AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY ACTIVITIES

Care of Disabled and Their Families Main Purpose of Auxiliary

Twelve years ago ex-soldiers and sailors were returning by the thousands from the battle fields. They were all seeking a chance to re-establish themselves in civil life and among their number were many thousand disabled ones. The work of the auxiliary has always been to remain in the background so far as taking the lead is concerned and to furnish a wholehearted support to the American Legion in all its activities. The auxiliary nevertheless did take considerable initiative in caring for the disabled and those in distressed circumstances. Our work in caring for disabled soldiers and their families has always come first in our program.

Has Aided in Fight for National Home at Roseburg

Naturally we have felt a keen interest in the efforts made by the American Legion and the Roseburg chamber of commerce during the past year to have a branch of the national soldiers' home established at Roseburg. This effort has certainly struck a responsive chord in the American Legion auxiliary because it is directly in line with our auxiliary program of caring for the disabled.

Visit of General Wood Culminates Efforts

The recent visit of General Wood to Roseburg inspecting proposed sites seems to conclude the work that has been done by all the people and organizations of Roseburg and there is nothing now that can be done except to hope and pray that this home will be established in our wonderful Umpqua valley with its superior climate. Should such be the result Umpqua Unit No. 16 American Legion auxiliary can feel glad that one of our auxiliary programs of caring for disabled soldiers is being carried out on such a large scale.
