REPUBLICANS WIN SPANISH ELECTION

(Associated Press Leased Wire) MADRID, April 12.—The crisis in Spanish affairs, with a grave threat against the monarchy, forced by the sweeping victory of republicans in yesterday's elections, was brought to a head today by the resignation of three ministers of the present cabinet. The three ministers, Count Cande de Romanones, minister of state; the Marquis de Albuernas, minister of justice, and Minister of Education Gascon Marin handed their resignations to King Alfonso, declaring they could no longer serve in the government. The king accepted the resignations but did not accept them. Military Rule Foreseen Count Romanones told the king that the republican victory was "disastrous" and that he could no longer continue in the cabinet. He added "I will not serve in a government of force." This declaration was construed to mean that monarchists are considering the establishment of a military dictatorship which Romanones refused to approve. A report that Premier Aznar had also offered his resignation could not be confirmed. It was said that efforts were being made to hold up all resignations until the king and the government could decide upon a program. King Debates Course Told by the members of his own cabinet that yesterday's republican victory was "a disaster" on a monarchist viewpoint, King Alfonso, it was said, is considering whether to accept the resignations of the cabinet members and to form a new government, probably liberal, as an alternative to a military dictatorship. The king is also faced with the problem of deciding whether to go on to district and then to parliamentary general elections, either under Premier Aznar or with a new cabinet. Peseta Value Drops The huge republican vote rolled on Sunday indicates, it is believed, that the republicans can elect a majority of new parliament, so that the king would be inviting the loss of his throne if he agreed to parliamentary elections. The peseta, which recently had been improving, slumped this morning to around 9.12 to the dollar, compared with a Saturday quotation of about 9.90. Bankers con sidered that the reaction was due to the election and future political uncertainty. "President" Hailed BARCELONA, April 12.—Colonel Francisco Macia, Catalan separatist leader, in a speech to a crowd celebrating the republican victory in yesterday's polls, declared that King Alfonso must go. "Otherwise," he said, "he will be obliged to form a dictatorship which would be bloody because the people want the republic." Colonel Macia telegraphed N. Ceto, Alcalá Zamora, republican leader, halting him as president of the provisional government of Spain.

Bridges Co., is spending a few days in Portland attending to business matters. N. C. Wainwright has been confined to his home for several days on account of sickness. His son, Dr. E. J. In the county spelling contest, from which reports have just been received, the pupils in the 1th, 5th, 6th, 7th and 8th grades did exceedingly well. A total of 70 pupils took the test of which 42 received certificates. Marjorie Worthen, Marcell McCurdy, Albert Hammond, Kathryn Mahoney and Irene Goodman have received 100 per cent in each test during the year. A community sing was held in the Parish house Wednesday evening with a large crowd in attendance. It is expected to make this a regular feature in the future of Oakland activities.

(Continued from page 1) say what duplication was necessary and what was not? And who should patrol the skybox that should keep the two institutions each in its own channel? The state's answer was the creation by law of the state board of higher curricula, the duty of which should be the elimination of undesirable duplications, the approval of new courses or changes in courses if in line with the general policy of the state, or refusing to approve if not in line. The plan was correct with one exception. The board of higher curricula, under the law, was not able to enforce its rulings. The need of a strong hand in the control of both institutions became more and more apparent and two years ago resulted in the creation of the state board of education to take the place of both boards of regents and board of higher curricula. College Held Remiss A study of the records and rulings of the board of higher curricula will reveal the fact that the unjustified duplication and encroachments complained of are there in violation of the rulings of the board. It is now time that another thing be said and said plainly and authoritatively. It is this: The University of Oregon has uniformly accepted the limitations that were laid upon it cheerfully and complied with the rulings of the board, both in the letter and in the spirit, in good faith. I regret to say that that has not been true of the college and the present more or less scrambled situation is the result. We have a single board now in INDIAN.—Today, Tuesday, "Great Meadow," with John Mack Brown; Wednesday, Thursday, "Stolen and Heaven," with Nancy Carroll; Friday, Saturday, "Gang Buster" with Jack Oakie. SCORING.—Today, Tuesday, "Sin Takes a Holiday," a new ultra-smart picture starring Constance Bennett, was presented with splendid results at the Rose theatre yesterday. The story deals with a plain girl secretary of a rich philanthropic lawyer, who persuades her to marry him in order that he might escape the attentions of a designing woman. There is no love wasted between them, and the husband agrees to pay her $5,000 a year and maintain her in fine style in Paris. She goes there for her honeymoon and creates a sensation when she blossoms out as a woman of wealth, fashion and beauty. She later returns to her husband and her changed appearance brings the husband to his knees at her feet. "THE GREAT MEADOW," adapted from Elizabeth Madox Roberts' sensational novel, which shows at the Indian today and Tuesday had the enthusiastic aid and support of several important historical societies. Among the societies to assist in the making of this story about the trip of the first pioneer to follow Daniel Boone over the Wilderness Road into Kentucky were the Kentucky Pioneer Memorial Park (including a full reproduction of Fort Harrod, the locale of most of the scenes of the picture); the Louisville, Ky., Board of Trade; the Filson club, Louisville, Ky.; Kentucky State Park Commission; the Chamber of Commerce, Harrodsburg, Ky.; the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, and the Roanoke Chamber of Commerce, Roanoke, Va.

COURTHOUSE YARD SEEDING FINISHED

The task of seeding the courthouse yard has been completed, according to John Dowell, local gardener, who had charge of the work. The operations were greatly delayed because of rain, making preparation of the ground difficult. Sections where grass was planted earlier are already showing a good stand, and a beautiful lawn is in prospect within the next few weeks. Shrubs are to be planted in the fall, Mr. Dowell reports.
