Hon. W. D. Upshaw Endorses Sargon

Few men in America are known to more people from coast to coast than William D. Upshaw, former congressman from the fifth (Atlantic) district of Georgia. During his eight years in Washington he attained national prominence. A well known national magazine described him as "the most amazing man in congress."

Obedient a grateful impulse because of the great physical blessing received through the use of Sargon. Mr. Upshaw writes that he is simply doing unto others as he would have them do unto him in making the following voluntary statement:

"My first experience with this remarkable invigorator came in the summer of 1928, when Sargon was brand new. I was suffering from nervous debility and an alarming physical depletion and the result of overwork on the lecture platform and really feared I would not have strength enough to get me through the political campaign of July and August. Unbelievable as it may seem, two bottles taken with the Sargon Pills simply made me over. After the most hectic, exhausting campaign through which I ever passed, I came out actually feeling far stronger than when I began."

"Later, rushing away on another busy speaking tour covering several states, I did not persevere in the daily use of the medicine until my system was thoroughly cleansed, with the result that twice again I found myself again suffering from general debility, constipation and dizziness, and each time the Sargon combination has cleared me up and left me feeling tip-top."

"Living now in the aftermath of those refreshing experiences, I am moved by common gratitude to heartily commend this wholesome and effective medicine to everybody whose random condition calls for complete restoration."
