TORNADO LASHES TEXAS; 27 INJURED, PROPERTY SUFFERS

(Associated Press Leased Wire) DALLAS, Tex., Oct. 7.—Twenty-seven persons were injured, a large number of small buildings were wrecked and communications were impaired today in the wake of a series of torrential rains, floods and high winds in widely separated sections of the state.

Roaring out of the southwest yesterday, a tornado all but swept away the little town of Latexco in east Texas, cutting a swath 200 yards wide for six miles and narrowly missing a school house full of small children.

Six farm houses were destroyed, along with dozens of small out-buildings, great trees were snapped off, and roads were so littered with debris rescue parties traversed them with the utmost difficulty. Ambulances and automobiles took 26 injured to Crockett, for emergency treatment.

High winds demolished servant houses and garages at Houston, blew a street car from its track, threw roofs from large buildings and created havoc with tele and power lines. West Columbia reported damage to some buildings.

Meanwhile, as a result of heavy rains, which came after one of the worst droughts in the history of the state, floods inundated parts of the business section at Brady in west Texas and other low areas along various rivers and creeks.

Converting on Brady from three sides, water from Brady river crept over the depth in the business section to a square of several feet rushed into business houses and caused damage estimated at approximately $250,000.

Fifty small houses were swept away, and one was carried into the square and rammed into the front of a drug store. All power lines and most communication lines were put out of commission. One man suffered a broken leg.

Brownwood reported water from Pecan Bayou, a tributary of the Colorado reached within 100 feet of the courthouse square, flooding several homes and threatening to go higher.

FRANCE GIVES BACK VICTIMS OF R-101 DIRIGIBLE CRASH

BOULOGNE-SUR-MER, France, Oct. 7.—France gave back to England this evening the victims of the disaster which on Sunday overtook the British airship R-101. With French infantry bands playing Mozart's march for the dead and nearly 100,000 persons standing with bared heads, the bodies were taken aboard the destroyers Tempest and Tribune and embarked for home.

Through lanes of infantry troops standing at present arms and in one of the largest crowds assembled at a channel port since war times when hospital ships continually left this place with British wounded, the rude coffins were carried aboard the warships.

The scene here was like that all along the route from Beauvais where peasants had lined station platforms and stood beside the tracks solemnly looking on as the funeral train made its way down to Boulogne.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany, Oct. 7.—Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the Graf Zeppelin, announced today that he would go to England on Friday to take part in the funeral ceremonies for the victims of the R-101 disaster.

ENERGY OF GULF STREAM TURNS ON ELECTRIC LIGHTS

(Associated Press Leased Wire) MANITANZAS, Cuba, Oct. 7.—Professor Georges Claude, French scientist and engineer, put nature to work here last night and kept forty 500-watt electric lamps burning for more than a half hour.

The feat culminated five years of constant and unremitting effort and expenditure of about $2,000,000 of the inventor's money to finance a scheme utilizing thermal differences in surface water from the gulf stream and water from 1,800 feet below the surface.

Dr. Claude first pumped warm water from the surface of Matanzas bay, and then through a millling tube sunk 1,800 feet below the surface of the sea from the depths. The warm surface water was submitted to a vacuum and became steam, finally of sufficient power to turn the turbine.

From the turbine the steam was sent into a tank where the cold water condensed it creating a new vacuum in which new steam could be generated as soon as the first vacuum was exhausted, the alternate process to be kept up indefinitely.

As the turbine exhausted power and finally attained several thousand revolutions a minute it turned a dynamo and the electric lights began to glimmer and then became brilliant. The experiment was kept on long enough to establish the most efficient method of success of the power plant.

The only previous experiment in the process itself used by Dr. Claude was to produce the vapor which brought his steam and cold water motor scheme. Shortly before noon the process with the vapor he generated and still has much left over for any practical use.

He said that he would work for some time longer to increase the efficiency of his contrivance, before going to Europe for a short while. Returning he will construct a larger plant somewhere on the coast of Cuba.
