POET'S CORNER

WHEN THE TOWNSEND PLAN GOES THRU

The Townsend Clubs are growing And growing fast at that And they'll still keep growing faster You can all depend on that.

Now I want to tell you this And assure you it is true There will be no need for charity When the Townsend plan goes thru.

When this great Townsend plan goes thru The people must pay up every debt Or they take the pension away from you And that's exactly right, you bet.

You cannot be dishonest And keep the pension too When you begin the like of that They'll take it away from you.

And no one is going to lose For the charity work they do They will all be paid with interest When the Townsend plan goes thru.

And all of these good doctors And other people too Will all be justly rewarded When the Townsend plan goes thru.

Now there is good Doctor Seely All full of jokes so funny He is doing many a day's hard work For which he gets no money.

And Doctor Stewart is so good And speaks so kind and slow When his patients don't have the money He just says "let it go."

And all the other doctors Are doing the same no doubt To help the poor and needy ones As cluster all about.

So we're going to keep on pushing The wagon to the top you see Then we'll all jump and ride Down thru great prosperity.

We want you all to help us To hurry this great plan thru Don't stand and be a pull back For that's not the way to do.

We want you all to join our club Every parent, son and daughter. If you don't come out and help us We'll always think you over.

"JEWELS"
By G. M. LEEPER
The rare tinkle of jewels Comes to us soft and clear, As the distant bells At twilight, we hear.

You sometimes find them In a garden old and rare, With roses blooming In the fragrant air.

There are many jewels Neither bought or sold, Some faithful to a trust Others rough and old.

But there's a light inside That will always shine through Like a candle in a window Lighting a path for you.

Many rare fine jewels Are in a shell—hid away, Where they are ground and Polished for many a day.

There's pain in the grinding As the days go by— For sometimes making jewels Bring a tear drop to the eye.

You find them embedded In the heart of a stone, Where they live to themselves From all the world alone.

But when you take and Carefully polish that stone, You find a jewel inside you'd Love to keep for your own.

There are many rare jewels In the songs we sing, Like a beautiful diamond Sparkling on a ring.

When you search for jewels Be careful what you do For hid away some where Is a precious jewel for "you."

Improving—R. C. Miller is reported to be improved in health at his home at Dillard.

Ill at Home—J. B. Bailey, local mail carrier, is reported to be ill at his home.
