

"RED" MENACE IN AMERICA STRESSED

"Are We Heading Into a 'Red Revolution'?" was the question discussed last night by J. E. Conant at the Baptist church in Roseburg.

The speaker read numerous quotations from many authorities, most of them well known, which showed, according to his claim, that "red" forces are at work systematically undermining our financial structure, our business structure, our spirit of patriotism, and our strength of character and our churches.

He quoted from "The National Republic" and from a prominent west coast newspaper statement to the effect that the government had been paying 20,000 students $8 a week in FERA schools to learn how to overthrow the government, quoting statements concerning a letter sent to congress by the Federal Grand Jury association about it last summer. Statements were also quoted from the Daily Worker, leading "red" newspaper, boasting that although CCC camps for "red" activities, they were still accomplishing much in those camps. Col. Stephen Park of the Reserve Officers' association, was also quoted to the effect that 300,000 aliens are now propagating communism in this country, with 1,500,000 communists and sympathizers living from within.

"The most serious phase of the situation, however," continued the speaker, "is what is being done to the churches. The Federal Council of Churches is a leading agency in 'red' activities. Its past presidents and other officers are listed in the 'Red Network,' a who's who of the 'reds' in this country, and a long list is given of the 'red' activities of the organization. Also 75 per cent of its support comes from outside the churches which tends to show that it comes from the outside interests which it serves.

"Also Dr. E. Stanley Jones, the popular missionary in India, recently signed a missionary report that endorsed communism; Secretary Henry A. Wallace, believes the new deal is the millennium in the making, and a report endorsing 'red' principles was brought before the North Baptist convention last summer, and is now before the churches for their action. Kirby Page, a prominent 'red,' reports that the ministry furnished almost the largest proportion of socialists of any profession. But," concluded the speaker, "communism is certain to fail in this country, because it is against prophecy."

MORE POWER FOR CONGRESS SOUGHT

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—(AP)—Senator Costigan (D., Colo.) today renewed a proposal that the constitution be amended to give congress the power to control production and regulate working conditions.

Saying that "anything less than an amendment to the constitution will fail to equip the federal government to deal with repeatedly changing economic and industrial conditions," Costigan called attention to new deal legislation now in litigation before the supreme court. He declared that "if the AAA and the TVA should not be entirely invalidated by the supreme court... the controlling construction given to the federal constitution may nevertheless be so far-reaching in principle that an irresistible demand will arise for the submission of an enabling amendment."

Last year he submitted a resolution calling for an amendment giving congress power "to regulate hours and conditions of labor and to establish minimum wages in any employment and to regulate production, industry, business, trade and commerce to prevent unfair methods and practices therein."

Costigan said today he would canvass the senate judiciary committee to determine possibilities for a favorable report on the legislation.

OREGON TO REDUCE PRICES ON LIQUOR

SALEM, Jan. 1.—(AP)—Arthur K. McMahan, liquor commission chairman, said today that a reduction in all Canadian liquor prices proportionate to tariff reductions embodied in the Canadian-American trade treaty, which went into effect today, would be made as soon as details could be worked out.

"The administration staff is already at work on the revised price list and as soon as the amount of reduction on each item has been determined the new list will be announced," McMahan announced. On the basis of a 50 per cent cut in tariff rates under the new treaty the reduction on some items will amount to more than a dollar for quart size bottles, members of the commission predicted.

TEXAN TELLS F. R. TO "GET TOUGH"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—(AP)—After a talk with the president, Representative Maverick (D., Tex.) said today he had advised a "tough" policy.

"If the president takes the offensive against the Liberty League and the Big Shot crowd, the people are for him 100 per cent," said Maverick.

"I have just been through 22 states and where there is opposition it is because he has been misrepresented and the people don't understand what he has been doing."

Peace Movement Gathers Force

President Wilkins and Senator Clark.

Mrs. Oswald.

Plans announced recently for a student institute to study the question of world peace next summer reflect the increasing attention given throughout United States to this issue. President Ernest Hatch Wilkins of Oberlin has defined the aim of the institute as an attempt to give youth of today an intelligent comprehension of the paramount international issue. Mrs. Grace L. Oswald of West Lafayette, Ind., has attracted national attention with her proposal to establish an international peace pool into which all nations would contribute, forfeiting their share in case they began a war of aggression. Senator Bennett Champ Clark of Missouri is another who has come forward with a definite idea to promote peace, declaring himself in favor of a strict embargo on all "contraband" goods destined for warring nations and advocating prohibition of all loans of belligerent nations.

Virus-Protein Evidenced by Scientists as Possible Source of Life's Beginning

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE (Associated Press Science Editor) ST. LOUIS, Jan. 2.—(AP)—Something apparently only partly alive which may be the long-sought place where life began, a virus-protein discovered at the Rockefeller Institute, was described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science today.

The protein acts like a link between living and non-living matter, it promises completely to change the medical idea of the nature of viruses, the invisible disease-making agents, which have been considered as ultra-small but living relatives of bacteria. The discovery definitely opens the way to new chemical dealings with the viruses and their dangers to man.

This protein was extracted from tobacco mosaic virus, a well known plant disease by Dr. W. M. Stanley of the Rockefeller Institute. Undoubtedly, he said today, this thing is not living in the ordinary sense. Yet it reproduces itself, and reproduction is one of the scientifically accepted cardinal evidences of life.

The protein is a minute crystal. It contains 16.6 per cent nitrogen, 48 per cent carbon and 6.0 per cent hydrogen. Passing it through filters proves its size is less than that of a molecule of albumen. Too much alkalinity or too much acidity inactivates, or kills its activity, the same as they kill living things. Temperature of 291 Fahrenheit kills it. Pepsin digests it. Most significant of all it causes the plant disease the same as the tobacco virus.

"The fact," Dr. Stanley's report states, "that the crystalline protein from many different batches of starting material has the same chemical composition, optical rotation and virus activity, and that the same characteristics remain constant during many crystallizations and absorptions and elutions (removals) of the protein, and the experiments on crystallizations, fractional crystallizations and partial inactivation are very strong evidence that the crystalline material is pure and that it is tobacco mosaic virus."

"Were it not for the mysticism which has long surrounded viruses, the evidence already at hand would ordinarily be accepted as proof that virus activity is a property of the protein molecule."

With the several pounds now ready he said he hopes to settle this question and that if the virus proves to be a protein it may be possible to find a chemical explanation for the ability of the substance to reproduce itself in the presence of living cells and even to explain the immunity after virus disease.

The virus immunity most sought today is that against infantile paralysis.

FARMING OUTLOOK CONFERENCES SET

In 23 Oregon counties from five to 12 commodity committees are now working into shape the agricultural facts, figures and tentative recommendations to be laid before 23 county farm outlook conferences scheduled over a two-month period starting with Lane county January 14. The conference for Douglas County is scheduled for February 18 and 19.

Reports from many counties indicate that the type of information being assembled will be invaluable for farmers in every county, as it constitutes the result of taking official facts and figures and subjecting them to the intelligent scrutiny and interpretation of practical farmers assisted by training specialists in every field and those in charge of the conferences.

An example of the practical advance material being prepared in some information assembled by the livestock committee in one Willamette valley county where it is noted that breeding stock is one of the best cash crops of the county, with more than 1000 head of male stock being shipped annually in addition to hundreds of females.

One proposal for livestock committees is to make it that state be placed along the Pacific highway in that county calling attention through traffic to the outstanding local breeding farms near the highway. This committee is also gathering information on pasture for finishing farms, the future outlook for mink, and many other topics of vital interest locally.

In another county the agricultural economics committee is investigating the need, if any, for additional cooperative marketing organizations in certain enterprises, and studying the general adaptability of certain sections of the county to certain farm enterprises.

Each county report, when finally adopted, will be published, constituting a practical local farm guide, unexcelled in value and absolutely unobtainable in any other way.

$11.57, and the further sum of $100.00 attorneys' fees, and the further sum of $22.50 costs and disbursements, together with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent per annum from the date of entry of said judgment.

Now therefore, I will, on Monday, the 21st day of January, 1936, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the courthouse front door in Roseburg, Douglas County, Oregon, offer for sale and sell at public auction to the highest and best bidder for cash in hand the following described real property situated in Douglas County, Oregon, to-wit:
