ROSEBURG homes were happy homes on New Year's day in 1931. Delightful informal dinner parties were enjoyed. The regular week-days were also filled with club affairs and interesting parties for visitors. Mrs. Ernest Thom, of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Wallace and daughters, of Los Angeles, the Steinmetz families from Eugene, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Neal and daughters, of Bend, were only a few of the interesting visitors here for New Years.

Announcements for future social affairs include the opening of a school of dramatics, January 12th, by Mrs. G. C. Radabaugh.

The St. George's Episcopal Guild will meet next Wednesday evening at the Parish hall, at which time the outgoing officers will be the hosts to the incoming officers.

The Lady Elks will meet in the Elks temple next Thursday evening at which time Mrs. J. M. Judd and Mrs. E. A. Post will be hostesses. Bridge will be played during the evening hours.

The Riverside P.-T. A. will meet next Friday evening, January 9, for their regular business session.

The Eastern Star will hold a social, banquet and have installation of officers on Thursday evening, January 15, in the Masonic temple.

Belle View Club and Guests Entertained at at Beckley Home

The Belle View club enjoyed their annual Christmas party Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Pearl Beckley on Deer creek. The rooms were beautifully decorated with evergreens and holiday colors. The exchange of presents and the usual Yuletide game was a feature of the afternoon. Those present at the affair included Mrs. Lloyd Hoover, Mrs. Kelly, Mrs. Scarrow of Reedsport, and Mrs. G. A. Van Vactor.

Parish House Opening Monday Afternoon Is Brilliant Success

One of the largest affairs of the week was the St. George's Episcopal Guild silver tea, from 3:00 to 5:30, which the guild members sponsored Monday afternoon, the occasion being the opening of the parish house since recently being remodeled and redecorated. One hundred and fifty guests were received by Mrs. W. R. Willis, Mrs. A. G. McMillin, Mrs. S. D. Evans, Mrs. E. V. Hoover and Mrs. C. Merrill. The members of the guild acted as hostesses with Mrs. J. S. Tobin general chairman of the affair. Mrs. H. C. Church, incoming president, and Mrs. Willard Johnson, outgoing president, poured.

After being greeted by the reception committee, the guests were ushered into the main parish hall room, which was lovely with fern-trays, large poinsettia plants and lighted floor lamps. The tea table was attractively centered with a large poinsettia banked with ferns, lending a pleasing color note to the silver tea service. Those assisting with the serving included Miss Mary Virginia Strawn, Miss Jessie Judd, Miss Ruth Hoover, Miss Sabina Nerbas and Miss Phyllis Ann Bolter. Mrs. S. D. Evans was chairman of the decoration committee.

Mrs. T. G. Watson, chairman of the program committee, presented the following program:

Two vocal solos, "The Star," "A Bowl of Roses," by Mrs. Hugh Whipple accompanied by Mrs. C. S. Heinline.

Two vocal solos, "An Old Fashioned Garden," "Roses of Picardy," by Miss Vera McClintock accompanied by Miss Marjorie Knight.

Miss Phyllis Ann Bolter played three violin selections during the afternoon. She was accompanied at the piano by Miss Frances Metzger.

Visiting and radio music were enjoyed following the program.

On Monday evening, from nine o'clock until twelve o'clock, the guild members entertained twenty-five couples with a dance in honor of the parish hall's recent completion, Mrs. E. R. Kenny and Mrs. J. A. Soules were joint chairmen for the dance. Large floor lamps furnished the lighting and cast a soft glow over the room. A five-piece orchestra furnished the music for the dance and light refreshments were served late in the evening.

Both the tea and the dance were considered to be most successful from every aspect.

One o'Clock Turkey Dinner Enjoyed at Lundeen Home New Year's

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Lundeen entertained with a one o'clock turkey dinner on New Year's day. Holly, attractively arranged, provided a pretty centerpiece. A version of black velvet and white are in the latest design to complete the wardrobe of the stylish woman. Here it is softened by the mink folds across the front and back, which supply hip drapery.

Most Interesting Christmas Dinner Is Enjoyed at Home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith

Perhaps the most interesting Christmas day dinner of 1930 was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Smith Sr., of South Main street, when they sat down to their table alone for the first time in their 53 years of married life. Every Christmas for the past 53 years, Mr. and Mrs. Smith have entertained relatives or friends or been entertained at their children's home so it was decided that this year they were to enjoy Christmas in their own home by themselves.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith, the parents of seven sons and two daughters, have always had their home filled with young people and have entertained at many lovely and enjoyable affairs during their years of housekeeping. Besides their own family of nine children, Mr. and Mrs. Smith reared five orphaned children, one of whom is still with them, namely, Mrs. Elizabeth Garrett, stenographer for Rice and Rice. Only four sons of the Smith family are still living and they are Macon Smith and J. W. Smith Jr., of Roseburg; W. E. Smith, of North Bend, and Max K. Smith, of Dalhart, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith are also the grandparents of eight children. Their Main street home is still the meeting place of all of the relatives and friends and Mrs. Smith is known as one of the most hospitable and gracious hostesses of the city.

Portland Visitors Entertained at Gerretsen Home

Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Gerretsen Jr., entertained with a lovely party at their home Saturday evening, when they complimented Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Denn and Mr. and Mrs. Forest Six, residents of Portland, and former members of the Friday Evening Bridge club. Mr. and Mrs. Gerretsen asked the members of the bridge club as the other guests of the evening.

Several hours of bridge were enjoyed and Mrs. J. A. Denn won high score for the ladies and J. K. Falbe received high score for the men. Those enjoying the evening included, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Denn and Mr. and Mrs. Forest Six, honor guests, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Falbe, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Pargeter, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Smith, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Church and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Will H. Gerretsen Jr.

Mrs. Gerretsen served a lunch to the guests at attractively arranged tables later in the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Denn and son Junior spent the week-end as the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gerretsen and Mr. and Mrs. Six and son, Junior, were the house guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Simmons.

Members of the Rebekah lodge enjoyed a very pleasant evening on Tuesday night of this week, when they celebrated their annual homecoming, which was also in the form of a reception for Mrs. Edythe Kelley, who was recently elected vice-president of the Association of Rebekah Assemblies. This office places Mrs. Kelley in line for the highest position that may be given any member of the order. After the lodge had been opened in regular form, a short recess was declare and Mrs. Kelley was conducted into the lodge room by a military escort of Canton members in uniform. Past Captain Earl Pickens and Chevalier Harry Rapp, acted as right and left escort with Captain Ralph Russell as officer in charge. With a few well chosen words, Mr. Russell introduced Mrs. Kelley to the lodge, after which she was welcomed and seated at the right of the presiding officer, who presented a beautiful corsage bouquet to the honor guest.

Under good of the order, all visiting past officers were asked to stand and then all members of 25 years standing and over and then all past officers. Several responded with short talks. Mrs. Frances Russell, mother of Mrs. Kelley, gave a very interesting talk. At the close of the business meeting, the guests adjourned to the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with ferns and sweet peas. Tall tapers furnished the light for the tables. Mrs. Kelley was given the seat of honor at the long table and Ralph Russell acted as toastmaster and opened the following program with a few appropriate remarks and a short poem on the subject of giving praise to the living:

Mrs. Alice Goff, in a very appropriate talk, welcomed Mrs. Kelley home and commended her for the high honors she has brought the local lodge. Mrs. Kelley graciously responded and told of her work in the past few years and of her plans for the future. Miss Carmel Newland gave a brief talk on friendship, followed by a talk on love by Lillian Nelson and also a talk on truth by Mrs. Gladys Colby. Mrs. Frances Russell then gave an interesting and humorous talk.

Miss Ila Laubach presented a beautiful gift from the lodge to Mrs. Kelley. The closing number was a talk on "Fraternity" by Col. H. A. Canaday.
