

PIRATES DEFEAT MISSIONS, SEALS

(By the Associated Press)
Major league baseball teams which have trained on the Pacific coast were enroute home today after a Sunday of exhibition games in which one of the Nationals defeated two coast teams, another split a double header and a third went down to defeat.

The bats of the Pittsburgh Pirates spelled defeat for the Missions and Seals at San Francisco. The Missions lost 5 to 2 and the Seals 15 to 7.

Tigers and Oaks Split
After losing 11 to 3 in a morning game, the Detroit Tigers came back in the afternoon to defeat Oakland 8 to 1. Oakland hammered out 13 hits for an easy victory in the initial game. But the Tigers pounded three Oak pitchers for 10 hits and the bacon in the afternoon game. The game was played at Emeryville.

Stars and Beavers Win
The Hollywood Stars, last year's Coast league champions, ended the California season of the Chicago Cubs by handing them a 12 to 11 beating in a somewhat drowsy game.

The Portland Beavers completed their training period by defeating the San Jose Bees, California State league team, 4 to 3, in a game played at San Jose.

SUICIDE FOLLOWS RELEASE FROM JAIL

SALEM, April 6.—Claude B. Neil, 45, who was released from the Salem city jail several days ago after serving three months for possession of a still, committed suicide last night by taking strychnine.

He is survived by his widow.

CHURCH ROBBERIES ROUTED BY POLICE

PORTLAND, April 6.—Hinson Memorial church, robbed less than a month ago of $1,100, was visited again last night by two robbers who escaped in a hail of pistol fire after they were discovered by police. It was supposed they were intent on stealing the Easter collection.

POISON, GUN USED IN SUICIDE TRY

OREGON CITY, Ore., April 6.—Suffering from a bullet wound in his head and in a serious condition from poisoning, George Shephard, 62, was given a chance for recovery here today.

He had been out of work for months and had become despondent, according to friends. Physicians said the poison which had been sprinkled on raisins would probably prove more serious than the gun wound, inflicted with a small rifle.

While Mrs. Snyder may not have the satisfaction of knowing he rode the headstone of her soldier son in the beautiful cemetery of France she will reap the spiritual reward due her as a Gold Star mother in visiting those sacred places.

Every Care Given
These pilgrimages, which are under the direction of the war department, are planned with great care and every safeguard to the health and comfort of the mothers has been provided. All expenses, even to the most trivial things, are paid. Specially selected army officers, whose sole duty is to relieve the mothers of all responsibilities of travel, are assigned to each group. Medical officers and trained nurses accompany them and hospitalization is provided at New York and Paris.

France and Belgium in special busses have been arranged from Paris, where the party will remain a week. In London a week will be spent in visiting the last resting places of historical interest.

Receptions Scheduled
At Cherbourg, France, where the President Roosevelt will dock, a special train will be waiting for the mothers to take them to Paris. There they will be tendered a reception in which American and French officials will participate. And similar honors will be awaiting them in London.

Stopovers will be permitted on their return to America and Mrs. Snyder will visit for two weeks with her son, Earl, who lives on Staten Island, New York. In all Mrs. Snyder expects to be absent for two months.

was City in a box," he said, "than to leave this community while there is so much feeling in it."

Peace Offer Angers
C. P. Mcumber, deputy sheriff and a member of the church, articulated the former pastor. Authorities said he had told several versions of events leading up to the shooting.

He was quoted as saying instances of the evangelist on a reconciliation had angered him and led to blows. Again he said the evangelist had attempted to force entrance to his home. He said discussion had caused him to react.

"There was a lot of gossip," he said, "a lot of untrue gossip. I got out of the church to stop it."

Innovations Resented
Officers said the original disagreement in the church resulted in the preaching of Brown at other churches. Sunday afternoon. He went to Halley's Bluffs church a year ago from Miller, Mo., under a contract to conduct services for 75 per cent of the collections.

Differences between the two men were epitomized in Mr. Brown's alleged resentment against innovations in the service, such as a children's choir and an orchestra, which were advocated by Mr. Rider.

the south" and the "liberal attitude of the party in the north," he said, prohibition is, perhaps, a "dangerous complication."

"How silly it must be for the democratic party to disregard the prohibition issue because of its proposed peril."

His home rule plan — which would call for retention of the eighteenth amendment but adoption of another constitutional change giving states control of liquor — is, of his mind, probably the best solution, he said, but added: "Perhaps some of you may have a better solution."

"It is important that our friends in the dry states clearly understand," he wrote, "that home rule could not become effective until a majority of people in 36 out of the 48 states vote in favor of such an amendment."

"Any man or woman, honest and sincere in the belief that a majority of the people in the United States are dry, can have little fear that the country will go wet under this resolution, because it requires not merely a majority of our people to change the eighteenth amendment but a majority of the people in three-fourths of the states," Banker said.

"And, furthermore, if the unexpected should happen and the new amendment be actually adopted through a vote of the majority of the people in 36 states, the eighteenth would continue to be the law in every state until the people of a particular state should desire by popular vote to take over their own liquor-control problems."

trict that power can be an efficiently developed by means of conduits, and at little less expense, and that such development will not interfere with the construction of the road.

The Bureau of Public Roads recently assigned an engineer to the task of making a preliminary survey of the North Umpqua route, but a protest was made by the power company, asking that the survey be delayed until a definite decision is reached on the power projects.

The road district, in turn, is objecting to this delay, as it is desired to get construction started on the Diamond lake road as soon as possible, and it is felt that at least one year will be lost if the survey is not made immediately.

Chairman Marsters, in his telegram to Senator McNary, asks that an effort be made to secure prompt action from the power commission in order that the survey may proceed.

Coroner Stearns, who brought the bodies to Roseburg stated that no inquest would be necessary.

Lorin A. Hammond of Grants Pass, wrecked his car, a Chevrolet coupe, within 100 yards of the spot of today's fatal accident, Sunday morning, while driving to Marshfield to visit relatives. The car skidded and rolled over into the irrigation ditch, practically demolishing the auto, but Mr. Hammond escaped with minor cuts and bruises. He took a stage into Marshfield.

tween Doheny and Sinclair." It does disclose that Fall was "considering the two leases on behalf of the government at the same time and considering each with relations to the other," and with "a common motive in mind."

Fine Held Justifiable
Justice Robb in ruling upon the Blackmer case said:

"It is inconceivable that a citizen witness may clog the wheels of justice by crossing the international border and that the government should be powerless to summon him to return and to subject him to penalty if, without cause, he fails to respond to the summons."

Justice Robb said he had no doubt that congress had considered "the possible serious consequences which might result" from the refusal of a witness to respond to a subpoena in a foreign country when it authorized "a penalty of $100,000 for each offense."

"It had a right to take into consideration that ordinarily only a man of means could afford the luxury of abandoning his business and practically expatriating himself by taking up his residence abroad," the court said.

"A small fine in such circumstances would have no deterrent effect. In the present case, the records indicate that Mr. Blackmer is a man of extensive business interests and large means. Considering the records as a whole, we are clearly of the view that the trial court in assessing the fines did not abuse its discretion."

PLAN FOR INCOME TAX RAISE OPPOSED

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

WASHINGTON, April 6.—Factional leaders of congress looked with little favor today on the proposal by Senator Bingham that income taxes be increased and extended to curb government extravagance.

The Connecticut republican no sooner had made his statement favoring a blanket increase of levies and an extension to smaller incomes than responsible members of both the senate and house objected.

SIX PERSONS DIE WHEN AUTO DIVES

(Associated Press Leased Wire)

CHESTER, Ill., April 6.—A coroner's jury was called today to investigate the drowning of six persons, including an entire family of father, mother and three children, here last night when a motor car in which they were riding plunged down an embankment and into the Mississippi river. Two other occupants of the car were rescued.

John Maness of St. Louis, driver of the car, started down the embankment, which leads to a ferryboat landing, but had gone only a short distance when he discovered the car was in the middle of the stream. Upon seeing the car, attendants of the boat signaled they would return to the Illinois side, but Maness appeared to lose control of the vehicle, and it plunged ahead at rapid speed.

Attaches of the ferry rescued Maness and Allen Brooks, who managed to free themselves from the car.

COOS THIEVES STEAL SAFE AND GET $100

MARSHFIELD, Ore., April 6.—Police were searching today for robbers who stole a 200-pound safe from a news stand at North Bend, carried it to a beach road, pried off the combination, removed $100, and then hurled the strong box over a high cliff.

The safe was found yesterday by clam diggers.

deer in Roseburg's streets upon his arrival. Sam also took much delight in the fact that as a houseboy he had cared for some of Roseburg's most prominent men and women in their early infancy and he took personal pride in their successes. His room was filled with hundreds of pictures of his Roseburg friends.

Known For Generosity
Later China Sam, as he was always known, opened a Chinese novelty store. He could have become a wealthy merchant, for his store was very popular, but his profits went to gifts to children and his many friends, and many of Roseburg's business men owe the pleasure of their first bites, their tops and marbles, as well as innumerable firecrackers to the generosity of China Sam.

The hardships of his experiences in the mining camps made him an early victim of rheumatism. In 1901 a friend advised soaking his feet in lye water. Believing that a little lye was good for a wound, he better, he prepared a footbath that burned him so severely that it was necessary to amputate both legs at the knees.

Christianity Accepted
Women who ministered to him in his illness, taught him Christianity, after he had twice tried to end his life. He was converted and joined the Methodist church and became an active member throughout the remainder of his life.

In late years he has been cared for by several local business men, who have provided him with a home and food and medical care.

The life of this aged Chinaman, filled with patriotism, generosity and true Christianity, endeared him in the hearts of all those who knew him through the 63 years that he was a resident of Roseburg.

Funeral His Last Worry
Sam's greatest worry in the last few weeks was that he would not have a big funeral.

"I have been sick long time," he would say, "my friends forget me. I want lots of people when I am buried. I want lots of flowers."

He didn't care about getting well, but he made thorough plans for his funeral, and even provided the undertaker with written instructions regarding his burial.

The short crutches, two Chinese canes and the leather shoes that covered the stumps of his crippled legs are to be buried with him. And maybe the five-dollar American hat that he called for in his last moments and held in his arms as he died.

China Sam's funeral will be held at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, with Rev. Charles A. Edwards officiating, at the Roseburg Undertaking company chapel. Six of Roseburg's business men will be proud to serve in carrying his body to its last resting place in the Masonic cemetery.

"I've ridden the logs in white water"

It's no easy matter to pilot a bucking log through white-tipped rapids. It's even harder to pry a Chesterfield smoker loose from his choice. A man wants taste in his cigarette and in Chesterfield he gets it... The better taste of milder and better tobacco—nothing else! Nothing else is needed... thanks to the "cross-blend," which brings out the aroma and flavor of the tobaccos themselves!

Greater mildness... better taste!

FOR NINETEEN years, our Research Department has kept intimate touch with every new development of Science that could be applied to the manufacture of cigarettes. During this period there has been no development of tested value or importance to the smoker which we have not incorporated into the making of Chesterfield cigarettes.
