DELIGHTFUL and informal social affairs have been enjoyed mostly during the past week. Some clever and interesting shows have also been given. With the university and college students leaving the city, the younger set's social activities have dropped. Much work has been in progress in both Eugene and Corvallis and promises to the various fraternities and sororities were made late last night.

The wedding of Miss Pauline Shoun and Wallace Robertson was a lovely affair at the Baptist church last evening. A large number of friends and members of the church were present for the ceremony. September has been a close rival for June for 1930 weddings and October promises to schedule several more.

The Lady Elks are making interesting plans for a card party to be given in the Elks temple on October 9, at which time, both the Lady Elks as well as the men are invited to bring guests.

The various Parent-Teacher associations in the city are holding get-together meetings and making plans for a busy and interesting year. Several new teachers are in the city this year and considerable enthusiasm for the year's work is being shown by them, as well as the parents and former teachers.

The McNary banquet at the Umpqua hotel on Tuesday brought forth large numbers of Roseburg residents, as well as people from surrounding towns. The banquet was well attended and greatly enjoyed by everyone.

Jobs Daughters Have Business Meeting and Initiation Tuesday

The Order of Jobs Daughters met in the Masonic building on Tuesday evening for the regular business meeting, after initiation was held. Miss Audrey Richard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Richard, and Miss Dorothy and Miss Marjorie Bates, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Bates, of Myrtle Creek, were initiated.

An enjoyable program followed, which consisted of two vocal solos by Mrs. Charles A. Brand, accompanied by Miss Gladys Strong at the piano. The next meeting will be held on the evening of October 7, at which time a pot-luck supper will be enjoyed. Mrs. T. G. Watson is guardian of the local order with W. B. Strawn as associate guardian.

Informal Picnic Dinner Enjoyed Sunday at Thomas Wharton Camp

A delightful informal picnic dinner was enjoyed Sunday at the summer camp of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wharton on the North Umpqua river. A delicious one o'clock dinner was served on the river bank by the hostess, Mrs. Wharton, to Miss Vera Carlotta, Miss Margaret Carr, Miss Ethel Webb, Mrs. Bees Wharton and Mrs. George Wharton.

Visiting was enjoyed during the afternoon hours. Mr. and Mrs. Wharton started their lovely summer camp home on the North Umpqua this spring and upon completion, will no doubt be the scene of many pleasant social affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerretsen Give Picnic Dinner Sunday to Members of Staff

Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Gerretsen, Jr., entertained the members of the Dean Gerretsen fourteen Sunday of this week, with an enjoyable picnic dinner on the banks of the Umpqua river. A one o'clock dinner was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Gerretsen, Miss Helen Casey, Miss Kate and Miss Lora Buchanan, Miss Nellie Westra, Miss Lora Verne Torill, Mrs. Walter Fisher and the hostesses, Miss Moore and Miss Kershaw. Miss Torill won first prize in bridge, with Miss Lora Buchanan winning second prize.

Yoncalla Bride Is Honor Guest at Lovely Shower on Saturday

Mrs. Della Wiese, who is a delightful hostess, gave a lovely shower for the bride of the month, Mrs. Edith Whittier, on Saturday afternoon. Former Lookingglass Resident Receives New Appointment in Lodge

Mrs. Naomi Montgomery, past queen of Zulueta temple, daughter of the Nils and former resident of Lookingglass and Medford, stopped in Roseburg Tuesday afternoon between trains, for a short visit with friends. Mrs. Montgomery is now residing in Portland and was returning to her home after visiting in Medford for a short time.

Mrs. Montgomery is now supreme deputy at large, having been appointed to this very responsible position while attending the supreme session of Daughters of the Nile at Chicago, Illinois, last May. The appointment was made by the supreme queen, Katherine Mintz. Mrs. Montgomery left her home in Portland May 21 and has been traveling almost continually since that time. She stopped in Chicago, Montreal and various other Canadian points, before going south to Oklahoma City, Salt Lake City, Los Angeles and other California cities.

Prediction for Milady's Fall Wear

An evening gown of blue silver metal cloth, which was one of the most attractive of the Fall fashions for women, on display at New York fashion show. The material has a new note in Fall evening gowns and is likely to prove very popular.

WHAT FASHION DECREES—AFTER SUN-DOWN

Three of the models who exhibited smart evening gowns and wraps at a style show held recently at Long Beach, L. I. At the left is shown a regal ermine wrap cut on luxurious lines and trimmed with a flaring collar of silver fox. The wrap is worn over a stunning red velvet gown cut with the draped skirt and short train. The center model is wearing a draped gown of gold cloth cut on flowing lines with long train. It is fashioned snugly over the hips, being shirred in front. The spangle robe at the right is cut long and narrow, the hem-line dipping slightly behind. It is worn with a smart ermine jacket of the new hip length.

Mrs. Sellick Is Hostess to Members of the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club

Barnyard Party at Morgan Home Wednesday Is Enjoyable Affair

One of the cleverest parties of the week, as well as one of the most enjoyable affairs was the barnyard party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Morgan in Laurewood on Wednesday evening of this week, at which time the members of the Bridge Supper club were guests. The entire affair was held in the basement of the Morgan home. The basement walls were lined with straw; nests of eggs were tucked into each corner. Harnesses, saddles, barn implements, manure and stalls were attractively arranged. Four tables, covered with red and white checkered table cloths, were placed in the center of the basement. An apple suspended from the ceiling hung over each table. The number of the table was placed on the side of the apple. Tally and place cards were cut from genuine leather in attractive shapes. A tiny bowl of fruit centered each small table. A delicious pot-luck seven o'clock dinner was served to Dr. and Mrs. Clair K. Allen, Dr. and Mrs. Charles B. Wade, Mr. and Mrs. Jean Pickens, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kohlhaugen, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Bubar and Mr. and Mrs. Chester Morgan, members of the club and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick K. Hartung, of Roseburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Helweg, of Sutherlin, guests.

Bridge was played following the dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Hartung winning the family prize. An interesting program is being outlined for the coming year and it is hoped that all parents of our high school students will cooperate with the teachers and Parent-Teacher association officers in making this year an outstanding and successful year.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Entertain Roseburg Friends Over Week-End

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boyd entertained a few of their friends over last week-end at their charming summer home on the North Umpqua river. AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY ACTIVITIES

Save Tinfoil

Some months ago Umpqua unit initiated a move to cooperate in every way possible with the Shriner's in collecting tinfoil which is sold and the proceeds used in the Shriner's hospital work for crippled children.

All over the county, individuals, business places and schools are cooperating with the Shriner's in this charitable work and many pounds of tinfoil have been saved.

The following article, which appeared recently in "The Cabletown," a Masonic magazine published in Manila shows that this movement is world-wide in scope:

It is not the cigarette butt that might cause a million peso fire, or the banana peel that might spell a plaster cast for the next person coming along on the sidewalk, or a postage stamp that Brother Comfort or Brother Banks will tell you is listed at fifty or a hundred pesos: it is that little piece of tinfoil which you remove from your cigar or candy. Don't throw it away! Put it in your pocket and have some receipt—a cigarette tin, a vase or something of that kind which is in a handy place, in which to toss it. Then, when you have filled that receptacle, take its contents and give or in some way, shape or manner convey it to a friend of the little cripples by the name of Chapman, Wm. Huse Chapman, a Mason of the red-cap species who holds forth on the 6th floor of the Masonic Temple on the Esplanade. This brother has, in addition to a big heart, a lump of tinfoil about the size of an old-fashioned cannon ball but he says he needs more ammunition, all he can get, in fact.

"The explanation is simple: Bro. Chapman says that when he has gathered enough of this waste tinfoil he will sell it, and he has calculated that if he gets one hundred pesos for his accumulated store of tinfoil it will help to take care of another little cripple in our Masonic ward.

"Now, don't be satisfied with what you can collect yourself. Induce others to save tinfoil. Tell your children, your wife, or your best girl to save the tinfoil from candy and other things coming in that kind of wrapper. The more the better. Our good brother on the sixth floor says he will place a box there to receive contributions of tinfoil. Mark you, if he can't have your tin he wants at least your tinfoil.

"If you think this will be too much trouble for you, remember that it is for the crippled children, for our hospital, and you will surely change your mind about it."

CHILDREN'S CORNER

Jolly Coon and His Friends

PART IV

A Delayed Dinner Characters: Hermit Grizzly, Jolly Coon.

"Good morning! Good morning!" called a happy little voice at the door of Hermit Grizzly's cave.

"It is I, Jolly Coon. I've come to be your dinner; but wake up, Hermit, it is only two hours till dinner time and I know something that you ought to know. You must not eat until I have told you all about it."

"Hermit, I know you—you think you are fooling me, and that if I think you know something that I should know I will let you live longer."

"No, no Hermit, I am proud to be the first dinner sent you by the forest people; I feel that it is a great honor."

Old Hermit Grizzly stepped out in the open and looked at Jolly Coon in disgust.

"Just as I thought, only a little old coon for my dinner—hardly a mouthful!"

"Yes, Hermit," replied Jolly Coon. "I am only a mouthful, but I know something that you would rather know than to have a dinner of the finest deer in this whole forest."

"You foolish little coon! What can you know that I, the king of all this immense forest, do not know already."

"Yes, but you may not be king long, if you do not let me tell you this big secret."

"Well, what is it?" growled the old bear. "You give you time enough to tell it."

"But if I merely tell you about it, you may not believe me. Follow me, and I will take you to a place where you have never been, and when we get there I will show you; you may see with your own eyes—this thing that I am telling you you must know about."

"How far is it to the place?" asked Hermit, now beginning to think that it might well be for him to find out what Jolly Coon was talking about.

"Oh, only about a mile and a half. I used to go there often at night to steal chickens."

"Ah, so that is what you are up to!" and the old grizzly eyed Jolly Coon suspiciously. "I see, you want to take me where a man lives and get me shot."

"No, no," said Jolly Coon, "the man moved away a long time ago, but the great secret that you should know is there."

"Very well," replied Hermit Grizzly, "I will go with you. But if you are fooling me, I will make you sorry. Trot along, I will follow."

"And off they went through the forest."

chairman, Mrs. C. W. Wharton, Mrs. George Bolter and Mrs. Guy Gordon as assistant. Mrs. Elmo Malden is chairman of the collection committee with Mrs. L. E. McClintock assisting.

Mrs. Redding and W. W. Chambers Quietly Wed on Thursday Night

Mrs. C. L. Redding and W. W. Chambers, both residents of Roseburg, were quietly married on Thursday evening at eight o'clock at the home of the bride, 928 North Jackson street. The ceremony was read by W. R. Baird, of the First Christian church of Roseburg, amongst a setting of autumn flowers and ferns.

The bride was simply dressed in dark satin and carried a bouquet of pink roses. Mrs. M. R. Brown was her only attendant. Mr. R. Brown acted as best man to the bridegroom. Miss Juanita Redding, a granddaughter of the bride and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miller, of Medford, were the only relatives witnessing the ceremony.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Chambers are former residents of Dillard, having been located in this city for only two years. Mr. Chambers is employed with the Roseburg California-Oregon Power company and they will make their home on North Jackson street. They left for California immediately following the wedding and expect to spend ten days honeymooning in the southern state.

New Fur Coats to Reach Well Below Knees This Winter

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Following the long skirts which were accepted by women last winter, the winter of 1930-31 will bring long fur coats. Both daytime coats and evening wraps will reach well below the knee, according to the forecasts in the current Harper's Bazaar.

"The coats fit the slight, fashionable figure in dozens of snappy skins, conforming to the waist line, subtly flaring to width at the hem," says Kathleen Howard, fashion editor of that magazine. "Every ounce of bulk and weight is eliminated, and every thickening appearance is avoided."

"The new models generally show a slight Cossack influence, though the wrap-around model and the straight-line coat are also seen."
