Make This Bloomer-Frock and Realize A Saving PATTERN 2411

by Anne Adams

It's bound to be a saving, isn't it, when one pattern offers a small young frock, and bloomers, too? This dainty pattern will make the loveliest, most practical of winter frocks—whether she's a toddler of two or a promising young student of twelve. Along with being economical, it's extremely easy to make, and cuts a flat center panel in one piece with the square yoke. And don't all girls, big and little, love puffed sleeves? Make the frock of warm serge or challis, wool plaid, percale or broadcloth. The elastic-topped bloomers brave wintry weather best in flannellette. The dress may be made with or without the collar.

Pattern 2411 is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12. Size 6 takes 2-3/4 yards 36 inch fabric and 2-3/4 yards contrasting. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

MISS RUTH GILMOUR AND CHARLES COLLINS MARRY ON SUNDAY

One of the most charming weddings of the holiday season occurred Sunday, Dec. 29, at high noon when Miss Ruth Gilmour, daughter of Mrs. Edith Gilmour, became the bride of Charles S. Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn A. Collins of Coleridge, Nebraska, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Pargeter, at 426 Claire street. The service was read by Rev. Perry Smith of St. George's Episcopal church.

The bride, given in marriage by Mr. Pargeter, wore a gown of ivory satin, designed with a high oval neckline, train, long sleeves full to the elbow and coming to a point over the wrist. The ensemble was completed by a veil of white tulle which was held in place by a halo of white satin, bordered with orange blossoms. She carried a white Bible and a shower bouquet of yellow rosebuds, gardenias and lilies of the valley.

The bride attended Miss Betty Shoemaker, was dressed in a formal black velvet gown with a stitched collar and carried a bouquet of yellow rosebuds. Judith Ann Martin of Seattle, flower girl, wore yellow net frock over silk crepe and carried a silver basket of rose petals.

William Wharton, best man, attended the ceremony. Mrs. Edith Gilmour, mother of the bride, wore a black corded satin dress and a corsage of two gardenias. Organ music was played throughout the ceremony by Elizabeth Williams.

A huge cedar wreath, decorated with silver cones and leaves caught in place by three silver wedding bells and a white satin bow, formed the background for the bridal party. On either side of the wreath were garlands of evergreen and tall, slanting caudexes holding seven white tapers which were lighted by Mrs. Charles Ostrander, and Miss Mildred McKnight of Monmouth, preceding the ceremony. The bride descended the stairs which were also decorated with evergreen garlands held in place by white satin bows.

For her going away outfit Mrs. Collins wore a two-piece brown wool angora dress trimmed in polished wooden buttons and held in place by small orange velvet bows. Brown accessories completed the outfit. On her shoulder she wore a corsage of gardenias.

The serving table was set with white lighted tapers in crystal candleholders and a silver Christmas tree decorated with blue balls. Mrs. Collins cut the first piece of her thirteenth bridal cake which was decorated with white frosting rosebuds. The bride bouquet was caught by Miss Patricia Quine.

Assisting about the rooms with the serving were Miss Mildred McKnight, Mrs. Paul M. Martin, of Seattle; Mrs. George Wharton, Mrs. Willard Johnson and Mrs. Kenneth Quine. Pouring were Mrs. H. C. Church, Mrs. Jack Wharton, Mrs. R. D. Williams and Mrs. R. B. Shoemaker.

Patricia Quine and Virginia Gilmour assisted in the gift room and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wharton received the guests.

Out-of-town guests to the wedding were Mrs. F. S. Martin of Puyallup, Wash.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul M. Martin and son, Malcolm, and daughter, Judith Ann, of Seattle; Mrs. C. H. McKnight and Miss Mildred McKnight, of Monmouth; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Olin and daughters, Bernice and Mahel, of Brockway, and Mrs. O. L. Sutherland, of Oakland.

Mrs. Collins is well known in Roseburg, having graduated from the local high school in 1932 and is now employed as secretary in Dr. H. C. Church's office.

Mr. Collins attended the University of Nebraska college of engineering for two years and is employed in the local forest service office.

Immediately following the reception the couple departed on their wedding trip. Upon returning to Roseburg they will make their home at the Kohlhaugen apartments.

MISS GERTRUDE LAIRD AND MERLE LOWDEN MARRY DECEMBER 29TH

At an impressive home wedding, Miss Gertrude Laird, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Laird of Roseburg, and Merle Lowden, also of this city, were united in marriage yesterday, December 29th, at ten o'clock in the morning at the Laird home on Winchester street.

Against a background of chrysanthemums and roses, the service was performed by the bride's uncle, A. Livingston, of Portland. The bride, attractive in a green crepe afternoon dress, wore a corsage of gardenias, while Miss Maxine Laird, maid of honor, wore a corsage of Tallman roses and an afternoon frock of black crepe. Edward McLaughlin of Richmond, Calif., fraternity brother of Mr. Lowden, acted as best man to the bridegroom.

Following the wedding service a luncheon was served to Mr. and Mrs. Merle Lowden, Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lowden of Crawfordville, Edward McLaughlin of Richmond, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. A. Livingston and daughter Patricia of Portland, Miss Maxine Laird, Burton Hale Laird and Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Laird.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Laird and following her graduation from Roseburg high school, attended Graceland college at Lamoni, Iowa. Following her graduation there she returned to Roseburg and has since been employed at the Douglas Creditors association, where she will continue her work. Mr. Lowden, the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Lowden of Crawfordville, is a graduate of Oregon State college and is now employed as junior forester at the U. S. forest service office in Roseburg. He has been a resident of Roseburg for the past year.

Following the wedding luncheon Mr. and Mrs. Lowden left for points in California on their wedding trip. After January sixth they will be at home to their friends at the Clifford Thornton residence on East Douglas street.

This BETTER SIGHT LAMP

...is Great for Grandma, too!

Years of use and abuse dim the sight of aging eyes. They need more light—and the right kind of light to see easily and comfortably.

—The I. E. S. Better Sight lamp has been designed to give all eyes—old and young—the right kind of light in the right quantity for reading, studying, sewing—and other visual tasks.

It delivers glareless light on book or paper, and by means of its scientific reflector, eliminates sharp contrasts which are harmful to the eyes.

The height—the width of the shade—the concealed diffuser—have all been designed to conform to the principles of the "New Science of Seeing" for Better Light—Better Sight.

The foremost lighting authorities of the world have sponsored the I. E. S. Better Sight lamp.

SPECIFICATIONS by the Illuminating Engineering Society.

CERTIFIED by the Electrical Testing Laboratories—an important and disinterested research organization.

ENDORSED FOR LIGHTING EFFECTIVENESS by the Lighting Committee of the Edison Electric Institute, and by the National Better Light—Better Sight Bureau.

The Better Sight lamp will help aging eyes see more easily. It will help young eyes develop normally. There should be at least one in every home.

We have the Better Sight lamps in a variety of styles for floor and table use. Come in and let us demonstrate their light to you.

The I. E. S. Better Sight lamp comes in both table and floor models. Because of its special type diffuser and shade, it gives several times as much light as ordinary lamps.
