To the Management of the New Indian Theatre

The advent of a community improvement is always of interest to its residents. A good looking building, a more efficient industry—these always add to a city's reputation and to the people's local pride.

Hence, it is with genuine pleasure that we view Roseburg's latest asset—Hunt's Indian Theatre. This new show-house is one that can be shown to strangers as an additional "selling" point for Roseburg—it is one that everybody will derive enjoyment from visiting.

Once again faith in the future of our city is manifested—only through a large expenditure was this almost-metropolitan theatre made ready for us—and only through the steady growth of Roseburg will it reap the success it deserves.

The following firms join in extending their best wishes to the new theatre:
