgium and Spain also suffered.

In the southern districts and along the channel, heavy fog prevailed and delayed shipping.

Severe storms devastated Tabau, Penafiel and Fafe, Portuguese villages, flowing closely upon a severe heat wave.

PRESIDENT'S HOME UNDER HEAVY GUARD

Political and Army Chiefs Said Involved in Move to Remove Yrigoyen From Power.

All Government Agencies Held in Readiness for Action—Peru Has New Rulers.

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Aug. 28.—Dr. Juan de la Campa, minister of justice, was stated by the newspaper La Critica today to have informed President Yrigoyen there was an immediate possibility of a revolution involving certain political leaders and part of the army.

Replying to this suggestion of an impending revolution in Argentina the president was reported to have said he feared no subversive outbreak. At the same time he expressed the belief he might be in danger of an attack.

The president, whose home is guarded by a strong force of mounted police, arrived at the government palace this afternoon under a heavy guard. It was understood members of the cabinet met at the palace this morning.

The roof of President Yrigoyen's house bristles with machine guns and the provincial railway management has received order to hold a train ready at a moment's notice to convey troops to Buenos Aires.

Trouble of a mysterious nature began to develop yesterday. The chief of provincial police held long conferences with commanders of all of the city's police stations.

Today's La Nacion said there was unusual activity at police headquarters and that the chief of police and many high officers remained at their desks all night.

Hipolito Yrigoyen, elected president of Argentina in 1916 and 1928, is the first man to serve more than one term in that office and the first radical party member to attain the presidency.

Yrigoyen, although wealthy, has
