was nominated as one of four temporary secretaries. As he took his seat next to the chairman he gave the fascist salute to his comrades, in which they all responded with the customary "halt" and salute.

The session was by no means devoid of incident and means minor clashes on the floor gave an inkling of what might be expected when legislative matters later should come before the body.

Opponents Jeered The roll call had been started within five minutes after the scheduled hour of meeting. This was interrupted occasionally when the name of some leader participating in the roll call was called.

When the first fascist, Albrecht, was called he responded, "Present, Hal Hitler."

The first real climax came when, at 3:20 p. m., the Hitlerite Goebele, wanted by the police for failure to appear as defendant in a libel suit, entered the chamber and called out to the communists on the left, "of course I am sabotaging your bourgeois justice."

brothers, and directing the aid to return to camp for help. Clifford stayed with his father until Akeley died and then went back to the cabin. He was unable to find any of the older men who had gone hunting, and it was 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon before any of them returned.

Ed Williams, who resides at the end of the road, was the first to receive word. He dispatched men to the scene of the shooting, while he drove to Yoncalla and sent word to Coroner H. C. Stearns, who gave permission to bring the body out to Kelley.

No Inquest Needed Coroner Stearns and Deputy Sheriff McCabe and Dunbar went to the end of the road and met the men who carried the body in after dark. As the case was plainly one of accident, it was deemed unnecessary to hold an inquest. The body was brought to the Douglas funeral home in Roseburg and was prepared for removal to Salem yesterday.

Mr. Akeley had resided in Salem for the past four years, being employed by the Salem Ironworks. He was born in Perkins, Oklahoma, March 8, 1895, and lived in Utah several years before coming to Oregon.

He is survived by a widow and two sons with him on the hunting trip. He also leaves his mother, Mrs. Mary Akeley of Salem. He was a member of the Salem Masonic lodge.

ROSEBURG HIGH DOWNS LEBANON GRIDDERS, 20 TO 6

Exciting Game Closes With Ball on One Yard Line of Locals; Cottage Grove Dated.

In one of the fastest football games in history in Roseburg for several years, Roseburg senior high school team defeated Lebanon high 20 to 6 at Finlay field Saturday. The game, a much more even contest than the score would indicate, was exciting from start to finish.

Roseburg had some bad breaks when the game first started, fumbling two plays that looked good for long gains if not touchdowns. The teams played the first six minutes on even terms and then Roseburg uncoiled a terrific drive through the Lebanon line with Feat Schmidt and Entler alternating in the smashes that carried the ball to Lebanon's 1-yard line.

Lebanon kicked out to the 40-yard line and Roseburg plunged through again for four first downs and Schmidt carried the ball over for a touchdown. The kick was wide, making the score 6 to 0.

Visitors Tie Score In the second period Lebanon opened up a fast passing attack that carried the ball from her own 30-yard line to Roseburg's 10-yard marker, where the local defense tightened and held for downs.

Roseburg missed another chance to score when time was called at the end of the half. Entler intercepted a Lebanon pass on the visitors' 40-yard line and Schmidt on the next play carried the ball through tackle for 10 yards, but the team was held there for downs.

Nation Stirred "Everywhere throughout the land there are deep stirrings of dissatisfaction with existing conditions," he said, "with the laws and their administration, and with the prescribed methods of dealing with those found to have violated them."

"There is no doubt that the great volume and constantly widening categories of legislative prohibitions, with attendant penalties for their disregard, tends to create a contempt for law," Wickersham said. "Yet much of this legislation is probably unenforceable."

He suggested it "were well that public sentiment should be aroused to prevent unnecessary law making."

Contest Scheduled Committee reports will be received Thursday morning and officers will be elected and departmental reports will be continued in the afternoon.
