Oddities Gleaned From Day's News

LION CLAWS YOUTH WHO DODGES ELEPHANT'S SPRAY. MARION, Ill., March 14.—Gay Estell Pierce went to the circus, which is quartered here for the winter.

They were giving the elephant a bath and a big animal, named down, filled his trunk with water and began to spray. Guy jumped back to get out of line of the water. As he did so a lion reached his paws through the bars of the cage and scratched him.

Guy freed himself by wriggling out of his cage and a doctor patched up his injuries.

His condition is not serious.

Abraham Lincoln from his birth in the rule he rubs to his as a man, in Ford's theatre has been brought back to life in W. Griffith's master telling picture now showing at Hunt's Indian theatre.

You see a Lincoln in this picture who is a real man, in flesh and blood. Walter Huston, credited with being America's greatest character actor, brings the great martyr into being from the time he is a young clerk and railroad tinner, through his career as lawyer and legislator, through the trying years of his presidency and to his final hour of life.

This is a picture that will make better Americans of all who see it and which will make an impression that will never be forgotten.—G. C. R.

Sunday morning, 11 o'clock at Methodist Episcopal church, Jesus Lee Brooks, colored bass baritone, will sing.—Adv.

Why do you take life so serious? Why do you fret and stew? Stop! take a look at the rest of the world. There are others worse off than you.

Maybe it's money of which you lack. Maybe it left you flat. Thank goodness you still have your appetite. Some people haven't got that.

Maybe it's eyes, or hands or feet. Maybe a friend's not true. But don't give up and call it quits. There are others worse off than you.

Sweet breeze so softly blowing. Kind breeze so gently blowing.

"Whoopie" Opens Tomorrow

Scene from the uproarious motion picture musical revue, "Whoopie," which opens a three-day showing at the Indian theatre Sunday. Eddie Cantor played two years on the stage of the New Amsterdam theatre in New York as the star of the stage production from which this picture is taken.

As the first screen musical comedy to which Florenz Ziegfeld gave his own personal supervision and skill stagecraft, "Whoopie," which opens at the Indian theatre Sunday for three days, does full justice to the reputation and talents of the famous impresario.

"Whoopie" is very much a continuation of Eddie Cantor's stage success that ran for two years at the New Amsterdam theatre, New York, transferred bodily to the films, with his funny, spectacularly magnificent in voice and body, with the magic of Technician to give it reality.

Yet despite its mammoth size, "Whoopie" is still the same intimate comedy that, as "The Most Amazing Show on Earth," was one of the most successful stage shows of the world.

Hundreds of the world's most beautiful girls, gathered from the beauty courts of Broadway and Hollywood by eunuchs to be less than Ziegfeld and Goldwyn themselves, augment the original stage cast.

The decision of the judges was as follows: Class A, boys: Donald Perry, first; Donald Hall, second; Alvin Winner, third; girls: Betty Mae Whipple, first; Patty Leek, second; Laura McGuire, third; Class B, boys: Frank Wells, first; Shelby Hayes, second; Bernard Shaw, third; girls: Corinne Ann Perry, first; Eva Baker, second; Wilma Seckman, third.

The four winners will compete in the county contest to be held in Roseburg, March 25.
