Senior High P. T. A. Has Interesting Meeting Tuesday

One of the most interesting senior high school P. T. A. meetings occurred on Tuesday evening, when a large attendance of parents and teachers met in the school building to attend to some vital matters recently brought before the association.

The dance proposition, in which the students asked that private, chaperoned dances be allowed, was passed by the school board a short time ago, and returned to the parents on Tuesday evening. J. E. Dent, president of the association, appointed Mrs. Roy Entler, Mrs. Jack Wharton, Mrs. Arthur Baum, Miss Alice Ueland and Principal P. L. Jensen, to comprise the dance committee. Seven or eight rules were given by the school board, which are to control these dances and the above committee is to see that these rules are carried out.

Two very important matters to come before the meeting included the Douglas county health unit nurses problem and the cutting of teachers' salaries. Both of these measures were voted down by the association, which is working hard for the retaining of the nurses and for the present salaries paid to the teachers.

Following the business meeting, Louis Langenberg played two saxophone solos accompanied by Miss Marie Langenberg on the piano. Miss Colotta and Miss Euletta Langenberg sang two selections, accompanied by Miss Marie on the piano and Louis on the saxophone. Rev. Perry Smith was the principal speaker of the evening.

New Lingerie Hikes Waistline—Paris Favors 'Empire' Undies

By DIANA MERWIN (Associated Press Fashion Editor) PARIS.—Napoleon's Josephine might have worn some of the lingerie that Paris is putting forth for modest moderns.

Empire undies are the last word uttered in the frivolous quarter which decides about lingerie.

Empire means waistlines shoved up under the armpits in the place women wear them in Napoleon's time. Therefore empire undies have to be worn under dresses with empire waistline or worn by themselves.

Most women prefer the latter system, meaning nightgowns which are belted or otherwise confined at a point 6 to 12 inches above the normal waistline.

There is a bewildering array of Empire nightgowns to choose from. One of the newest efforts is a crepe de chine gown in pastel candy stripe. Washable ribbons of the same colors as the stripes form the belt.

Plain satin slips, long enough to touch the ground all around and trail a little in back, have elaborate lace incrustations around the top and narrow belts tied just under the bust.

Miss Humphreys and Warren Stubblefield Announce Marriage

Of interest to their many friends is the marriage of Miss Mildred Humphreys to Warren Stubblefield in Grants Pass on November 22nd.

The bride is the teacher of the South Deer creek school and the bridegroom is a grocer in this city. The marriage was kept secret until the past week, when an announcement was made by the couple.

On Thursday evening, South Deer creek residents met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hatfield, where Mr. and Mrs. Stubblefield were entertained. After a pleasant evening of music and visiting, Mr. Stubblefield treated the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Walker Honored With Dinner on Thursday Evening

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Brucker of Coos Junction entertained with a six o'clock dinner Thursday evening at Schmidt's lunch room, honoring Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker, who were married last Monday.

About the room were arched bowls of chrysanthemums tastefully arranged, and the table was made lovely with a large centerpiece of red and yellow chrysanthemums.

Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kleist, Mr. and Mrs. Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Gool Lawrence, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Solnica, William Broad, the honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Walker and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Brucker. After the dinner a social time was enjoyed until a late hour.

Mrs. Walker was formerly Miss Elizabeth Lehr of Cincinnati. They will make their home at Coos Junction.

D. of U. V. Have State Officer Guest on Friday Evening

Florence Nightingale Tent No. 15, Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met on Friday evening at which time Mrs. Madeleine Nash, of Salem, of the state president's office, was honor guest.

Mrs. A. A. Sprague, president of Tent No. 15 opened the business meeting and following officers for the coming year were elected: President, Mrs. Virginia Campbell; senior vice-president, Mrs. Lillian Davis; junior vice-president, Mrs. Ruth Cyrus; chaplain, Miss May Sebring; treasurer, Mrs. Anna Peterson; patriot instructor, Mrs. Luella Morris; patriot instructor, Mrs. A. A. Sprague; council member No. 1, Mrs. Jennie Arthur; council member No. 2, and Mrs. Charles Benedict, council member No. 3.

At the close of the election of officers, the department president, Mrs. Nash, gave an interesting talk on "What Our Responsibility as Daughters of Veterans Means to Us."

It was voted to invite the patriotic officers to join the No. 15 tent in a Christmas tree benefit shower for the needy on December 19th.

Following the meeting, Mrs. Nash was given a handkerchief shower. Mrs. Sprague presented the guest with a beautiful corsage of pink and white carnations. Mrs. Nash visited the Oregon State Soldiers home today. She is the house guest of Mrs. A. A. Sprague on South Main street during her stay in this city.

Punch Work Smart On Daytime Shoes

PARIS.—Punch work figures conspicuously on the new daytime shoes, and cut-out embroidery plays a part in ornamentation of evening clippers.

Poets' Corner

By ALDEN HARNESSE (Published in Reality Magazine) Work upward to the Truth till you Receive and radiate The thoughts that from the heart of Forever emanate.

A MOTHER'S HANDS The following poem by Alden Harness was written twenty years ago for a gentleman who included it with some Christmas presents which he sent to his wife.

Your busy hands that rock the cradle, fade, and grow old, and cease to be, But of all my travels find what I would make a story too long to tell.

This trip is one of the shortest of all; I came to the Cascades early this fall, My snowflake robes I had put on to wear, Expecting to spend the whole winter there.

But one day the Sun smiled down upon me, And started me back again to the sea.

Yet of all my trips, I like this one best; That's why I stop in these eddies to rest.

I might not be back for many a day, So I'm taking my time along the way.

But when my good friends, the Wind, Clouds and Sun Arrange my next trip, before it's begun I'll say this to them: "Please follow my plan;

Send me out to Oregon, if you can, And let me know, if it will your pleasure suit, To return by the Umpqua Valley route."

Just take it from me, I say what I mean, That in all the lands and countries I've seen, Though I know many a cozy retreat, Who lives in this valley, has 'em all beat.

Well, I'll be getting along on my way, Though, I'll confess, I would much rather stay. So goodbye, good luck," said my new found friend, As, waving his hat, he went round the bend.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM By F. F. CRITESER Creed, like greed, is a consuming lust, Priests, like bigots, are never just, They enslaved man and stifled thought Till he in abject servitude wrought.

Crud, unjust, like a raging beast, Creed, ordained by king and priest, Proscribes slavish servitude for man, Such has been life, since life began.

Arise thou slaves of superstitious fear, The dawn of emancipation draweth near, Assert thyself, Truth and justice are thy right, Priest and bigot tremble at thy might.

Truth and justice, in their place will reign, Contentment will supplant the sting of pain, The man with honor beyond price Shall make this earth a paradise.
